BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Oct. 22 (Friday).—(AP)—A foreign office spokesman indicated today that Japan will plead a lack of time in which to make preparations and ask a postponement of the nine power conference on the Chinese-Japanese situation.

The spokesman said the cabinet council is not expected to decide whether Japan will attend the Oct. 30 meeting in Brussels until next Tuesday, after which imperial sanction must be obtained. The spokesman declared the Japanese government "is greatly mystified by the lateness of the invitation, since it is understood other signatories received theirs long before." Japan received its invitation to the conference yesterday.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Great Britain intends to leave the United States to take the lead in imposing any sort of penalties on Japan to halt aggression in China, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain revealed tonight. He made the disclosure in the house of commons in winding up a debate on foreign affairs which marked the resumption of the fall session of parliament.

Replying to President Roosevelt's Chicago speech on world affairs, in which he advocated a "quarantine" on war mongers, the prime minister indicated clearly that the British government will make no move at the forthcoming nine power conference in Brussels, Belgium, to bring economic and financial pressure against the Japanese.

The sole object of the conference, Chamberlain said, is to try to restore peace in the far east.

Opposes "Talk of Force."

"I suggest that it is a mistake altogether to go into the conference talking about economic pressure and force," he said. "We are not going there to extend the conflict. The first thing we will have to do is to see by what means concerted efforts can be brought to bear to bring about a peaceful solution."

In disclosing the British government's policy toward the Chinese-Japanese hostilities, Chamberlain cited a recent speech by Sir Archibald Sinclair, chief of the opposition Liberals, who warned that the application of economic penalties might result in counteraction from Japan and that "if you are to meet that you must be assured beforehand of sufficient force to overwhelm it." The initiative in applying that force, Sinclair suggested, should come from the United States.

Premier "Commends" the View.

"I commend that analysis to the house in general," Chamberlain declared.

Although Chamberlain cited Sinclair's statement to support his own view, Sir Archibald was among those today who, during the debate, condemned the government, charging that it failed to coöperate with the United States.

"In the past," said Sinclair, "we have not been successful in obtaining that coöperation of the United States which is one of the dearest objects in the foreign policy of members of all parts of the house.

"I say, let us not fail to seize this opportunity with both hands which President Roosevelt's speech has given us—this glorious opportunity of lining up with the United States to defend those ideals of peace and justice

TRACE 1ST ROSS MONEY THROUGH HANDS OF THREE

Thirty G-men last night were making a house to house investigation of some 20 homes in search of more of the 5,250 bank bills paid to the kidnapers of Charles S. Ross.

The search was hastened by the discovery yesterday of a $10 bill which was proved to be a part of the ransom. Yesterday afternoon that $10 bill had been traced to three persons, all of whom received it in the course of legitimate business dealings.

A Maze of Trails.

From that point the trail of the $50,000 ransom radiated into a dozen or more paths. The G-men were following those paths, hoping to pick up new clews that will lead to capture of the kidnapers and bring word of the fate of Ross.

Investigators admitted their main hope is that other ransom bills will turn up, providing cross lines of information on the identity of the kidnapers and the locality in which they passed out their booty. In at least three major kidnapings tracing of ransom money has played an important part in solving the crime. These were the kidnapings of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., George Weyerhaeuser, and Charles F. Urschel.

11 Days to Pass Ransom.

The $50,000 ransom paid in the Ross case is believed to have been received by the kidnapers on Oct. 8. The list of serial numbers on the 5,250 bills [fives, tens, and twenties] was not made public until eleven days later, last Tuesday. The kidnapers and their agents therefore had eleven days in which to pass the money without fear of detection.

The first $10 ransom bill was turned over to D. M. Ladd, head of the Chicago office of the bureau of investigation, yesterday by Mrs. Clara Ludwig, 41 years old, 2206 Des Plaines street, Blue Island.

She said she received it from Miss Florence Giaquinto, 20 years old, a roomer in her home. Miss Giaquinto got the bill from William J. Wernecke, 12206 Eggleston avenue, an agent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

Insurance Company Aids.

From this point the trail of the money turned into a maze of practically untraceable possibilities. Wernecke and his superior, Richard C. Dudley, 12218 Eggleston avenue, assistant manager of the Roseland branch of the insurance company, were coöperating with federal agents in seeking further information about the source of the money.

The two men accompanied agents for an hour and a half on an automobile tour, presumably going over Wernecke's collection route. Both declined to say whether or not they knew how the ransom bill came to the insurance company.

Investigators pointed out that currency of small denomination changes hands rapidly. It is not hard to trace so long as it stays in possession of individuals, they said, but when it gets to a bank or to a large money collecting agency the trail usually is lost.

Expect No Quick Solution.

If Mrs. Ludwig's $10 bill should lead straight to the kidnapers it would be a stroke of amazing good luck which the investigators do not dare to expect, they said. They cited earlier kidnaping cases to illustrate the point.

In 1935 George Weyerhaeuser, then 9 years old, of Tacoma, Wash., was seized and released after payment of $200,000 ransom. Soon afterward the ransom bills started to appear. Several of them were passed in Salt Lake City, Utah, by a woman described as a beautiful blonde. Federal agents lay in wait in department stores there and the woman was caught.

She was Mrs. Margaret Waley, wife of Harmon M. Waley. They confessed and later William Mahan, another member of the gang, was captured. All three are now serving federal prison terms.

Lindbergh Case Solution.

In the Lindbergh case the ransom was paid in gold certificates, later called in by the government. The bills therefore were rare. Nevertheless several of the ransom bills were passed by Bruno Hauptmann with-

EDMONTON, Alta., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Two important figures in Alberta's social credit administration were committed to trial today on charges of defamatory libel, seditious libel, and counseling to murder.

The charges, filed against George F. Powell, technical adviser of the province's social credit board, and Joseph H. Unwin, government whip in the provincial legislature, resulted from publication of a pamphlet entitled "Bankers' Toadies."

They were committed for trial and then released on bail of $20,000 each after a court hearing. About 15,000 copies of the pamphlet were produced during the hearing. They had been seized Oct. 2 at the offices of the Alberta Social Credit league.

Blonde Reveals 10 Marriages—4 to Millionaire

BY MARCIA WINN.

One husband left her $55,000 worth of jewelry, $57,000 in real estate. Another gave her $9,000 and $3,000 worth of diamonds. Four others she supported before divorcing or burying them.

Yet for more than ten hours Mrs. Jean Anderson, as the survivor of six husbands and ten marriages now calls herself, was held in a detective bureau cell for want of $500 bond. Her platinum blonde hair was in need of grooming. The toes of her dark pumps were worn and scuffed. The gray fur on her raspberry wool coat was slightly snarled. Her black crêpe dress was crumpled, and her purse was empty.

What to Do About It?

And Mrs. Grace Carolyn Fish Putney Mayhood Thomasson Diefenbach Fledderman lit another cigaret, arched her thin eyebrows and sighed.

"I'll bite," she said in a low, husky voice. "What'm I going to do? I'm tired of it all. I'm willing to rest three months in jail."

Mrs. Anderson's predicament was not slight, for if she had had that $500 early enough she might have been in St. Louis today to fight for a share of the $4,000,000 estate left by Hugh W. Thomasson, her fourth husband. Her widow's dower is quite legal, she feels, because she married the aged millionaire four times. There were no divorces. She simply wanted to be sure the marriage was good. Anyhow, she didn't get the $500 bail until 1:30 o'clock this morning, when Ed Berkowitz, a licensed bondsman, put up the money. Then she was released.

In Trouble About Children.

She was ready to leave for St. Louis Sunday when two policemen knocked on the door of her room at the Atlantic hotel. They inquired where her children, Jean, who is 14 years old, and Carl, who is 12, might be. Mrs. Anderson, emerging from a cloud of alcohol fumes, said she really didn't know.

But, yesterday, when she was brought into Woman's court, charged with contributing to the dependency of minor children, Carl and Jean were there to testify against her. They weren't home, they told the court, because their mother locked them out at 2 a. m.

IRISH FREE STATE 'EXILES' GIRL FOR A KISS IN PUBLIC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Julia Clarke, a Glasgow girl who was seen kissing a boy friend in public while on a vacation in Black Rock, an Irish seacoast village, was sentenced by a Dundalk court today to one month's imprisonment. The kissing took place on church property.

The local vigilance committee was shocked and the Dundalk justices were so scandalized that, although Miss Clarke already had returned home to Glasgow, they passed the sentence "with a view to keeping her out of the Free State forever." The boy friend already had been before the court and ordered to give $10 to the St Vincent de Paul society.

Miss Clarke goes down in legal history as the first girl to be prosecuted under a two year old statute known as President Eamon de Valera's "vice act." The sentence cannot be enforced unless she returns to Black Rock.

Begs Girl Who Slew Husband to Tell Truth

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The beautiful widow and the gray haired mother-in-law of Paul Reeves rose in their mourning black in Middlesex county court here today and denounced Margaret Drennan for failing to "tell the truth" about his slaying last Sept. 7. In a few brief seconds of breathless drama they challenged the sympathetic story of self-defense which the "girl in red" had built up in a three hour appearance on the witness stand.

Pretty Myra Reeves, the widow, collapsed in a faint as she stepped from the witness stand, where she had appeared in rebuttal to Margaret's plea that "I didn't know he was married." The girl in red, 20 years old, who stared dry eyed at her young and elderly accusers, collapsed in the arms of matrons as she reached her jail cell a quarter of an hour later.

The widow had recited a telling story of how she twice had met Margaret when walking with her husband, but there was no hint in it of what was to come. Prosecutor Charles M. Morris, finished with his witness, said softly, "That is all."

"Please Tell Truth."

She arose, pointed a shaking finger at the youthful defendant, and cried: "No—it is not all. Margaret, please tell the truth; they have got to know. I have two children. Some day they have got to know the truth. Please, I beg of you——"

Instantly the widow's mother, Mrs. John Houlroyd, rose weeping in her spectator's seat in the rear of the room. In sepulchral accents she echoed her daughter's challenge.

"She killed the father of her two children——" she began.

"O—mother! O—mother!" she gasped.

An attendant assisted the widow, 24, from the stand, while Judge Adrian Lyon, a stickler for courtroom decorum, pounded for order, and the surprised bailifs recovered themselves sufficiently to gesture for silence.

Faints Behind Jury Box.

Mrs. Reeves hardly had gained the aile behind the jury box before she fell, and attendants rushed up a chair and some water. She remained there, under matron's ministrations, for half an hour, until court was adjourned and the room cleared.

Before her challenge to the girl who soon will be the mother of Reeves' child, the widow made a telling attack on the story Margaret had detailed painstakingly from the witness stand.

Over and over, Margaret had insisted to the jury that she did not know her seducer in his real identity until after he had raped her in his car in a Linden, N. J., byway last

PEACE PARLEY OPENS MONDAY IN WASHINGTON

Delegates Arrive to Map Strategy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Peace at any price will be sought by the delegation of the Committee for Industrial Organization to the conference with representatives of the American Federation of Labor scheduled to open in the Willard hotel here Monday morning.

That was learned here when the story of what happened in the recent meeting of C. I. O. leaders in Atlantic City, which conducted the negotiations for the parley with the Denver convention of the federation, was learned from C. I. O. delegates who began assembling for the peace parley.

Decides to Sue for Peace.

The C. I. O. decided to sue for peace, it was learned, when John L. Lewis and his lieutenants were confronted with the cold fact that the C. I. O. was in danger of collapse.

The C. I. O. delegation, however, has no intention of throwing itself at the feet of the federation and begging for mercy at the outset of the parley. The strategy is to fight for the plan of reconciliation it extended after the first break in the ranks of labor.

The plan contemplates a minor convention of one hundred delegates from the old conservative group and one hundred Lewis followers. In this convention problems would be threshed out and a method of organization perfected which would get the majority vote of the delegates.

Report Ready to Yield.

If the radical leaders fail to sell this to the three federation representatives, they will yield concession after concession until they get the best terms they can, according to reports. Such strategy may prolong the parley for weeks and months.

There is a strong possibility that Lewis will denounce the conference and refuse to participate in whatever peace pact is drafted. He, as instigator of the revolt, can expect but little at the hands of the federation bargainers and may attempt to run his United Mine Workers union independent of any national organization.

The news that the jig was up was thrust dramatically before the leaders by Lewis himself. It was announced that there was no more money coming out of the United Mine Workers of America. An appeal was made to other established C. I. O. affiliates to assume the burden of paying for organization of new unions.

Hillman Backs Up.

Sidney Hillman, president of the powerful Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, announced quietly that his union wouldn't do it.

Eyes turned to David Dubinsky, president of the wealthy International Ladies Garment Workers' union, who said his organization would not carry the burden.

Then, when all considered that the C. I. O., buffeted by desertions and deflections, out of public favor for its terrorism and intimidation tactics, communistic label and defeated in its last great strike, was out of funds, Lewis called for suggestions.

Dubinsky First to Speak.

Dubinsky was the first to speak. From his lips came the suggestion of the course the others knew to be inevitable, but hesitated to advance. It came properly from Dubinsky because he, like Hillman and three other more conservatively minded lieutenants, had not been in accord with Lewis' tactics and charged to them the C. I. O. defeat in the strike against the independent steel mills.

Dubinsky said the only course was to go back to the A. F. of L. on the best terms that could be obtained. As others agreed with Dubinsky, Lewis stalked from the room and slammed the door so that the plaster danced on the walls of the room.

Only one man followed. He was Harry Bridges, Australian born organizer of the West coast longshoremen.

"There's no place for me in the A. F. of L.," he said.

The negotiations with federation leaders were conducted by the leaders who remained in the room. One after another the conditions they extended were rejected and at length they agreed to come in without any commitments on the part of the established labor organization.

It was said Lewis was suffering from asthma when his absence from the meeting invoked questions. The disclosure of what went on in Atlantic City also threw light and a new interpretation of Lewis' statement in announcing that Philip Murray, chairman of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee, would head the C. I. O. delegation of ten to the parley. He said he was turning over the conduct of the negotiations to Murray.

For months there has been muttering among the mine workers against appropriation of the United Mine Workers' funds to finance the C. I. O. The mutterings flared into open revolt when Lewis began putting on special assessments and when deserters began going into the A. F. of L.'s Progressive Mine Workers' organization, one of the units President Green took in to match and take over every C. I. O. union.

Spends Huge Sums.

To date Lewis has taken $1,500,000 of his union's funds and handed it out in liberal lumps to organizers in the auto, steel, oil, and other industries invaded by C. I. O. In the automobile ranks alone at one time the outlay was $250,000 a month.

Workers were quick to join an organization that promised higher wages, better hours, and improved working conditions, particularly when there were no fees and nothing was said of dues. Lewis began his organizing in the belief that dues would pour in heavier when he could point to accomplishments.

Disaster came in the strike in the independent steel plants. When public opinion began to reject his tactics he turned to President Roosevelt, who had saved him by urging General Motors to sign a contract in the auto strike.

He had hoped to ride through again on the $500,000 contribution he, a former Republican, appropriated from his union's coffers for the Democratic war chest. Instead he met with censure in the President's quotation from "Romeo and Juliet," "A plague on both your houses," and the strike was lost.

Following Begins to Melt.

Lewis retired from the front pages and his following began to melt. Even when he emerged to mutter against the President's ingratitude he could not halt the tide. He passed over pressing for his demands in the auto industry and made no move to open negotiations under plans provided in the contract he forced.

The contract provided the C. I. O. could open negotiations looking toward a new contract six months after the signing of the original contract which recognized the C. I. O. as a bargaining unit. By his failure to press for his promises he indicated that he did not represent the majority of the auto workers.

Lewis never made public any detailed report of membership of C. I. O. affiliates, making only extravagant claims of 100 per cent of workers in industries.

BOY OF 13 HELD TO GRAND JURY IN DEATH OF GIRL, 11

A boy 13 years old who admitted he struck a girl of 11 on the head with a cardboard tube sixteen hours before her death from a brain hemorrhage was held to the grand jury on a manslaughter charge by a coroner's jury yesterday. The boy is Donald Lewandowski Jr., 2854 North Drake avenue. The girl, Lorraine Rzeppa, 2846 North Drake avenue, died on Oct. 7. Lewandowski was taken to the Juvenile home last night. Donald said he hit Lorraine twice with a tube about an inch thick and two feet long, made of heavy cardboard, because she pushed him.

"Did you mean to hurt her?" asked Deputy Coroner Edmund English. "Yes," replied the boy. Two neighborhood children, John Paulik, 11 years old, and his sister, Agnes, 14, testified that Donald threw sticks and stones at other children.

OILER WHOSE CAR KILLED BOY GETS 1 TO 14 YEAR TERM

John Maloney, an oiler in a city pumping station who was found guilty of manslaughter after his automobile struck and killed Frederick Fincher, 4 years old, near the child's home at 3134 5th avenue, was sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary in the Criminal court yesterday. Maloney was permitted his liberty for 60 days on a $5,000 bond to perfect an appeal. Maloney was arrested after his car ran down the child and endangered three other persons on Aug. 18. A jury returned a verdict against him on Oct. 7.

Two young men and a girl 15 years old were arrested yesterday by Sheffield avenue police in an automobile stolen in Wisconsin after one of the youths, a parolee, admitted a burglary in Woodstock and confessed he had passed worthless checks in Chicago. They were seized in front of the home of the parolee, William Harper, 21 years old, at 609 Drummond place. He served two years at Pontiac for larceny. The other youth is George Goss, 17 years old, 914 Wrightwood avenue. The girl's name was withheld.

Aug. 7. Of Mrs. Reeves she'd said merely that "she had seen her around town, but didn't know her name."

Girl Known to Widow.

To this, Mrs. Reeves, called as the state's fifth and last rebuttal witness, made defiant answer, under prompting to Prosecutor Morris.

Q.—Do you know this defendant? A.—Yes, I do.

Q.—When did you meet her? A.—A year ago last fall. I was on the street and she spoke to me. She asked me if I was new in the neighborhood. I said yes. I met her again just before last Christmas. I was with my husband and my children in the car, and again around New Year's.

She said she had met Reeves by chance in the street last February when he helped her home with bundles from a store. "He told me he was Jack Lyon," she said. In May, again in June, he took her out riding and "was very nice, acting like a gentleman," she said. Then, on Aug. 7, when he took her riding again, they stopped in the lonely road.

"He acted like a maniac," she said. "He mauled me. He ripped my clothes. I told him I was a good girl. I told him my side hurt from an operation. I struck him, pulled his hair. I cried."

Hunted Him in Streets.

Miss Drennan said she became pregnant from that attack.

"I wanted to see him," she said. "He was the one who got me like this. I looked for him on the streets."

They met near the Iselin post office the afternoon of Sept. 7. He told her to come to his house in Oak Tree road that night, that no one would be home except himself.

"Did you take your father's pistol?" she was asked. "Yes," she said. "I didn't trust him. I knew what happened before. I put the pistol in my pocket."

She did not even know if it were loaded. She never had shot a pistol before.

Enters Dark House.

"The house was dark," she said, reciting her visit to the scene of the murder in Reeves' bungalow. "I went up the steps. I knocked. He said: 'Come in, Margaret.' I went in.

"He was sitting nude on the couch. I no sooner saw him than he jumped at me. He held me tight. He threw me around the room. He hugged me tight. I went down on the couch and struck it. It hurt so hard I threw him off. We fought around the room. I pushed him with all the strength I had. It was terrible. I fell to the floor. He fell, too. He grabbed me again.

"I got away. I looked at him. He was breathing heavily. He was shaking all over, coming at me. I had the gun in my hand. I believe he saw it.

"He jumped. I shot."

She did not know how many times her trembling finger pulled the trigger.

"Why did you fire the pistol?" she was asked.

"I was afraid he would try to attack me again," she said. "He was all crouched. He was all shaking."

The girl got up from the witness chair. She stepped down to the floor. She crouched, like an animal about to attack. She forced her breath out in hard gasps.

"That's how he looked," she said.

Tells of Death Threat.

Miss Drennan testified that when they were returning home after the first attack she asked Reeves:

"What am I going to tell my mother?"

"It all seemed so awful. Before I got out of the car at my home he said: 'I am married. I have two children. If you tell anybody about this, I'll kill you. And my name isn't Jack Lyons.'

"I didn't tell mother," she said. "I didn't want them to know what happened."

Even more potent to aid her than Margaret's sobbing, tearful story, however, was the testimony of Dr. Edward K. Hanson, who had examined the girl at the county workhouse on Sept. 9 and 10.

He bolstered her story that the intimacy just before Reeves fell under Margaret's fusillade on Sept. 7 had been a furious lustful onslaught.

Dr. Hanson described bruises he found on Margaret's thighs and arms, and internal injuries which he said could have been caused only by such an attack as the girl had described.

AIRLINER CRASH ATTRIBUTED TO SUDDEN STORM

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 21.—(AP)—United Air Lines tonight blamed the crash of its mighty "Mainliner" that killed 19 on a sudden mountain gale that probably prevented use of the radio beam.

R. W. Schroeder, the company's manager of operations, said the storm caused the airliner to drift off its course Sunday night and crash into Chalk Peak, 40 miles east of here.

"A sudden, unexpected squall which developed north of the course, the occurrence and aloft intensity of which would not be predicted from the ground, is believed to have attained the velocity of a gale, estimated at 70 miles per hour," he said.

"It is believed the squall created a condition that probably made the pilot's radio inoperative, in which case he would have been unaware of the drift which took him off the course," said Schroeder. "Evidence indicates that the plane collided with higher terrain approximately 17 miles south of the regular course, while in normal flying position, at normal cruising speed, and heading toward the scheduled destination, showing the plane was functioning properly."

DIES OF INJURIES IN FALL.

SHANAHAN'S OLD FRIENDS TELL OF MARRIAGE COMA

Testify in Suit to Break $850,000 Will.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

Friends of half a century described David E. Shanahan yesterday as a dying man, unable to recognize them or to talk coherently, in the period just before the veteran Illinois legislator married his secretary, Miss Helen Troesch, and signed a will on his deathbed in Mercy hospital leaving her his $850,000.

The witnesses were called before Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg and a jury by counsel for the Misses Mary and Margaret Flynn, cousins of Mr. Shanahan, who are seeking to have his marriage on Oct. 5, 1936, invalidated and the will executed that day set aside.

Accuse Three of Plot.

The Flynn sisters charge Mrs. Shanahan, together with one of his nurses in Mercy hospital, where he died thirteen days after the marriage, and Robert E. Rodgers, a real estate man, with a conspiracy to obtain possession of the estate. Rodgers was accused by one witness yesterday of uttering a threat in connection with a previous will which left the bulk of the estate to the Misses Flynn.

That will, executed May 27, 1936, is in evidence. After a number of small bequests to charities and to other relatives, it leaves 80 per cent of the residual estate to the Misses Flynn and 20 per cent to the present Mrs. Shanahan. The witness who ascribed the threat to Rodgers was William Gordon, a real estate man at 809 West 35th street.

Gordon looked after Mr. Shanahan's real estate and mortgages, and was a witness to the first will. He testified that late in August, 1936, on an authorization from Mr. Shanahan, he obtained a strong box from the latter's loop office, which he turned over to Miss Mary Flynn.

Threat Against Life Told.

On Sept. 29, Gordon testified, he took Mrs. Katherine Shanahan, Mr. Shanahan's octogenarian aunt, who is referred to by witnesses in the case as Aunt Kit, to visit the sick man.

"Rodgers was in the room," he testified. "He told me he was going to send me to jail for giving the strong box to Miss Flynn. Then he told me that I would be killed if I testified that I saw Mr. Shanahan sign the will on May 27."

The strong box, presumably, contained the $80,000 worth of securities which Mrs. Shanahan is charging Miss Flynn with abstracting from the estate.

Among the witnesses yesterday was Frank P. Otto, 2809 Archer avenue, bailif for Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. He was raised in the Bridgeport district with Mr. Shanahan and had known him for more than sixty years. He testified that during the last week of September he visited him, going into the room with Rodgers, whom he also knew.

Q.—Did he say anything to you? A.—No, no. He was in such a state he couldn't recognize me.

Mrs. Mary Larkin, 5319 Woodlawn avenue, whose sister married Mr. Shanahan's brother and in whose home he frequently had his Christmas dinner, described a visit on Oct. 4, the day before the marriage.

"It didn't seem as if he was conscious," she said. "I took his hand and said, 'Dave, this is Mame, Don't you know me?' But he made no response."

Fellow Patient on Stand.

Charles T. Byrne, 4021 Drexel boulevard, was a patient in Mercy hospital from March 31 to Sept. 29, 1936. He testified that he frequently visited Mr. Shanahan during his stay there, but that in September Mr. Shanahan appeared out of his head and didn't know what he was doing.

Miss Margaret Pendergast, 2700 Prairie avenue, night floor nurse at the hospital, added her testimony that in September Shanahan's condition became so critical he could not recognize her. Miss Agnes O'Mara, a former nurse, is expected to testify today.

One of the plaintifs' witnesses, however, proved an aid to the defense by implying that Mr. Shanahan's mind was clear. He was Ben St. Laurent, 3537 South Western avenue, a friend of 40 years whom Mr. Shanahan sponsored for various state jobs. He testified that he visited the hospital on Oct. 4, the Sunday before the marriage, about an hour after Mrs. Larkin said she found Mr. Shanahan in a coma.

"Mr. Shanahan appeared weak," he said. "In fact, he said he was. We talked for about two minutes and then I left."

As Attorney Eugene P. Kealy and Dr. L. A. Ballinger, medical adviser of the Flynn forces, marshaled their witnesses, Attorneys Irwin S. Walker and John Porter, who represent Mrs. Shanahan, played a waiting game. They attempted little cross-examination of the plaintifs' witnesses during the day.

Justice of the Peace Ray Sorenson of Channel Lake, Lake county, was found guilty of assault and battery by a jury in the Lake county court of Judge Perry L. Persons yesterday. The charges were brought by Robert Schmitz of Channel Lake, who testified that Sorenson slugged him in a quarrel over an automobile accident on Aug. 18. The court fined Sorenson the maximum of $100.

DEFENSE INJECTS PLEA OF INSANITY INTO GARRS' TRIAL

Killing of Denhardt Called Uncontrolable Act.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Shelbyville, Ky., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The doctrin of irresponsibility, a "mental explosion" that inhibited normal judgment, was invoked this afternoon as the last plea in the defense of Roy and Jack Garr, farmers and bird dog trainers of Oldham county, for the slaying of Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt in Shelbyville a month ago.

This part of the defense applies only to Roy, the elder brother. Roy had admitted he fired the shots that killed the man who was tried last spring, when a jury disagreed on his guilt, in the slaying of Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor, sister of the Garr boys. Jack did not have a gun on the night of the Denhardt killing. Dr. E. S. Garr, the third brother, is in a mental institution at Peewee Valley, unable to be tried. He is said to have been annoyed at Roy for taking all the credit for the killing.

Quick Acquittal Expected.

It is hard to explain why such an elaborate defense was considered necessary, as the Garrs have been basking in the light of approval in two counties, especially from the women, ever since they killed Gen. Denhardt, and the jury is expected to acquit them quickly. The case will be submitted tomorrow.

Drs. Milton Board, Leon P. Soloman, and John R. Peters, all from Louisville and all experts in mental diseases, constituted the defense battery of witnesses this afternoon, each one replying to a hypothetical question which took fifteen minutes to propound.

This question, framed after a long conference with Judge Charles C. Marshall, recited the evidential facts in the case from the defense standpoint. On the assumption that these facts are true, the doctors said Roy Garr had acted from an insane impulse he could not control.

Another Motive Suggested.

Attorney General Hubert Meredith, in charge of the prosecution, got Dr. Peters to admit that, under the same set of facts, Roy Garr might possibly have been moved to his act simply by desire to avenge his dead sister.

This most logical and simple aspect of the case is the one that the defense consistently buries. It has pleaded self-defense as its main line, and, as a second line, has produced witnesses who have pictured Denhardt as a man who ought to have been killed on general principles—anticharacter witnesses, as they have been called.

It is Meredith's contention that Roy was the coolest one of the three brothers on the night of the killing, and as evidence he cited Roy's action in stopping Dr. Garr from killing Denhardt's attorney, Dodes K. Myers, who was present at the time of the shooting.

The hypothetical question took up the recital of the case from the time of Denhardt's indictment for the murder of his fiancée a year ago, the trial last spring, the part the Garrs played in the prosecution, the warnings they had received that Denhardt would kill them, and the information that came to them on the eve of the second trial that the general was about to give evidence reflecting on the virtue of their sister. The question gave as a fact that Roy had seen the face of his sister as he stepped out of the automobile to confront Denhardt.

Dr. Board, who is professor of mental diseases at the University of Louisville, said that a man under this strain might be described as impulsively or emotionally insane, incapable of lucid reasoning at the time.

It is not likely that the state will attempt to meet this contention except in the arguments of the attorney general.

Attack Denhardt Character.

Another feature of the day was the testimony of army officers regarding the character of Denhardt. Brig. Gen. Ellerbe Carter of the Kentucky National Guard, head of the 63d field artillery brigade and once a candidate for lieutenant governor in opposition to Denhardt, who was elected, said Denhardt was "quarrelsome, dangerous, and vindictive."

"He was one of the most violent, domineering, unscrupulous, brutal men I have ever known in my life," Gen. Carter added.

Lew Ullrich, former secretary to the mayor of Louisville and former aide de camp of Denhardt, said that his dead chief was a domineering man and in his opinion "power drunk." Several witnesses said Denhardt always carried a pistol.

Maj. Joseph Kelly, assistant adjutant general, said Denhardt was a "sort of Jekyll and Hyde."

"He threatened my life once," he said, but the court would not allow this evidence.

Denhardt Threats Told.

Earlier in the day threats alleged to have been made by Gen. Denhardt to "kill the three Garr boys" were related by Jack Garr and witnesses for the defense.

Mrs. Sadie Bennett of Louisville, who worked at one time for Mrs. Taylor in La Grange, said she heard Denhardt talking about the Garrs.

"All three of the brothers are yellow," Denhardt told his fiancée, according to Mrs. Bennett's testimony. "I'm going to get all of them, especially Roy. I'll shoot him down like a rat."

Mrs. Bennett told Roy of this threat.

$674,209 IN U. S. NOTES FOUND IN SUBWAY LOCKER

U. S. Near End of Trail of Bond Ring.

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—A messenger boy threaded his way through dancing couples in a midtown night club early this morning and handed an envelope to four federal agents sitting at a ringside table. They opened it. A note and a key fell out.

Fifteen minutes later, the same four dashed to a 59th street subway station and opened a parcel locker with the key. Out fell 13 U. S. treasury notes with a value of $674,209.29.

Trail of $1,790,000.

The relentless quest of the federal men and the U. S. attorney's office to recover $1,790,000 in notes stolen from the Wall street branch of the bank of the Manhattan company Jan. 2, two years ago was nearly finished. Only $250,000 of the loot remains outstanding.

The bizarre manner in which the bonds were recovered was similar to earlier such recoveries. One $100,000 note was found in a bag of lima beans in a Florida hotel refrigerator. Agents posing as Britons, listening to conversation in a Bahama barroom, had traced the loot.

Seize Brains of Bond Ring.

Today's discovery resulted from the capture of Meyer Frankenberg, "brains" of a 14-man bond ring. He pleaded guilty last week, and is to be sentenced tomorrow. Frankenberg told Assistant United States Attorney John J. Dowling to go to a specified night club and to "wait there for further information." Dowling took three federal bureau of investigation agents with him.

The FBI has been working on the case more than two years under the law forbidding the interstate transportation of stolen property.

ELECTRIC SHOCK MAKES CAT TRY FOREPAW STAND

Brain Motor Center Tests Are Described.

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Discovery of another brain peculiarity, a spot near the top of the cerebellum which will cause a cat to try to do a dignified handstand on its front paws, was reported today in Science, the journal of American scientists.

The cerebellum is that part of the brain which in animals and men controls movements of the entire body. The handstand area was found by Sam L. Clark at Vanderbilt university with the aid of an electrical explorer.

Leave Brain Undisturbed.

This is a device which makes it possible to place small, hairlike electrodes on the surface of the brain in such a way that they do not cause discomfort or interfere with the normal working of the gray matter.

Mr. Clark reversed the usual method of using such electrodes. Ordinarily they are employed to study the currents flowing from the brain. But he used them to give the brain a very slight electric shock.

The cats were not harmed by these electric shocks. But for five to seven minutes afterward they went through slow movements of unexpected sorts.

Show Localized Movements.

If the electrode touched the left side of the brain the cat spent about a minute lifting its left foreleg. Next it did the same with its right foreleg. Afterward its left hind leg lifted and finally the right hind leg. The whole process took six to seven minutes.

If the electrode touched the right side of the brain, the leg lifting began with the right foreleg instead of the left. It followed through the other three legs continuing the reverse order.

When the spot touched was exactly midway between the two sides of the cerebellum, both front legs of the cat went into action simultaneously. The cat lifted them up and sat on its haunches.

Next it stuck its tail straight up in the air, lifted both hind legs and tried to stand on its forepaws.

out detection before an alert filling station attendant brought the case to a quick solution. He noted the unusual gold certificate and wrote on it the license number of Hauptmann's automobile.

Finding of ransom money also helped solve the kidnaping of Urschel, Oklahoma oil millionaire, who was seized in July, 1933, in his home in Oklahoma City. Part of the $200,000 ransom was found in Minneapolis, leading ultimately to the arrest and imprisonment of George [Machine Gun] Kelly, Harvey Bailey, three other men, and a woman.

Finding of a bill of the Ross ransom in Blue Island recalled another kidnaping of the era when such crimes were not infrequent. In 1931 the late James J. Hackett, then a Blue Island gambling czar, was abducted and released on payment of $75,000.

Kidnaped Second Time.

The same gang kidnaped him again in 1933, freeing him after he paid $1,500. Hackett assisted authorities in rounding up his tormentors. Handsome Jack Klutas, leader of the gang, was shot to death by police. Three other men went to prison.

Mrs. May Ross, wife of the latest kidnap victim, was reported to be ill yesterday, confined to her bed in her apartment at 2912 Commonwealth avenue. She has made no comment on the case since last Sunday, when she issued a written statement warning the kidnapers that she would call in federal agents if her husband were not released. Ross is 72 years old and in frail health. Friends fear he may be dead.

An automobile equipped with a small arsenal which police suspected might have been used by members of the Ross kidnaping gang was seized late yesterday by Kensington police in a private garage at 6732 South Artesian avenue. It contained a rifle, a sawed-off shotgun, two revolvers, seven boxes of cartridges, two pairs of goggles, and three masks.

Although the first theory of police was that the automobile was used by the robbery gang that killed Joseph Locascio, they said later it might have figured in the Ross case. A significant point is that the car was put into the private garage on Oct. 8, the day on which the Ross ransom is supposed to have been paid. The two men who rented the garage from Mrs. Kazimira Raskutio never returned.

Another mystery was the Locascio slaying. He was shot to death in a delicatessen at 3020 Wells street Tuesday night. James Cuba, an alleged associate, was seized afterward, but may be freed on a writ of habeas corpus this morning if he is not booked by police.

Guard Mississippi Bridges.

Deputy sherifs and federal men last night were stopping all cars crossing the Iowa-Illinois bridge over the Mississippi river at Savanna, Ill., in Carroll county, on a report that the Ross kidnapers would try to cross there. The bridges at Clinton and Dubuque, Ia., also were being watched.

The Savanna report was given to Mayor Rhene B. Law by an unidentified man, who immediately drove away in his car. Mayor Law called Sherif Eber Shepherd of Carroll county, Sherif Leo Henicke of Jackson county, Ia.; other law officers, and a vigilante committee and posted them at the bridge. All were heavily armed. The first ransom letter in the Ross case was reputedly mailed from Savanna eleven days ago.

FORMER BANDIT SAYS MONTAGUE AIDED ROBBERY

Ex-Convict Picks Golfer as One of Gang.

Elizabethtown, N. Y., Oct. 21.—(AP)—An ex-convict sat in a little mountain courtroom today and calmly pointed to John Montague, Hollywood's gift to golf, as the "Laverne Moore" who joined him in a $700 roadhouse robbery near here seven years ago.

The identification came from Roger Norton, Cleveland, O., truck driver, who served two years for the crime after pleading guilty.

In a voice hardly audible to the jury, Norton unhesitatingly pointed toward Montague, on trial for robbery, when State Prosecutor Thomas W. McDonald asked: "Do you see Laverne Moore in the courtroom?"

Montague Denies Crime.

The husky Montague admits he is Laverne Moore, formerly of Syracuse, N. Y., but denies participation in the crime. His personality and fantastic golfing feats won him acclaim in the Hollywood film colony.

Norton's testimony came on the opening day of testimony before an all male jury which also heard Kin Hana, bespectacled Japanese proprietor of the roadhouse. In broken English Hana gave a detailed account of what happened near Jay, N. Y., the August night in 1930 when he and members of his family were bound and gagged while three men stripped their pockets and a safe of approximately $700.

He said his assailants were masked.

Admits Liquor Dealings.

Defense counsel cross-examined Norton for nearly two hours in an attempt to shake his story. The witness admitted he had liquor dealings with Hana and other tavern keepers during prohibition.

Montague, wearing a conservative gray suit, kept his eyes directly on the witness chair throughout most of the day. The courtroom was filled. Women were in the majority.

Norton, who came here voluntarily to testify against Montague, testified that he and Moore met William Carleton and John Sherry at Mechanicville, N. Y., the night of the crime, and proceeded in two automobiles to the roadhouse nearly 100 miles north. He remained outside, the witness said, while the other three entered.

Says He Saw Beating.

Later, Norton continued, he went to the rear of the roadhouse when he heard Moore "holler for a blackjack" and found the latter beating Matthew Cobb, 74 years old, the father of Hana's white wife. She, Norton said, is his second cousin, and explained he called Cobb "Uncle Matt."

"I told Moore to get the hell away from him," Norton testified.

After the holdup Norton said he and Moore traveled in one car to Schenectady, N. Y., where they parted. He testified Carleton and Sherry rode in another car with the loot. The latter machine overturned and Sherry was killed. Carleton later was captured and served a prison term. Most of the $700 was returned to Hana.

Mrs. Hana late in the day testified one of the gang was addressed as "Verne."

Mrs. Hana said she was forced to open the roadhouse safe at gunpoint.

QUINTS' NURSE

Yvonne Leroux with a Dionne doll.

The habits—play, food, sleep, and dress—of the Dionne quintuplets were described yesterday by their first nurse, Miss Yvonne Leroux, who is in Chicago for a three day lecture engagement at Marshall Field & Co.

Miss Leroux, who went to the Dionne home on her first nursing assignment and stayed two and a half years, said she is one of the persons for whom the quints pray nightly.

The nurse toured the city's infant welfare stations yesterday and called on Mayor Kelly.

Judge Jarecki Gets Basket of 58 Roses on Birthday

VAN NUYS PLANS TO RUN EVEN IF NOT NOMINATED

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—If Frederick Van Nuys, senior United States senator from Indiana, does not win renomination next spring at the Democratic state convention, he probably will run as an independent, seeking both independent Democrat and independent Republican support.

However, until the convention formally turns him down—if indeed it does—Van Nuys will remain a very active contestant for the nomination despite the edict of the statehouse faction of the Democratic party that he walk the political plank. Even when he was first elected to the senate in 1932, Van Nuys was forced to conduct a campaign independently of that of Paul V. McNutt for governor.

The irony of it is that while Van Nuys ran then as a supporter of Franklin D. Roosevelt McNutt and his clique were alient to Roosevelt.

The coolness between McNutt and the White House remains. Now Van Nuys has fallen out of favor because he dared to oppose the President's court packing bill.

Seeing a chance to curry favor with the White House, the statehouse group now is trying to impeach Van Nuys' party loyalty and to make a reprisal victim of him.

The senator's long service in the Democratic party—as private counsel of the Hoosier leader, Thomas Taggart, as party leader in the state senate, and then as chairman of the Democrat state committee—is being glossed over.

However, friends of Van Nuys and those who applaud him for his courage in fighting the court bill are repeatedly reminding Hoosier citizens of the contrast between the Van Nuys stand on court packing and the truckling attitude of his junior colleague, Sherman Minton.

NEAR RULING ON OTHER SLAYINGS IN POISON TRIAL

Hahn Jury Excluded for Day-Long Argument.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, on trial for the arsenic murder of Jacob Wagner, 78 years old, will know at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning whether the state will be allowed to present evidence as to other old men it claims she killed with arsenic.

Judge Charles S. Bell adjourned court more than an hour early today, calling in the 11 women and one man jury after having excluded it during most of the day as counsel argued. He explained he would rule on the question on reconvening tomorrow, the ninth day the jury has been hearing the case.

Shortly after court opened today the state completed a prima facie case against the blonde Mrs. Hahn, who is 31 years old, when it proved that the arsenic found in Jacob Wagner's body was not due to any substances used in preparation for burial.

Woman Witness First.

Mrs. Helen Smith was summoned as a witness but was allowed only to tell her name and her acquaintance with George Obendoerfer, for whose death by arsenic Mrs. Hahn also is under indictment. Argument then began and the jury was sent out.

"What do you intend to prove by introduction of these other cases, Mr. Prosecutor?" asked Judge Bell.

Dudley Miller Outcalt said he expected to prove that Obendoerfer, who died July 6, slightly more than a month after Wagner died, had known Mrs. Hahn only a short while when she went to his rooms and prepared a meal for him. This meal, consumed with a couple of bottles of beer, was his last, the prosecutor said.

"Immediately afterward he became ill and died," he said. "Mrs. Hahn when arrested denied that she ever knew him."

Tells of Two More Cases.

In the summer of 1936, he said, she met George Heis, whom she defrauded of $2,000. He was an agent for the Consolidated Coal company whose money it was. When the company demanded payment, Mrs. Hahn obtained the money to repay Heis from Albert Palmer, who shortly thereafter died from arsenic poisoning, said Mr. Outcalt.

Before the jury was excluded and arguments began, the state supplied its missing link of testimony establishing that Wagner died of arsenic taken by mouth. A witness hurriedly summoned from Springfield, O., testified that the hardening powder used on the body and manufactured by his company contained no arsenic. He was A. O. Spriggs, research director of the company.

Throughout the day, and out of sight of the jury, Anna Hahn again betrayed uneasiness. During Outcalt's argument she glared at him, turned expectantly to watch the faces of her own four lawyers, looked up at Judge Bell's uncompromising blue eyes, and twisted her handkerchief in her narrow hands.

During her own counsel's arguments she studied the court apprehensively. In this instance Judge Bell was listening to a former pupil of his in criminal law, Joseph H. Hoodin, of which Lawyer Hoodin seemed fully conscious.

AIRPORT PROJECT FACES DELAY IN FIGHT FOR LAND

New delays which threaten to block the plans for expanding Chicago's airport by next spring cropped up yesterday. Mayor Kelly's special airport committee conferred with Raymond E. Herman, real estate broker who owns a block of property needed to complete the project, and learned that long negotiations probably will be necessary before an agreement can be reached on a price.

Herman's holdings include the right of way picked for the relocation of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad tracks, which now bisect the square mile of area available for airport purposes. Under an agreement with the railroad the city was to acquire the new right of way and present it to the road in return for a deed to the railroad's airport rights.

At the meeting Herman declared he wasn't interested in the airport, but indicated he would sell if his price was met. He refused to name a figure, saying he would do so some time next week.

tenced her to 90 days in the Bridewell, then entered a motion to vacate the sentence and release her [for the duration of the St. Louis hearing] if $500 bond were furnished. He did this after hearing this chronicle:

She was born in Pittsburgh thirty-four years ago, and ran away from home when 14 to marry Paul Fish, a minister's son, who died two weeks thereafter.

A year and a half later she married Carl Putney, an accountant and the father of Carl and Jean. When he ran away with another woman she got a divorce.

Three years later [when she was 22], she married William Mayhood, a building contractor, at Steubenville, O. When he went bankrupt three years later she divorced him and went to St. Louis as a nurse.

Weds Millionaire at 73.

There she met Thomasson, millionaire real estate broker, who then was 73. She was 25. They were married in Waterloo, Ill., in July, 1930; in Joliet, Ill., in February, 1932; in Marion, Ill., in May, 1932, and in Hot Springs, Ark., in the fall of 1932. The aged broker, who had been in poor health, died in Jan. 28, 1933.

"And since then," his widow stated happily, "I've appeared in sixty-five cases before 98 judges in seven states with 104 lawyers trying to settle his estate. [Relatives have been trying to get the marriages annulled on the ground Thomasson was insane.] He gave me $55,000 in jewels and $57,000 in real estate that they didn't know about."

Cabaret Entertainer Next.

Six months after Thomasson's death she married Robert Diefenbach, a night club entertainer, and divorced him eight months later. In the interim between becoming a widow and a bride she also was engaged, she said, to a "Mr. Keller," an oil millionaire from Houston, Tex.

"Then I guess it was last year, May, maybe," she said thoughtfully, "that I married Robert Fledderman. He was 38 and southern manager for a stove company. When I gave him a divorce in March [1937] he gave me $3,000 worth of diamonds, a new Buick, and $9,000 cash, but," ruefully, "I lost the cash on the ponies in Florida and when I came up here to try and get it back I lost $3,500 more."

Judge Deaf to Plea.

Judge McCormick, terming her "just an adventuress and an unsuccessful one," ordered her to jail.

Tearfully she argued with him. "All I wanted, your honor, in all my marriages, was to find a father for my children."

But Judge McCormick shook his head and called for the next case.

CAROL G. DENIES MATE'S CHARGE IN DIVORCE SUIT

Mrs. Caroline de Windt Gardner filed an answer yesterday in the Superior court through her attorney, Theodore Hardeen Jr., denying the charge of desertion made in the divorce bill of her husband, Albert Sellner Gardner.

Mrs. Gardner, a descendant of the Massachusetts Adams family, is the "Carol G." named co-respondent last spring when Mrs. Gertrude Wood obtained separate maintenance from David J. Wood, the Winnetka village fire captain.

Attorney Robert Cantwell Jr., representing Gardner, said he would ask an early hearing of the suit, which is expected to be uncontested. Gardner, it was indicated, will seek legal custody of the children, Carol, 14 years old, and William A., 12, but if this is granted will permit them to live with their mother in Barrington.

LINK KIDNAPING ATTEMPT WITH R. I. TRACK WAR

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Providence, R. I., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Policemen patroled the homes and grounds of state officials tonight following a reported attempt to kidnap the infant son of Secretary of State Louis W. Cappelli. The incident was linked to Rhode Island's civil war over Narragansett race track which is closed under martial law declared by Gov. Robert E. Quinn.

The kidnaping attempt was staged by two hoodlums, one of them waving a revolver, according to Mrs. Mary Cabral, 40 years old, nursemaid for Cappelli's 1½ year old son, John. The woman said the boy was not at home when the pair arrived. She told the police when she refused to divulge where the baby was, the man with the gun tore open the front of her dress and slapped her face. Then the pair fled in a green sedan.

News Travels Rapidly.

The news traveled fast through the grapevine of politicians, racketeers, and racing touts who form the battle lines in this bizarre struggle for control of the horse park.

"Did you hear?" they said. "Somebody tried to snatch Capelli's kid."

Because of this development and others it was clearly the governor's day in his campaign to oust his political foe, Walter E. O'Hara, as managing director of the race track.

Quinn has sworn to "drive O'Hara out of Rhode Island." The two men head rival factions in the Democratic party of this state which was founded as a colony some 301 years ago by Roger Williams as "the cradle of religious liberty and political freedom."

O'Hara Freed on Bond.

O'Hara, smiling and jaunty as usual, was ordered held for the grand jury and was released in $5,000 bail on a charge of criminally libeling William O. Beehan, New York advertising man, in an arraignment before Judge Maurice Robinson in Providence District court. The bail cash was handed over by O'Hara's friend, Mayor Thomas P. McCoy of Pawtucket.

Called "Briber" in Article.

The libel charge arose over the printing of an article in O'Hara's newspaper, the Providence Star Tribune, which referred to Beehan as a "briber." The same edition, printed Oct. 8, called Gov. Quinn a "—— liar." O'Hara has also been bound over to the grand jury on this charge.

One development in the bitter battle for political domination of the state that had the politicians squirming was the announcement of United States District Attorney J. Howard McGrath that he had been studying the matter of checks in the amount of $72,000, which had been paid by the Narragansett Racing association in order to determine whether the federal corrupt practices act had been violated.

Report Sums Paid Officials.

The money has been paid to various officials and legislators by the race track, apparently for the purpose of buying good will for legalized gambling which is opposed by the local church interests. The district attorney outlined the following payments:

Patrick Henry Quinn, the governor's uncle and close adviser, received a check for $20,000 from O'Hara last January for legal services.

Another who received some of the O'Hara money was Billy Shawcross, state chairman of the Democratic party, who by the governor's appointment holds the title of "colonel" as a military aide to his excellency.

Shawcross was given a total of $12,500 which went into the state campaign for Roosevelt and Quinn last November.

On the other side Mayor McCoy was shown to have been paid $5,000 by the race track. Other cronies of O'Hara received lesser amounts.

Makes Charge of Thugs.

The sensational story of the attempted kidnaping, however, was the major development of the day. It was regarded as helpful to the governor, for in a "fireside chat" over the radio last night he charged the track had been peopled with thugs and gangsters.

Cappelli's son had been taken out in his baby carriage with one of his sisters prior to the arrival of the two kidnapers, according to Mrs. Cabral's story.

Pair Picked Up; Questioned.

Soon after an alarm went out over the state police teletype to be on the lookout for the pair in a green sedan, a strange thing happened, something that could only happen here in this smallest and most peppery state of the union. The police picked up two men, carrying a shotgun, a .32 calibre revolver and a rifle in a green sedan. But they were not the pair that attacked her, Mrs. Cabral said, after looking them over at police headquarters.

Cappelli, who was elected on the Quinn ticket last fall, said he could not understand why any one should be after him, that he had no enemies and had received no threats.

Meanwhile the police of North Providence, in which the home of Cappelli is located, threw a guard around the residences of other state officials in the neighborhood.

Husbands! Keep your pay checks and pay the bills. Don't saddle financial responsibility on your wives. If you do and lose it's your own fault.

Judge Philip J. Finnegan gave this advice yesterday in granting the request of Attorney Norman Becker for $5 a week temporary alimony for Mrs. Mabel Fox, 6434 Cottage Grove avenue.

During their three years of married life, the husband, Alfred Fox, complained he turned over his pay check so Mrs. Fox could pay the bills. But after she left him Oct. 10 Fox said he found she had kept the money and that he owed $500. Mrs. Fox's divorce bill alleges cruelty. Her daughter by a previous marriage, Georgia Van Buskirk, was in the courtroom with her.

BURGLAR KONCIL GETS SENTENCE OF YEAR TO LIFE

Edward Koncil, paroled convict, who was found guilty of burglary by a jury in the Criminal court Wednesday night, was sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary yesterday by Judge Joseph Sabath. The jury had appended a recommendation of mercy and Judge Sabath announced that this note would be sent, with the mittimus, to the state board of pardons.

Koncil wept bitterly when the court overruled a motion for a new trial and pronounced sentence. He was found guilty of looting the home of Stephen Touhey, 1822 Wesley avenue, Berwyn. After his arrest Koncil caused a scandal involving Berwyn officials by his repeated escapes from the Berwyn jail.

Slayer of Two Bandits May Spend Christmas at Home

Lige Debowski, who was shot five times in a revolver battle with two robbers whom he killed on July 17, will probably be out of the County hospital by Christmas, Dr. Ole C. Nelson said yesterday. Debowski is not yet able to sit up in bed, but is gaining strength.

BODY FOUND NEAR TRACKS.

The body of a man identified through a relief card in his pocket as Frank Novak, 50 years old, was found in Hobbie street near the St. Paul railroad tracks yesterday.

HORNER PLEDGES HELP IN SETTLING TRACTION TANGLE

State to Intercede if Plan Is Delayed, He Says.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner today promised vigorous assistance by the state in Chicago's efforts to settle its traction problem, which was brought to a climax this week by Mayor Edward J. Kelly submitting a plan for a merger of utilities and for construction of elevated highways and subways.

"Will your administration offer friendly coöperation?" the governor was asked in a catch-as-catch-can, corridor interview.

"I'll go further than that," he replied, as he was rushing from a meeting of his new safety commission to a Democratic political rally. "If this traction settlement doesn't progress rapidly, I'll ask the Illinois Commerce commission to intercede. The commerce commission will act if necessary to prevent the traction question from being the political football that it has long been."

"O, Nerts," Says Governor.

"Will your highway department also be coöperative?" he was asked, referring to the elevated highway phase of the Kelly plan.

"O, nerts," said the hurrying governor. "The highway department has always been coöperative with Chicago. I don't have to make a statement on that; you can just quote the record."

Horner, since his campaign for his first gubernatorial election, has consistently stated that he favored state assistance in the construction of elevated highways in Chicago. Just as consistently he has contended that the duty of selecting the sites and types of structures rests with the city administration.

The Kelly traction plan, which is awaiting approval by the federal court and the council's local transportation committee, is the city's first designation of preference for routes.

Two Plans Coincide.

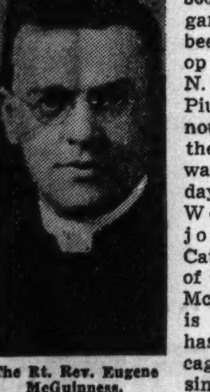
Incidentally, at least in one particular, the Kelly plan coincides with Illinois highway departmentment ideas. This particular is the elevated highway branch from downtown to Union park in Randolph street. State engineers prepared specifications for such a structure at this location about three years ago, merely as a suggestion to the city.

The meeting Horner was leaving at the time of the interview was the first session of the Illinois state highway safety commission, consisting of civic leaders from throughout the state, named by the governor.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, presided.

The Kelly plan was submitted as one of the subjects to be studied by a commission committee on highway modernization. Daniel H. Burnham, president of the Chicago Regional Planning association, is chairman of this committee and Ernst Lieberman, chief engineer of the state highway department, is vice chairman.

MSGR. M'GUINNESS OF CHICAGO IS NAMED A BISHOP



The Rt. Rev. Eugene McGuinness.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Eugene J. McGuinness, vice president of the Catholic Church Extension society, 360 North Michigan avenue, has been named bishop of Raleigh, N. C., by Pope Pius XI. The announcement of the appointment was made yesterday in the New World, official journal of the Catholic diocese of Chicago. Msgr. McGuinness, who is 47 years old, has been a Chicago resident since 1919, when he came from Philadelphia to be field secretary of the society of which he is now vice president. In 1925 he became general secretary of the society and in 1929 was elevated to the rank of domestic prelate with designation of the right reverend. The new bishop-elect will succeed the Most Rev. William J. Hafey, who has been appointed coadjutor to Bishop Thomas C. O'Reilly of Scranton, Pa.

LOOP SURFACE PLAN

MAYOR WELCOMES CAR LINE BACKING OF TRANSIT PLAN

Mayor Kelly said yesterday he was pleased with the attitude of Guy A. Richardson, president of the Chicago Surface Lines, toward the mayor's plan for transit rehabilitation and unification. Mr. Richardson had said he favored the principles of the plan and believed it sound and feasible. The surface lines, he said, is ready to begin negotiations for a franchise as soon as details of the plan are completed.

There was a widespread belief in transit circles yesterday that the unification proposal is a real basis for solution of the transit problem.

An important part of Mayor Kelly's plan is the construction of street car subways under Jackson boulevard and Washington street. These would permit removal of all east-west car lines from the surface in the loop and eliminate most of the network of car tracks to make room for private cars and buses. Other features include a State street subway for north and south elevated lines and construction of 20 miles of elevated superhighways for west side express buses and private cars.

JUBILEE BANQUET HONORS PIONEERS IN CITY BUSINESS

Representatives or descendants of founders of some 300 pioneer Chicago business houses were fêted last night at a banquet attended by 1,500 persons in the Stevens hotel. The affair was sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce in connection with the final phases of the charter centennial jubilee.

The principal speakers were Mayor Kelly, the Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, Episcopal bishop of Chicago; William J. Cameron of the Ford Motor company, and C. L. Rice, president of the Association of Commerce. Dr. Louis L. Mann delivered the invocation.

Mayor Kelly, commending the courage of the old business founders, said Chicago would follow them through, and now enter a second century of progress.

$100,000 HINGES ON HOUR OF INSTITUTE FOUNDER'S DEATH

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—A jury in Supreme court tomorrow will be asked to decide whether Leo Greenlinger, founder of the Alexander Hamilton institute, died before or after midnight, Oct. 10, 1935, and an award of $100,000 in life insurance may depend on its verdict.

Greenlinger died sometime during a train journey from Detroit to New York. Mrs. Ethel Hirshman, assignee for the institute, is suing the Equitable Life Assurance society to collect the value of a policy on his life.

Premiums on the policy lapsed Sept. 9, 1935, but thirty days' leeway is allowed on the payments, and Mrs. Hirshman contends Greenlinger died before the expiration of that period.

CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE

FEDERAL GROUPS WILL REPORT TO JIM ROOSEVELT

Chiefs of Agencies Will Confer with Him.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The White House today announced at a round table luncheon, given by James Roosevelt, son and secretary of the President, a move which, it was said, will bring about greater efficiency through coördination of the various independent agencies.

At the luncheon young Roosevelt explained he had been instructed by his father to devote each Monday and Tuesday to a series of half hour conferences with independent agency chiefs in order that they will have an opportunity to discuss their problems. James Roosevelt will boil down their troubles and carry them to his father's ear.

The President was represented as feeling such a step would be a great stride "toward furthering the efficiency" of the independent units by making it possible for them to clear their problems and report on their activities through a common channel.

Told that there was such an avenue in the National Emergency council which was dissolved by presidential order six weeks ago, young Roosevelt said work of the council would be carried on under the new plan. In the early days of the administration the council was held to be a "supercabinet" and met one or more times each week to discuss the nation's problems. It numbered cabinet officers and heads of emergency units in its membership.

At the time the National Emergency council was disbanded it was said that the step was being taken in the interest of economy and to promote efficiency. White House aids said there was nothing inconsistent in the two efficiency announcements.

Son James said that he will be on the lookout for occasions where one independent agency might be engaged in some activity at the same time another agency might be proceeding independently toward the same goal. The two could be brought together or jurisdiction given to one or the other to save duplication of cost and effort.

Eighteen establishments reported at the luncheon today, including the federal reserve board, FPC, CCC, civil service, FCA, social security board, bituminous coal commission, federal trade commission, Farm Security administration, AAA, interstate commerce commission, WPA, NYA, NLRB, FHA, SEC, reclamation bureau, and the maritime commission.

Chicagoan Is Regional PWA Chief

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes today announced the selection of six of the seven regional directors of the public works' administration, who will take over the supervising authority of 81 state directors and inspectors.

D. R. Kennicott.

The seven districts have been created to approximate the boundaries of the seven "Little TVA's" President Roosevelt will seek to have created at the special session of congress to develop and preserve natural resources. The boundaries of the PWA districts follow the natural water shed boundaries of the "Little TVA's."

David R. Kennicott of Chicago was named as director of region No. 2 which will have its headquarters in Chicago. The region is comprised of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, and West Virginia.

HEAD OF ILLINOIS PWA.

Mr. Kennicott became the PWA administrator for Illinois last February after several months as acting head. He succeeded Carl H. Bauer, forced to resign by illness. Previously Kennicott was PWA resident engineer here for three years. He has been in the construction business in Chicago for twenty-five years, is married, and lives at 1111 Spruce street, Winnetka.

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

WORLD AND COMPANY

By CALEB

THIS is your department store. The world is ours. With almost the same facility that you come here and shop our counters, our buyers shop the aisles of the world.

This morning, if I wish, I may chat with a man who has visited recently all the important creators of beautiful glass in Sweden, in France, in Czechoslovakia, in Italy, and in Germany. To him, Europe is one great aisle of glassware. But instead of counters on either side of himself he finds whole factories.

I may then talk with a buyer who would hardly know what a glass factory looks like, but to whom the names of the important couturiers of Europe are ABC's. She (and many like her) knows the corners and streets and the buildings and the personnel surrounding these couturiers. She knows, too, the couturiers themselves, as well as you know the aisles in our store and the sales people with whom you have dealt for years.

This afternoon I may talk with a man or woman who knows Milano, Vienna, Torino, Genova, Firenze, and Brindisi as intimately as your tongue knows the inside of your mouth. Others of our buyers can follow the reports of Chinese troubles with as fine an appreciation and understanding of precisely what is occurring and where, as you or I would understand similar violence being reported in connection with our old home towns.

Since the world is our department store, we must know what it offers, and to know what it offers we must know not only its main thoroughfares, its main aisles, but likewise what is around the corner of this sea or ocean, what is available in the second or third or fourth mountain range aisle to the right, and to the left.

In our store, insofar as it is practical for your convenience, we attempt to bring together everything of one nature, as towels, toys, or toilet articles.

The department store in which we do our buying is somewhat less considerate of us. Artwares we buy, for instance, are scattered all over the department store we patronize, which is the round world! And so are many others of our lines of merchandise.

BRITAIN BACKS OUT OF MOVE TO PUNISH JAPAN

Prime Minister Says U. S. Must Take Lead.

"U. S. Must Take Lead."

"We cannot act alone. The country that must take the lead, as the speeches of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Henry Stimson [former secretary of state] have shown, must be the United States with her immense interests in the far east, and without our preoccupations in Europe."

[Stimson in 1932 committed the United States to opposition to Japanese invasion of Manchuria, but after he had sent warnings to the Tokio government the British failed to back the American policy.]

"But I do beg," Sinclair added, "that the government make it clear that if the United States will act, then we ought to stand by them and act with them."

Chamberlain refused to discuss what Britain proposes to do if the Brussels conference fails to reach a solution.

The prime minister touched on the Spanish question, commending Italy for its action yesterday in offering a plan of negotiating to get foreign troops out of the Spanish civil war.

[Italy suggested that a neutral commission visit Spain to determine how many foreigners are fighting on each side and recommend a basis for negotiating withdrawals. Germany supported the plan.]

Feels Patience Is Justified.

Referring to this move, Chamberlain said:

". . . What happened yesterday seems to me full justification for the patience and persistence of Mr. [Anthony] Eden, British foreign secretary, during these long drawn out negotiations."

Referring to the Balearic Islands and reports of Italian activities there, Chamberlain cited the "repeated and categorical assurances" renewed by Italy last week that she had no designs of any sort on the integrity of Spanish territory.

Laborites Jeer His Faith.

The Laborite back benchers jeered openly, but Chamberlain, who has devoted a great deal of energy since becoming prime minister to attempting to improve Italo-British relations, announced that he "accepted" Premier Mussolini's assurances. At the same time he indicated the government will continue to watch events closely.

Eden cautioned the Italians that this country did not want to hog the Mediterranean waterway rights, but did intend to see that free passageway for shipping was kept open in the Mediterranean.

PROGRESS OF WAR

(Story in adjoining column.)

With the capture of Gijon yesterday by Gen. Francisco Franco's rebel forces a new high point was reached in the Spanish civil war. The advances of the rebels are herewith pictured.

After initial garrison uprisings the rebels began drives from Burgos to Cadiz to link northern and southern armies and to seize northern territory.

The division of Spain into rebel and loyalist held territory became defined as above after the rebels had captured Irun and San Sebastian, driven to the gates of Madrid, and captured Malaga.

After successive campaigns in which the rebels captured Bilbao, Santander, and Gijon (indicated by arrow), the loyalists' hold on the northern coast was ended.

REBELS CAPTURE GIJON; DOMINATE NORTHERN SPAIN

Troops March Into Last Loyalist Seaport.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Gijon, last government seaport on the northern coast of Spain, surrendered today to Gen. Francisco Franco's rebel armies after an internal rebellion. A rebel brigade marched in during the afternoon.

Almost at once the last opposition to the rebel forces in the north crumbled all through the province of Asturias.

The Gijon radio suddenly announced this morning that rebel sympathizers had taken over the city and were awaiting the arrival of the rebel forces advancing along the coast about four miles away.

Only a few hours later—at 3:30 p. m.—the first units of Franco's Fourth brigade of Navarrese troops came down the coastal road from the east and entered the city.

Send In Police Patrols.

The Navarrese pressed straight on through the city, crossed the Nalon river and continued on toward Aviles, a city of 13,000 inhabitants about 13 miles down the coast.

The main body of rebel troops was to enter Gijon tomorrow, but patrols were expected to be sent in this evening to preserve order. Franco's officers declared they expected a mass surrender of the remaining government forces in the north within a few days.

Basques and Asturians were reported to have battled in the streets of Gijon before emissaries of the military commander were sent out to offer surrender. One of the contributing factors to the collapse was said to have been lack of anti-aircraft shells and planes to drive off rebel bombers.

Frees 75,000 Troops.

As the rebels gave themselves over to rejoicing their military leaders counted today's victory as one of the greatest scored by Franco's troops in the 15 months of war. The Asturian campaign started seven weeks ago.

A complete cleanup of secondary phases of the northern campaign will be but a matter of a few days, releasing about 75,000 troops for an offensive on the Aragon front in northeastern Spain.

As soon as news of Gijon's fall reached the Asturians in the Oviedo sector, where more than a year of savage fighting has prevailed with first one and then the other side holding part of the Asturian capital, entire battalions surrendered.

The radio reported the government line in that sector had broken down completely and all Oviedo and its suburbs had been handed over to the rebels while other groups of Asturians fled to the hills, casting away their guns as they ran.

Franco Names Fascist Council.

The Gijon radio reported 12 ships, some loaded with government leaders, had been captured by the rebels. Belarmino Tomas, the anarchist governor of Gijon, was captured and imprisoned at Santander.

Some 600 refugees, mostly women and children, escaped on the British steamer Stangrove and were escorted to Bordeaux by the British flag cruiser Southampton. The Stangrove was halted by the rebel blockade fleet shortly after leaving Gijon, but was released after a brusque demand from the Southampton.

Gen. Franco, strengthening his grip on Spanish territory with capture of Gijon, named a national council modeled after Italy's Fascist grand council to help him govern.

Pilar Primo de Rivera, daughter of the one time dictator under the ousted King Alfonso, was among those named to the council, a step towards creation of a civil government under Franco's dictatorship. [He now controls about two-thirds of Spain.]

Shell Madrid to Celebrate.

MADRID, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Spanish rebels besieging Madrid noisily celebrated tonight the capture of Gijon. Their artillery batteries poured more than 2,500 shells into the center of the city in little more than an hour. It was one of the severest bombardments of the whole 11 month siege.

About 800 shells scored direct hits in the heart of the city causing extensive damage. It was thought, however, there would be small loss of life since most people were asleep and a drizzling rain had driven others from the streets when the shelling started at 11 p. m. It was the city's second shelling during the day. In the last two weeks about 200 persons have been killed by unusually heavy rebel bombardments.

The possession of more than 15.4 pounds of food was made a criminal offense by a new decree issued today by the food supply department.

The decree stated that any person having more than that amount of food would be treated as a hoarder and would be liable to fine. Hereafter no food can be brought to Madrid without permit and no person can import more than 15.4 pounds. Excess goods will be confiscated.

Loyalist Chiefs Confer.

VALENCIA, Oct. 21.—Premier Juan Negrin of Spain and President Luis Companys of the Catalan republic, allied with the Spanish government, announced today they would go to Madrid to broadcast a message to the country.

The Valencia cabinet met for more than three hours today, consulting with Companys and members of the Catalan government. [Plans for the government to move to Barcelona, capital of Catalonia, have been reported recently.]

TESTIFIES JAPS PLOT TO PIT ORIENTALS AGAINST WHITE RACE IN HAWAII

HONOLULU, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Kil Soo Haan, alien resident of Hawaii born in Corea, told a congressional committee today the Japanese government through its consulate here is engaged in a move to unite oriental races against the white race. The committee is investigating Hawaii's request for statehood.

Haan said he was present at meetings attended by Japanese government officials where plans were discussed for forming an oriental bloc in Hawaii.

Senator William H. King [D., Utah] asked: "Is your testimony animated by your hostility against Japan's annexation of Corea?" The witness replied negatively. Wilfred G. Tsukiyama, Honolulu city and county attorney, termed the Corean's statements "a mass of lies," and Japanese Vice Consul Tsunoshiro Yamazaki said Haan's testimony was "ridiculous."

Head of Havana Council and Guard Shot in Duel

HAVANA, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Severiano Pulido, newly elected president of the Havana provincial council, and Roman Espinosa, council policeman, were wounded gravely today in a shooting fray in the council chamber.

The thing we do to plates and cups is pile them high and fill 'em up 'til HUNGRY people slap their legs and grin and say: "Boy! there's FOOD!" You see we've been hungry our own self and we know what you want.

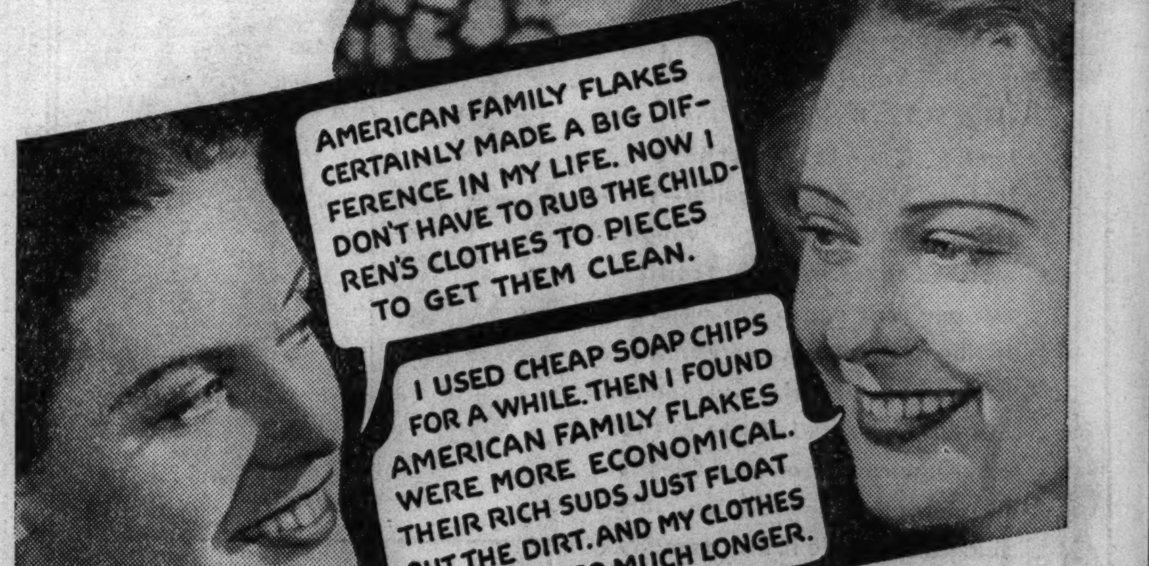
American Family Flakes

Now brother and I can get our clothes 'pitch black' and mother just smiles



Every Test Proves that these super flakes get clothes whiter with less rubbing

EVERY day, women by the hundreds are changing to American Family Flakes—largely on the advice of friends and neighbors who have learned from first-hand experience that this is the quickest way to SAFELY launder all types of fabrics.

For, without depending upon harmful alkali, or strong chemicals, as cheap soap chips often do—without the need of scrubbing, boiling, or hard, ruinous rubbing which take the life out of fabrics—these amazing super-flakes turn out the whitest, sweetest-smelling wash you have ever seen.

A single washing will prove a revelation to you. But your real thrill will come months later when you see how much longer ALL of your washables last.

How American Family Flakes Work These Wonders

Laboratory tests prove that American Family Flakes contain more suds-making material than ordinary flakes, chips or powders. And there you have the secret for the wonders these flakes perform.

This extra suds-making material in American Family Flakes is responsible for their rich, active "DOUBLE SUDS" which actually float out even the grimiest dirt—without scrubbing, boiling, or hard rubbing.

This is why white fabrics come out with new, snowy whiteness. Why colored fabrics retain their brilliance and beauty. Why ALL washables last surprisingly much longer.

For over ninety years American Family has been the largest selling brand of soap in and around Chicago. Try American Family Flakes and you will quickly prove that it is cheaper to buy good soap than new clothes.

There is nothing safer than American Family Flakes for your finest fabrics. And for dishwashing they are unexcelled. They leave your hands soft and smooth. Made by Procter & Gamble.

REPORT SOVIET U-BOAT FLEET IS WORLD'S BIGGEST Secretly Turns Out Craft, London Hears.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Soviet Russia secretly has built the world's largest submarine fleet and now has more than 150 submarines, all but eleven of them built within the last eight years, British naval circles have learned.

One hundred and fifty-one submarines were in service a few months ago, the reports indicate, and more are believed to have been launched recently.

Though reports have trickled through from time to time of a huge fleet of submarines being built secretly, this is the first definite information on the Russian activity.

Lists Only 11 Old Craft.

The British admiralty's official "return of fleets" for this year lists only eleven old Russian craft—one of which originally was the British L-55—and twelve others considered obsolete.

All other nations are far behind in undersea vessels if these latest reports are accurate.

At the end of last year France led the world, supposedly, in submarine strength with 75 effective vessels in service, six building, and seven more projected.

The United States only had 23 built, 17 building, and one projected, though the British usually figure in 56 more over age and obsolete submarines in computing the United States navy's strength.

Italy had 67, Japan 64, and Germany 32. All three powers are understood to be building more as fast as they can.

Other Craft Being Built.

Two soviet capital ships have been laid down, each to be of 35,000 tons with 16 inch guns, and our heavy cruisers, of which two are reported almost completed.

Two super-destroyers of 3,000 tons each, with five five inch guns, and eleven 700 ton destroyers have been completed within the last four years, and six more of the big ones are under construction, it is reported.

Many of the new submarines are said to be of the same general type as the Garibaldiets and Chartist, completed in 1933, each displacing 1,039 tons on the surface and 1,335 submerged. These are believed to be, for the most part, in the Black Sea.

Others are of a small 500 ton coastal type, and there are twenty-five little M class boats of only 200 tons, like Germany's smallest submarines.

Small Subs Valuable.

Small submarines are valuable to the Russians for their ability to pass much more easily than large craft through the network of canals with which the Russians have been linking up their waterways, so as to permit shifts from the White sea to the Baltic and all the way down to the Black sea.

In the Pacific, so far as is known, Russia at present depends entirely on a fleet of 50 submarines based at Vladivostock. There are no large surface craft on that coast.

RIVER U-BOATS

(Story in adjoining column.)

Small submarines, which form a part of the soviet underseas fleet, are valued because of the ease with which they can traverse waterways. Captions in map indicate how canal and river network makes possible the movement of submarines to the White sea, the Baltic and the Black sea. Solid lines represent rivers and the small broken lines canals.

DECLARE WAR ON REDS! CATHOLIC MISSIONS URGED

Communists Branded as "Satan's Agents."

ROME, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Archbishop Celso Costantini, secretary of the Congregation for the Propagation of the Faith, today called on Catholic missionaries to wage relentless combat against communism and not to limit themselves to prayers and devotions in that struggle.

The archbishop, whose position makes him one of the leaders of the church's far-flung missionary activities, spoke in the Gregorian university before a large audience of cardinals, other prelates, and missionaries. His 5,000 word address was published in tonight's edition of the Osservatore Romano, official Vatican organ.

Hits "Armed Persecution."

Of the conflict between Catholic missions and communism the archbishop said:

"A religious viewpoint that represents not only a denial of faith but is the antithesis of Christ is engaged today in an implacable war against the church throughout the world by written and spoken propaganda and by armed persecution more horrible than that of Diocletian.

"From Europe bolshevism penetrates to mission fields, using methods of the most clever astuteness and efficacy."

Archbishop Costantini said that "in China, where communism already has shown itself, the good sense of the Chinese people has revolved and a movement toward conversion to Catholicism is in progress as it never was in the past."

"Missionaries of Satan."

He assailed communism as "anti-Christ in the missions" and its propagandists as "missionaries of Satan." He urged missionaries to stress that all that is good and practicable in communist doctrine has been "already found in the gospels."

"Bolshevism in China has abandoned the old language of literature and used the spoken language, contributing a new literature, alive and accessible to all," Archbishop Costantini said. "Preaching can be carried on by word of mouth, by the press, the school and the university."

He said there already were twenty-three native missions and 1,900 native priests in China.

Missionary action to combat communism, he said, calls for "respect of different peoples and acceptance of their customs and laws, provided they are not contrary to the laws of God."

CHINESE ATTACK FOE AT SHANGHAI; BIG BATTLE IS ON

Fighting Rages on All Fronts in Area.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 22.—[Friday.]—(AP)—What may be the decisive battle for Shanghai was raging today on all fronts of this area.

Intense fighting was going on in the northwest at Tazang, where the Japanese were throwing in their utmost power to crack the Chinese lines. The Chinese abandoned defensive tactics and poured in reinforcements to engulf the Japanese in a powerful counter offensive.

Chinese authorities said 10,000 Japanese troops were in danger of being cut off from their base in fighting at Wentsaopang creek, 12 miles northwest of the city.

Drive Against Jap Wedge.

Forty thousand Chinese were reported driving from three sides against a wedge which the Japanese had driven into the Chinese front Tuesday.

Shanghai was rocked last night and early today by artillery and aviation duels. Chinese took the offensive when their planes and gun batteries in Pootung bombarded Japanese shore positions and warships along the Whangpoo river. Japanese warships replied with heavy gunfire. Huge fires in Chapei, at the northern edge of the international settlement, and Pootung, across the Whangpoo, further ravaged those stricken areas.

Fifteen Japanese heavy bombing planes attacked the extreme northern and southern portions of Nanking, China's capital, without inflicting important military damage, but 12 farmhouses near a Chinese air base were destroyed and 10 peasants killed or wounded. Several stations along the Shanghai-Nanking railway were bombed.

Plan Big Shantung Drive.

Dispatches from Tientsin reported Japan's North China command was making extensive preparations for further invasion of Shantung province, where Chinese reports said Japanese forces had been retiring northward recently under pressure by the forces of Gen. Han Fu-chu, the provincial governor.

Japanese denied there had been any retirement and declared they were preparing for a big advance on Tsinan, capital of Shantung, just south of the Yellow river.

Japanese bombers were especially active on this front. Several cities on the Tientsin-Pukow railway south of Tsinan were reported bombed.

Meet Stubborn Resistance.

Japanese officers at Peiping denied reports of Chinese victories in Shansi province, but admitted that their columns penetrating the province from the north and east were meeting unusually stubborn resistance.

Chinese dispatches said a Chinese "dare-to-die" battalion raided a Japanese air base at Yangingpao in north Shansi and destroyed 24 planes at a cost of 100 men killed.

HUNT FOR CANCER CAUSE HAMPERED BY 220 VARIETIES

More than 220 known varieties of cancer exist, and it is unlikely any single cause for the disease ever will be found, Dr. William A. O'Brien of Minneapolis declared here yesterday at a meeting of the cancer research committee of the Chicago Woman's club at 72 East 11th street. Dr. O'Brien is associate professor of pathology, preventive medicine, and public health at the University of Minnesota.

"As we understand cancer today," he said, "it is not a simple disease like pneumonia or typhoid fever. All that the 220 varieties of the disease have in common is the unusual behavior of the cells. Research and education are the two great needs for cancer control. Education must start in the high schools and colleges when biology is studied." Dr. O'Brien also said that light complexioned persons appear to be more susceptible to cancer of the skin than do darker persons.

Found in Field

James Garvey of the police bomb squad with shell found at Damen avenue and Sanitary district canal.

A 60 pound wartime artillery shell was sunk in Lake Michigan yesterday by members of the Chicago police bomb squad. The shell, six inches in diamether and 22 inches long, was found in a field near South Damen avenue and the sanitary district canal by Bruno Kunke, 3334 South Oakley avenue. Army officers, who examined the shell, said it was of foreign make, similar to the American 155 millimeter howitzer shell.

STEAL CAMERA; MISS CASH.

Police yesterday sought burglars who rifled a safe in the office of the Adams Motor Manufacturing company, 3914 Shakespeare avenue, Wednesday night. They took a camera and lens valued at $100, but missed $75 in cash.

BRITAIN TO PUSH PALESTINE SPLIT; VIOLENCE GROWS

Veteran Police Expert Is Sent to Holy Land.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Renewed terrorism was reported from Palestine today as the secretary of state for colonial affairs, William G. Ormsby-Gore, told the house of commons Britain intended to go ahead with the plan for a three-way partition of the Holy Land.

Dispatches from Jerusalem told of new attacks at the Lydda airport, where severe punitive measures had been taken by the government following the burning of sheds a few nights ago. The Iraq oil pipeline was again punctured by shots near Beisan.

Police were hunting the assailants of Avinoam Yellin, Cambridge educated senior inspector of Jewish schools in the department of education, who was shot and critically wounded today as he was entering his Mount Zion office.

On the Jaffa-Jerusalem road near Motza daylight ambushers fired on a bus carrying Jews. Four occupants were injured by flying glass.

Send Police Expert to Scene.

Ormsby-Gore disclosed the government was sending Sir Charles Teggart, former high officer of the Indian police, to Palestine to advise the government on the strengthened police administration. Teggart put down terrorism in Bengal and survived several attacks on his life while police commissioner of Calcutta.

Restriction Brings Protest.

The colonial secretary said effective action had been taken to deal with the violence growing out of Jewish and Arab animosities. The government now felt free, he said, to undertake the investigation required before the division of the Holy Land into sovereign Arab and Jewish states and a British mandate.

Jews, meanwhile, were aroused to a fresh storm of protest over a new ordinance restricting immigration of Jews and other foreigners to the Holy Land. The ordinance, carrying out one of the commission's proposals, empowered the high commissioner to grant a fixed number of immigration permits to March 31, 1938, instead of regulating immigration according to the country's capacity for economic absorption.

The Jewish press dubbed the new regulations "a travesty of the letter and spirit of the mandate," while Jewish leaders emphasized their strong view that the country's economic capacity was the only basis for admission of Jews to the "Jewish national home."

ASK FOR INJUNCTION TODAY IN FIGHT TO HALT MARRIAGE MILL

Circuit Judge T. Joseph Sullivan at Crown Point today will be asked to close the Indiana marriage mill in Lake county by injunction. A petition for a court order to restrain Dr. George W. Sweigart, clerk of the Circuit court, from issuing wedding licenses to nonresidents of the county will be argued by Prosecutor Fred Egan, who filed the suit last week.

The hearing today will be based on an Indiana law of 1852, prohibiting clerks from issuing licenses to women who are not residents of the county in which application is made. The law was dug up by Egan after public opinion was roused by the action of Crown Point officials in accommodating couples anxious to avoid compliance with the hygienic marriage laws in Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin.

NAZIS DISSOLVE DANZIG CATHOLIC CENTRIST PARTY

Called Step Toward Wiping Out Treaty Remnants.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—A new step in a systematic campaign to erase the last vestiges of the Versailles treaty was taken by the Nazis today when the Nazi chief of police in the Free City of Danzig ordered the dissolution of the Catholic Centrist party. The action left the Nazi party the only one allowed to exist in Danzig.

[The treaty established the Free Citiy out of what had been German territory.]

Six Centrists of the lower house will be taken into the Nazi party and will vote with the Nazis as "guests." Nazis have held the other 66 seats.

Other Parties Dissolved.

This step was decided upon by Reichsfuehrer Hitler in a conference with the Nazi chiefs of Danzig the day after Premier Mussolini of Italy left Berlin after his recent visit. It prepares for the return of Danzig to the reich and was said to serve as a deliberate warning to Catholics in Germany, and to Poland and to Czechoslovakia.

After the Nazis dissolved the Socialist, communist and nationalist parties in Danzig by arresting or threatening to arrest the leaders, or inducing them to join the Nazis voluntarily, they dealt more gently with the Catholic party. Many of its voters belonged to the Polish minority in Danzig.

But after the minority agreement between Poland and Germany expired last July 15, the relations between Germany and Poland became strained, each group accusing the other of oppressing its minority on the other side of the border.

Party Agrees to Disband.

In Danzig the Nazis voiced suspicions that the Catholic Centrists were making common cause with the Poles. Police established that Herr Libischewski, a Catholic party official, subscribed to the newspaper Germans in Poland, which is printed in Poland and is prohibited in Danzig because it is anti-Nazi. Libischewski was found guilty of violating the penal code.

The Nazi governor of Danzig summoned the board of the Centrist party yesterday and it agreed to accept the dissolution order without appealing to the league of nations.

As a reward for this promise, the Centrists were told that Albert Forster, Nazi district leader for Danzig, was considering an amnesy affecting "political crimes committed recently, including those of Catholic priests and Protestant priests" who were arrested for criticizing the Nazis.

EACH SPARK SETS OFF A TINY CYCLONE!

That's why the new DYNAFLASH ENGINE, and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING, make the 1938 Buick chassis the Most Modern in the World

IT'S literal fact that you ride the whirlwind when your foot is on the treadle that bosses the new Buick DYNAFLASH engine.

Every five inches this thrilling car travels, a fist-size hurricane lets go in a cylinder head, lending tornadic force to the downward power-push of the piston.

You feel the swell and lift of it, the dynamic eager flow of it to the quickening wheels, but you feel it tamed to the firm cool smoothness of polished marble through silk.

Every action of this magnificent traveler is a miracle of poise and quiet and security, and every drop of gasoline you burn gives up gloriously more of its hidden power.

Slip into the driver's seat, sample for yourself the inspired engineering that sets the 1938 Buick head and shoulders above any other automobile you will meet this year.

Apart from the flashing beauty of the car, its luxurious room, its sumptuous fittings, measure the astounding performance of it, and the ride that matches its astonishing stride.

That level, floating, jarless going, that sense of almost flying, is given you by Buick's new TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING, which, adding new safety to new comfort, also lengthens rear tire life and blessedly reduces skids.

Not one but both of the standout engineering features of 1938 are yours in the new Buick—which tellsyouhowtomake your every new-car dollar do its full duty this next year!

THIS CAR SHIFTS FOR ITSELF!

Buick SPECIAL, Series 40 models can be obtained on special order with the new Buick Self-Shifting Transmission, built-in at the factory, at extra cost. In all ordinary driving, gear shifts are made up or down automatically, without attention to clutch or gas treadle and without taking your hand from the wheel. 90% of all travel is in a new quiet "fourth" speed which saves 10% or more on gas and up to 50% on oil. Front seat floor is cleared by removal of gear shift lever.

BUYER'S DIGEST OF THE 1938 BUICK

NEW DYNAFLASH VALVE-IN-HEAD STRAIGHT-EIGHT ENGINE—world's ablest eight, with a cyclone in every cylinder.

NEW TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING—unvarying flutter-free ride, lengthened tire life, greater anti-skid safety. No shackles, no grease points.

NEW QUIET ZONE BODY MOUNTING scientifically silences body noise and rumble.

NEW BULL'S-EYE STEERING holds car on line with minimum steering wheel movement.

TIPTOE HYDRAULIC BRAKES give safe, sure, smooth stop with a toe touch.

KNEE-ACTION FRONT SPRINGING in permanent, constant-cushion balance with rear.

UNISTEEL BODY BY FISHER with built-in jumbo luggage compartments on all closed models and safety plate glass throughout at no extra cost.

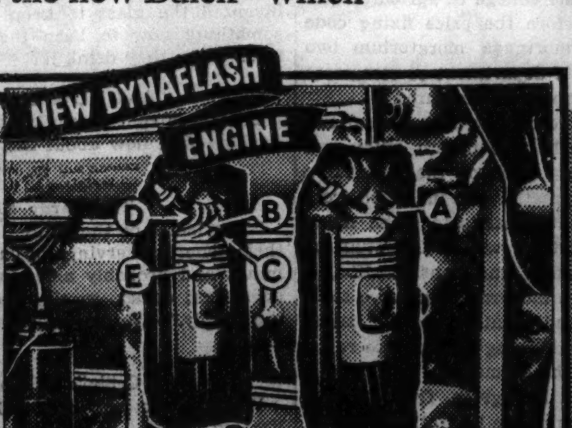
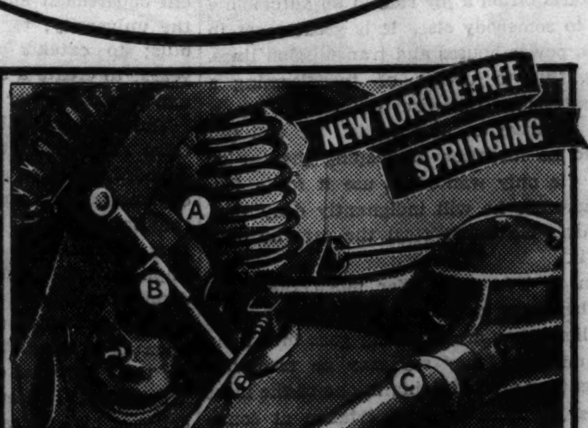
NO OTHER CAR IN THE WORLD HAS ALL THESE FEATURES



EVERY SPARK SETS OFF A CYCLONE!

Rushing into the cylinder at speeds as high as 250 miles an hour, the fuel charge (A) strikes the Turbulator (B) built into the piston and instantaneously is converted into a tiny cyclone (C) of terrific turbulence. Spark (D) flashing into this cyclompression, fires a faster, cleaner, more furious explosion which drives piston (E) with almost 10% stronger power-push from same rationing of gas.



A SAFETY CUSHION ON EACH WHEEL!

Buick replaces the usual leaf spring with this special spring (A) of stout coiled steel and big direct-acting Transport Type shock absorber (B). Rigidly aligned by Torque Tube (C), rear axle and wheels cannot twist or distort, cannot affect steering, greatly reducing danger from skids. No shackles, no grease points, no chatter, no premature rear tire wear from wheel-slip.

"Buick carries the banner forward"

"Better buy Buick!"

TVA ON A JOY RIDE.

When the Tennessee Valley authority was a year old, back in 1934, the ultimate cost was estimated at 310 million dollars. It was said that in twenty-five years the revenues from the sale of power would be sufficient to reimburse the treasury.

Today the estimates call for an outlay of 520 million dollars and no prediction is made regarding the date of amortization. Two years after the period had been fixed at twenty-five years it had been doubled to fifty years. Now even the fifty year theory seems to have been abandoned.

As Arthur Evans cogently observed in one of his recent articles written in TVA territory, "the estimates fluctuate from year to year, but, unlike the stock market, the quotations are always going up."

The mounting figures merit careful study by congressmen who have been called into special session to consider, among other matters, the President's proposal to divide the whole country into regional authorities modeled after TVA. The taxpayers may be able to afford the luxury of one TVA, but it is difficult to believe they can swing a half dozen more of them.

The estimates of total cost are going up, but the part of that cost which is charged to power development is not keeping pace. The private utility companies in the vicinity assert that at least 400 of the 520 million dollar investment is properly chargeable to power because all the other benefits—navigation, flood control, etc.—could have been obtained for no more than 120 millions. The TVA has not yet published its apportionment, but private power interests believe that only 190 million dollars of capital investment, less than half of the figure deemed to be fair, will be charged to electricity.

Naturally the power companies are indignant at this prospect of a fifteen inch yardstick by which their competitor is to be measured. If the officers of a private corporation falsified their accounts they would be guilty of a crime and could be fined and jailed for it. Before considering the proposal to create any more TVA's congress might more properly enact a law making government officials equally liable for the same offense. Falsification is no less a crime if committed in the name of the government than in the name of a private corporation.

It is no accident that the real costs of TVA are running far ahead of the estimates. That generally happens when the government undertakes to build something, but the mood of the men in charge of TVA made the increase certain. Their mood can be likened to that of the boy who starts off on a joy ride in an automobile belonging to somebody else. It is great sport to build dams, power houses and transmission lines. It is delightful to dream of transforming a whole countryside. Likewise it is fun for a youngster to drive an automobile. He will tell you he had no intention of keeping the car or selling it. He only wanted to use it for a few hours. Therefore he will indignantly deny that he is a thief. He didn't steal the car; he only borrowed it.

The men in TVA may offer much the same excuse. They may explain carefully that none of the millions they are spending goes into their pockets, and what they say may be true, but nonetheless they are indulging in one of the most stupendous joy rides ever undertaken at somebody else's expense.

The analogy can be carried a step further. The boy in the stolen car burns the gasoline in the tank as if he were entitled to it. So the planners have no hesitancy in accepting salaries from the taxpayers. If you suggest to members of the TVA staf that they ought to pay for the fun they are having rather than receive pay for it, few of them will know what you are talking about.

A MODEL FOR ILLINOIS.

During the hullabaloo raised in Chicago by extreme partisans of parole when a law was proposed to restore the fixing of sentences for serious crimes to the trial courts it was alleged by the opponents of that moderate proposal that it would destroy the alleged benefits of the indeterminate sentence. With that, it was implied, the benefits of the parole system would be virtually abolished, a result which a good part of the public, including officials who have had direct experience with the actual workings of parole, would not consider a public misfortune.

But there is a parole system without the indeterminate sentence adjunct. It is the federal system, which has been called the most workable and free from political or other manipulation in the country. Under the federal law even a judge has no authority to fix an elastic sentence. The statute fixes the penalty for a given offense. There are no minimum and maximum limits, no indeterminate sentences for parole boards to juggle with under the influence of politicians or professional sentimentalists. The prisoner is allowed eight days off his sentence for every month of good behavior. This may amount to a commutation of a quarter of the term for which he was sentenced. Parole is permitted after one-third of the term of the sentence.

This will seem sufficiently lenient to most citizens disgusted with the frequent parole of vicious criminals. It has the effect of removing the administration of criminal justice as much as possible from the manipulation of corrupt politics, its ally organized crime, and its aid the sentimentalism which is so concerned to ameliorate the lot of the criminal that it gives little heed to the punishment of the criminal or the protection of the public.

We suggest that the federal system offers a model which the Illinois legislature ought to adopt for the relief of this state.

OUR CHANGING STREETS.

Streets are very different things today from what they were twenty or thirty years ago. Many of them look different, but even when the outward appearance has changed but little they serve different purposes. Most of us have scarcely noticed the change because it has come gradually.

The streets were intended primarily to give access to the buildings which fronted on them. The roadways served also as a protection against fire, for fires, as a rule, would not leap across the width of a street. The openings between blocks of buildings also provided air and sunlight, and in time town planners learned that a well-designed street could provide attractive and even imposing vistas. The use of the space under the pavement for sewers, water supply pipes, and telephone and electric light circuits, of course, added immensely to the health and comfort of the city dwellers.

All of these uses still obtain, but to them new ones have been added. A generation or two ago travel was chiefly by railroad or street car. Now, as every one knows, a considerable part of the nation's travel is done on pavements. That is only the first change. Another, which is quite as important, is the growing use of the pavements for vehicle storage or parking. Despite the rapid increase in the number of garages and parking lots, there is little reason to expect that they will ever do away with parking on the public streets.

Obviously the use of the streets for parking restricts their usefulness for travel. The trafic capacity of many of Chicago's streets—Hyde Park boulevard, for example—has been reduced by half and sometimes by more than half because two of the lanes have been devoted to storage. The recent inspection of the Lincoln highway [Roosevelt road] by Hal Foust, automobile editor of THE TRIBUNE, tells much the same story. This important national highway runs down a main street of De Kalb, Ill., where angle parking is permitted. The result is that trafic is needlessly slowed and the risk of accident is increased. There the difficulty would disappear if through trafic were diverted around the town.

In the larger cities the problem will not be solved until the main arteries of travel through congested areas are elevated. Cross trafic will be eliminated in this way and parking will also be avoided if only because the elevated highway will not be convenient for the purpose. Parking on side streets is a relatively unimportant matter; on main thoroughfares it is extremely costly and dangerous.

Until elevated highways are constructed, much good can be accomplished by stricter regulation of parking on the main-traveled streets. Automobile storage on such streets should be forbidden. Motorists for a time may resist and resent such a limitation, but they will quickly come to recognize its value to them and to the community.

WISCONSIN SURRENDERS.

Wisconsin apparently has abandoned its claims to possessing a representative form of government. Its legislature, at the demand of Gov. Philip La Follette, has rushed through a program in one week of a special session to give him greater power than ever before has been exercised by an executive of the state. While the governor's representatives gave orders, the presiding officers of both houses disregarded utterly the rights of the minority and hesitating members of the governor's own party were hurried to the training table in his offices at the noon hours for current instructions and directions. There was no pretense of deliberation nor discussion in either chamber.

Scarcely more than a week was allowed for legislation permitting La Follette and his appointees completely to reorganize the administrative departments; to create a political agricultural authority to duplicate the services of the present department and the college of agriculture of the university; to restore the price fixing code bills; to extend a mortgage moratorium two years; to create a state department of commerce and to enact other important measures.

The universal rules to require first, second and third readings of the bills to permit study and deliberation were swept away on the governor's explanation that this practice was inherited from the English rules of 700 years ago when members could neither read nor write. Old stuff, he implied, this deliberation and consideration, a detail not required in a modern Progressive state where assemblymen and senators are not called upon to do their own thinking but only to register their approval of the executive's orders.

President Roosevelt has given frequent evidence of his admiration of the La Follette way of getting things done. Huey Long never was above taking a lesson from the pages of the Wisconsin book.

Gov. La Follette has extended his political machine greatly by the acquiescence and approval of a complacent legislature. The opposition, although casting a majority of the votes of the state, is divided, almost leaderless and apparently unable to cope with the dictatorial ruthlessness of the prevailing dynasty.

Democracy in Wisconsin seems to have gone as far as anywhere in its surrender to a one man form of government. Wisconsin has become a dangerous state to live in.

ENOUGH.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

The postoffice at Enough, Mo., down in Iron county, southwest of Belgrade, is to be discontinued. The Washington County News prints the announcement at the top of its front page. And well it may—the passing of Enough from the Postal Guide is news which should give pause to every Missourian who takes pride in his state. For if Enough comes off the official list today, who can say what inroads the uncertain future may not make into Missouri's picturesque place names? Aid and Apex, Clever and Cooter, Huzzah and Ink all may be secure today, but how will they be faring tomorrow? What assurance is there that similar announcements may not strike Minimum and Novelty, Peculiar and Ponder, Racket and Rat, Stet and Success, and Speed and Wisdom from the rolls? Or Blooming Rose, or Cross Timbers, or Birdsong, or Braggadocio, or Zebra, or Rescue, or Useful, or many others which dot the countryside of Missouri?

Enough may have come to the end of the rope, and the maintenance there of a postoffice may have become an unjustified expense. And yet its passing must not open the way for a slaughter of colorful place names. Enough is enough.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

THIS IS ABOUT ONE of the nightly services in a Clark street religious mission. We hurried past the honky-tonks, shook our head sternly at the panhandlers, and scurried through the rain to the mission. Although they were in the midst of a song, a somber man in the back row noticed us, and since every seat was taken insisted that we accept his. He stood the rest of the time. There wasn't any trombone player or drummer; a pleasant girl with red hair played all the accompaniments on a piano that had recently been tuned. The preacher was casual, not at all inclined to gloominess, and careful not to do too much exhorting. He looked puzzled when an exceedingly tall man at the back asked for Song No. 180 and called it by name. It turned out the man really wanted 280. "Well, you were pretty close," the preacher observed chattily. "Only 100 off. What's a hundred among friends?"

When the preacher called for testimonials a strapping young man of football build, almost as large as the preacher, arose and said simply that he had stopped drinking two weeks ago and was glad he had. A little girl in the crowd spoke about righteousness in a clear voice, as if she understood what she was saying, and then the preacher called for a sturdy elderly man who seemed to be a regular attendant. This man said that for 49 years he had never wanted for anything he really needed; never since the moment he decided to lead a better life as he was meditating under a great bridge. The preacher thanked him, chuckled, and said that even though he always told the same story every one always liked to hear it. The poorly dressed man next to us tottered to his feet then and said he had come to the service because he was going away in the morning—in an ambulance, to the Oak Forest infirmary, where he was sure he would be happy. We tried to share our songbook with him, later, but he said he couldn't read because he had broken his glasses long ago.

A boyish student preacher delivered the sermon. He said it was his first time, and that if the crowd got nervous to think nothing of it, for he would be more nervous still. He talked language every one could understand: The devil had been tossed out of heaven; when he tempted Eve, he told her phooey on her principles. The young man said that maybe many of the 87 present came because it was a warm place and there would be coffee, but he hoped they'd take some of the religion, too. Personally, he thought it a very wonderful thing. There were three converts, all of whom hurried to the basement with the rest at the close of the service for coffee.

JAY G. SIGMUND'S LAST POEM.

I should be on a hillside; I should chant
Of giant harvests, for this is the season
When weary grubbing men who plow and plant
Reap of their toil, but for some hidden reason
Tonight I seek this worker's street; my stein
Is filled with essence which ripe barley holds—
I have no song of purple grapes or wine—
I have no chant of Autumn reds or golds.

Good, mellow brew and working men nearby
Whose wives all through the day know kitchen rounds.
No doubt a perfect moon hangs in the sky—
No doubt the river valleys boom with sounds
From whippoorwills, soon leaving on their flight.
But, Prosit! Keep your hills and birds tonight!

(The poem above, "Early Fall Evening," was the last received by The Line from Mr. Sigmund, celebrated poet of Cedar Rapids, Ia., whose career was ended by a hunting tragedy.)

NITWITS! Literati, they call themselves, trying to change DeVON to DEV'n. I've lived in Rogers Park 50 years, and I don't know a dozen people living on DeVON avenue who call it anything else.
Bert of Rogers Park.

And Where Do You Keep an Airplane?

The natives are doing their best to show the error of their ways to those who mispronounce street names and towns. Why can't some one do something about common words that well informed adults dodge? If you say valet, some give you a strange look, and if you call it valley others think you're affected. Result: You avoid the word. Try saying anything but show-fer for chauffeur in a crowd. And watch restaurant diners take the other soup if one is called potage. Sue.

WAR AGAINST RATS.

RATS are lawless animals. They obey no constitution, no code of ethics. They behave as fancy dictates and as convenience determines and will take up a permanent abode wherever they are unmolested. Despite attempts to capture them, they are smart enough in many instances to outwit their pursuers.

They menace our food supply and our homes and breed with a rapidity that is amazing. Most of the young are born between January and June and only 21 days are required to produce a litter. The average female will rear five or six families each year, varying from five to fourteen young. It is obvious then that a single pair may be responsible for a sizable colony in one season.

Such a herd eats a large amount of food. We could afford perhaps to provide them with grains and vegetables if they would leave other materials alone. They ruin far more than they consume and are our most potent spoilers of merchandise of all sorts. It has been said that they destroy more eggs, chickens, and grain than all other wild animals combined and the cost of maintaining our rat population amounts to almost 200 million dollars each year.

How do they enter our homes? Through cracks in the foundation, poorly fitted or open basement windows, defective drains with breaks into the surrounding soil, unclosed doorways, or unprotected outside cellar entrances. They have been known to climb up vines adjacent to the house and gain access through an open window or some neglected space beneath the roof.

Present methods of eradication include stopping all openings into buildings and maintaining baited traps wherever their presence has been detected. If there are only a few, traps may be effective, but if they are plentiful a more strenuous campaign will need to be waged, such as the use of some poison or noxious gas. The male, particularly, is a wide traveler and will venture a considerable distance from his lair in order to obtain rations. This means that traps around rat runs may not be touched until food becomes scarce elsewhere.

An excellent aid is starvation. This means keeping edibles out of reach or in metal containers. Open piles of garbage will invite their presence and alleyways dotted with heaps of refuse will contribute to their sustenance.

The most urgent reason for their elimination is that they are dangerous to health. Numerous cases are on record where their bites have been followed by blood poisoning or by a special type of illness known as rat bite fever. Their fleas spread bubonic plague and these rodents transport the infected insects on their journeys. Inasmuch as the disease finally kills the host, the fleas will leave the carcass and seek food elsewhere. Thus they may attack human beings, ground squirrels, or other rodents. San Francisco is obliged to wage a constant warfare—the price of safety against an epidemic of the plague.

Even though we are unable to exterminate these culprits completely, we can at least reduce their number and thereby save from injury valuable merchandise, stored goods, and grains. Poisons are somewhat useful, although they must be employed with caution, as dogs, chickens, even children, may pick up deadly bait and eat it. Among those commonly recommended are barium carbonate and thallium sulphate. The former may be mixed with ground hamburger, vegetables, or cheese, bread, and grain; the latter is prepared with a starch paste. Traps, after all, are the safest.

Every child should be taught to shun rodents of all kinds—even squirrels. We may view at a distance the frolics of these latter animals and admire their bushy tails. But we should look upon the brown rat as a loathsome pest, no more to be tolerated than a wild beast.

TRENCH MOUTH.

R. B. writes: I had trench mouth, or Vincent's angina. My doctor used silver nitrate with great discomfort to me and—while it would clear the mouth temporarily—I was subject to frequent recurrences. I also used sodium perborate and peroxide of hydrogen, had all my teeth carefully and regularly attended to, and had my tonsils examined. The attacks continued. With the aid of another doctor and a chemist who had treated the doughboys in France I was finally given what has developed into a cure for me. Here it is:

Make a swab on both ends of a slender stick and dip one end in Churchill's iodine and the other in a 10 per cent solution of silver nitrate. Paint infected parts first with iodine and follow promptly with the silver nitrate. The inside of the mouth will stand the Churchill's iodine without discomfort and the silver nitrate prevents, apparently, any burn from the strength of the iodine. In aggravated cases application may be once in twenty-four hours for two treatments and then not oftener than once in forty-eight hours.

REPLY.

The plan of treatment is excellent, although I have rarely advocated a silver solution as strong as 10 per cent. Perhaps the stronger solution is required in some cases.

REDUCING DIET.

L. P. writes: Last spring I went on a reducing diet and soon after that I developed a fungus infection on my hands and feet. I have been using a salve to rid myself of this condition. I seem to feel unusually tired lately and wonder if there is anything I should eat to relieve myself of this trouble. I have spots on my tongue. Could the infection have spread to my mouth?

REPLY.

Now you understand why I oppose so vigorously one or two food fad diets. Slimming frequently lowers the resistance of the body. There is thus set up susceptibility to all sorts of infections including fungi. Nutritious food should be the rule from now on. The spots on your tongue will disappear with an improved diet and the usual mouth washes. Ringworm infection may be treated with dilute tincture of iodine. If you must reduce keep the menu balanced, but use less food.

EXCELLENT PRACTICE.

P. P. writes: I use salt water as a gargle every night. Is this all right?

REPLY.

Yes, an excellent practice.

TRYING TO SAVE HIM, OR SINK HIM?

From Across the Sea

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia. — Moscow's new wealthy class, largely soviet writers and managers of state enterprises, have been dealt a severe blow by the latest government decree liquidating housing coöperatives in Russia and placing apartments and other premises used as living quarters under state management.

Ilya Ehrenburg and Alexei Tolstoi were among the noted authors who have invested large fortunes in buildings in Moscow and the decree specifies that unless the buildings can liquidate all of their debts to government institutions within six months the property passes under state ownership for exploitation.

Most of Russia's 30,000,000 urban population lives in apartments and housing space is so precious it is reckoned in square feet. Each adult is supposed to be entitled to 39 square feet of living space. In some centers, such as Moscow and Leningrad, where rooms are difficult to obtain, this allowance is reduced by the city soviets, but in discussing the decree the soviet press reported that Russia's housing crisis is far from being settled.

The decree explained that the government has decided to liquidate house coöperatives because they have been the greatest source of graft in Russia and the chairmen of the house committees—generally janitors—have behaved like petty czars, depriving one tenant of space to sell another and evicting roomers in order to sell their quarters to the highest bidder.

The government also discovered that 95 per cent of the buildings are in an insanitary condition, with the occupants unwilling to accept the responsibility of maintaining cleanliness in kitchens and bathrooms.

The committees, which have ruled the houses through coöperatives, also are accused of borrowing sums sometimes up to 80 per cent of the value of the properties, which, instead of being used for improvements, were divided among committee members.

Hereafter, said the decree, premises used as living quarters will be exploited on a strictly profitable basis, with 95 per cent of the rents going to the state building fund.

Persons with large incomes in Russia, not having the legal possibility of investing their wealth outside of the state loans, in recent years invested their earnings by organizing coöperatives and erecting or purchasing buildings from city soviets.

Since the decree applies only to indebted property, the fortunate coöperatives which have no mortgages held by state institutions are exempt, but the soviet press says these are few.

CHATTEL MORTGAGE.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. What can I do to clear the title to my automobile of a chattel mortgage that is dead by the statute of limitations? I gave a chattel mortgage on my automobile in January, 1935, to secure a note of $300, and the note has been paid down to $130 at present and is now held by a loan company. I am still making regular monthly payments on the note and expect to keep on until the note is entirely paid.

2. The law provides that a chattel mortgage expires by the statute of limitations in thirty months, and according to this law the chattel mortgage on my automobile is dead, and [3] cannot be foreclosed, although the loan agent could sue on the note and take a judgment against me and levy on the machine or anything else I own that he could get loose. He could not collect on the chattel mortgage he holds on the machine.

4. But how can I clear the title to the automobile of this outlawed chattel mortgage? W. C. I.

1. In most cases the parties rely on the statute of limitations and do not take the trouble to file a release.

2. This applies to the lien as against third parties. The limitation period as between the original parties is ten years.

3. We disagree with you.

4. See preceding answers.

POLITENESS PRIZES.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—You cannot know the very striking results coincident with your recent giving of $5 prizes to courteous auto drivers. It seemed to put the effort to be decent in the general run of drivers. It was a temporary improvement, and has disappeared again. Chicago is the town of downright mean and crazy drivers. I have driven in nearly every city of the country during the last 25 years, and Chicago certainly holds the championship for discourteous and dangerous driving.

Suggestion: Invite your readers to send you the license numbers of cars which are conspicuously reckless. After a number is so reported several times print it. Ask the owner for his explanation and print it. You might have the outstanding transgressors in a class by themselves. I think no man or woman would like to be in your list.

If this would reduce the auto death rate by even one, you would be doing something worth while. W. G. H.

A SAMPLE OF BOORISHNESS.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Don't they teach good manners for motorists in Michigan? Today Michigan license No. Y93499 at a low rate of speed clung to the center line in spite of all efforts to get it to move over. GOOD MANNERS.

POLITICS IN THE SCHOOLS.

Chicago, Oct. 17. — The professional, publicity seeking reformers never seem to change their tactics. Only a few years ago they were used by selfish interests seeking to prevent the motorization of our fire department, which has since resulted in lower insurance rates and greater protection for our lives. They did not dare to openly oppose motorization, but set up the cry of "politics in our fire department."

Now, when a new system of education is being installed in our public schools—one which gives every child a chance, but adds to the teachers' work by compelling them to give individual attention to each pupil—no one dares openly oppose this long needed change. Instead, they cry "politics in our school system" and seek to discredit those who are working in the interest of our children.

Shortsighted citizens who have been sucked into this latest conspiracy against the public welfare by a small group of radical teachers should be ashamed of themselves. A. R. R.

A SUPERGOVERNMENT.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—When the league of nations was formed and representatives of 50 or more countries met it was the opinion then of some of the members that a supergovernment should be created with an army and navy large enough to lick any aggressor, but the majority voted different. If the league of nations had such an army today Japan would not rain bombs on thickly populated cities in China without declaring war; Italy would not march in on unarmed Ethiopia; Hitler would not order his troops into the Rhineland and the league of nations would not have to resort to sanctions which had no effect and now talk about a boycott against Japan. It reminds me of an old motto, "Sticks and stones will break my bones but words will never hurt me." MORRIS HACKIN.

AGAINST A LAKE STREET MOTORWAY.

Oak Park, Ill., Oct. 15.—With all this loose talk of tearing down the Lake street "L" to build another speedway for maniac drivers, it's time west siders woke up in protest. For thousands of us residents of Austin, Oak Park, and other parts of the west side, the Lake street "L" is the only convenient means of getting to and from the loop.

Certainly the west side needs better motor highways, but it has still greater need for improved public transportation facilities, which are inadequate enough now without destroying one of its most heavily used lines. Your suggestion that patrons of the Lake street "L" use the Garfield line is absurd; those lines are a mile apart in Austin and Oak Park.

The loop is already overcongested with motor vehicles. To convert the Lake street "L" into a speedway would create further congestion by compelling more west siders to use buses and private cars to get downtown. Even aside from that evil, it is unlikely that such a highway could carry as many people into the loop as the elevated railway now accommodates.

If the Lake street "L" fails to pay dividends it is because of poor management and poor service, not because there is no real need for that line.
OAK PARKER.

TOOTHFUL PHOTOGRAPHS.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Why is it that most men and women can no longer pose for photographs without showing both rows of teeth to the last molars? I could bear it when they showed only one row, but both rows is a little too much. Not that I don't think people have a right to look like cannibals or something guaranteed to frighten children into good behavior, but all attempts I've seen so far are amateurish compared to old Dobbin, who was my pet back on the farm. For a pan of oats Dobbin could show a row of teeth that was a row of teeth to be proud of, and were he only alive today I would have his picture taken just to show the human race how pathetically futile are their attempts to outdo an old horse in the matter of displaying teeth. V. S.

SAFETY MEASURE.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—May I suggest putting a governor on all cars belonging to persons accused of speeding or reckless driving?

This governor would be sealed by the police department and set to permit a speed of not more than thirty miles an hour. Have the governor inspected every thirty days to avoid tampering and in that way the offender will soon learn that it is just as easy to reach his destination at a sane moderate speed.

Needless to say the cost of the governor and installation will be charged to the offender. W. J.

SMEARED WINDOWS.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Don't let your children smear auto windows with wax, grease, etc., thinking it is good Halloween fun. Such material is often hard to remove quickly and impatient motorists may start out without clear vision and kill your child. It is hard enough for good drivers to keep out of trouble without this additional handicap.

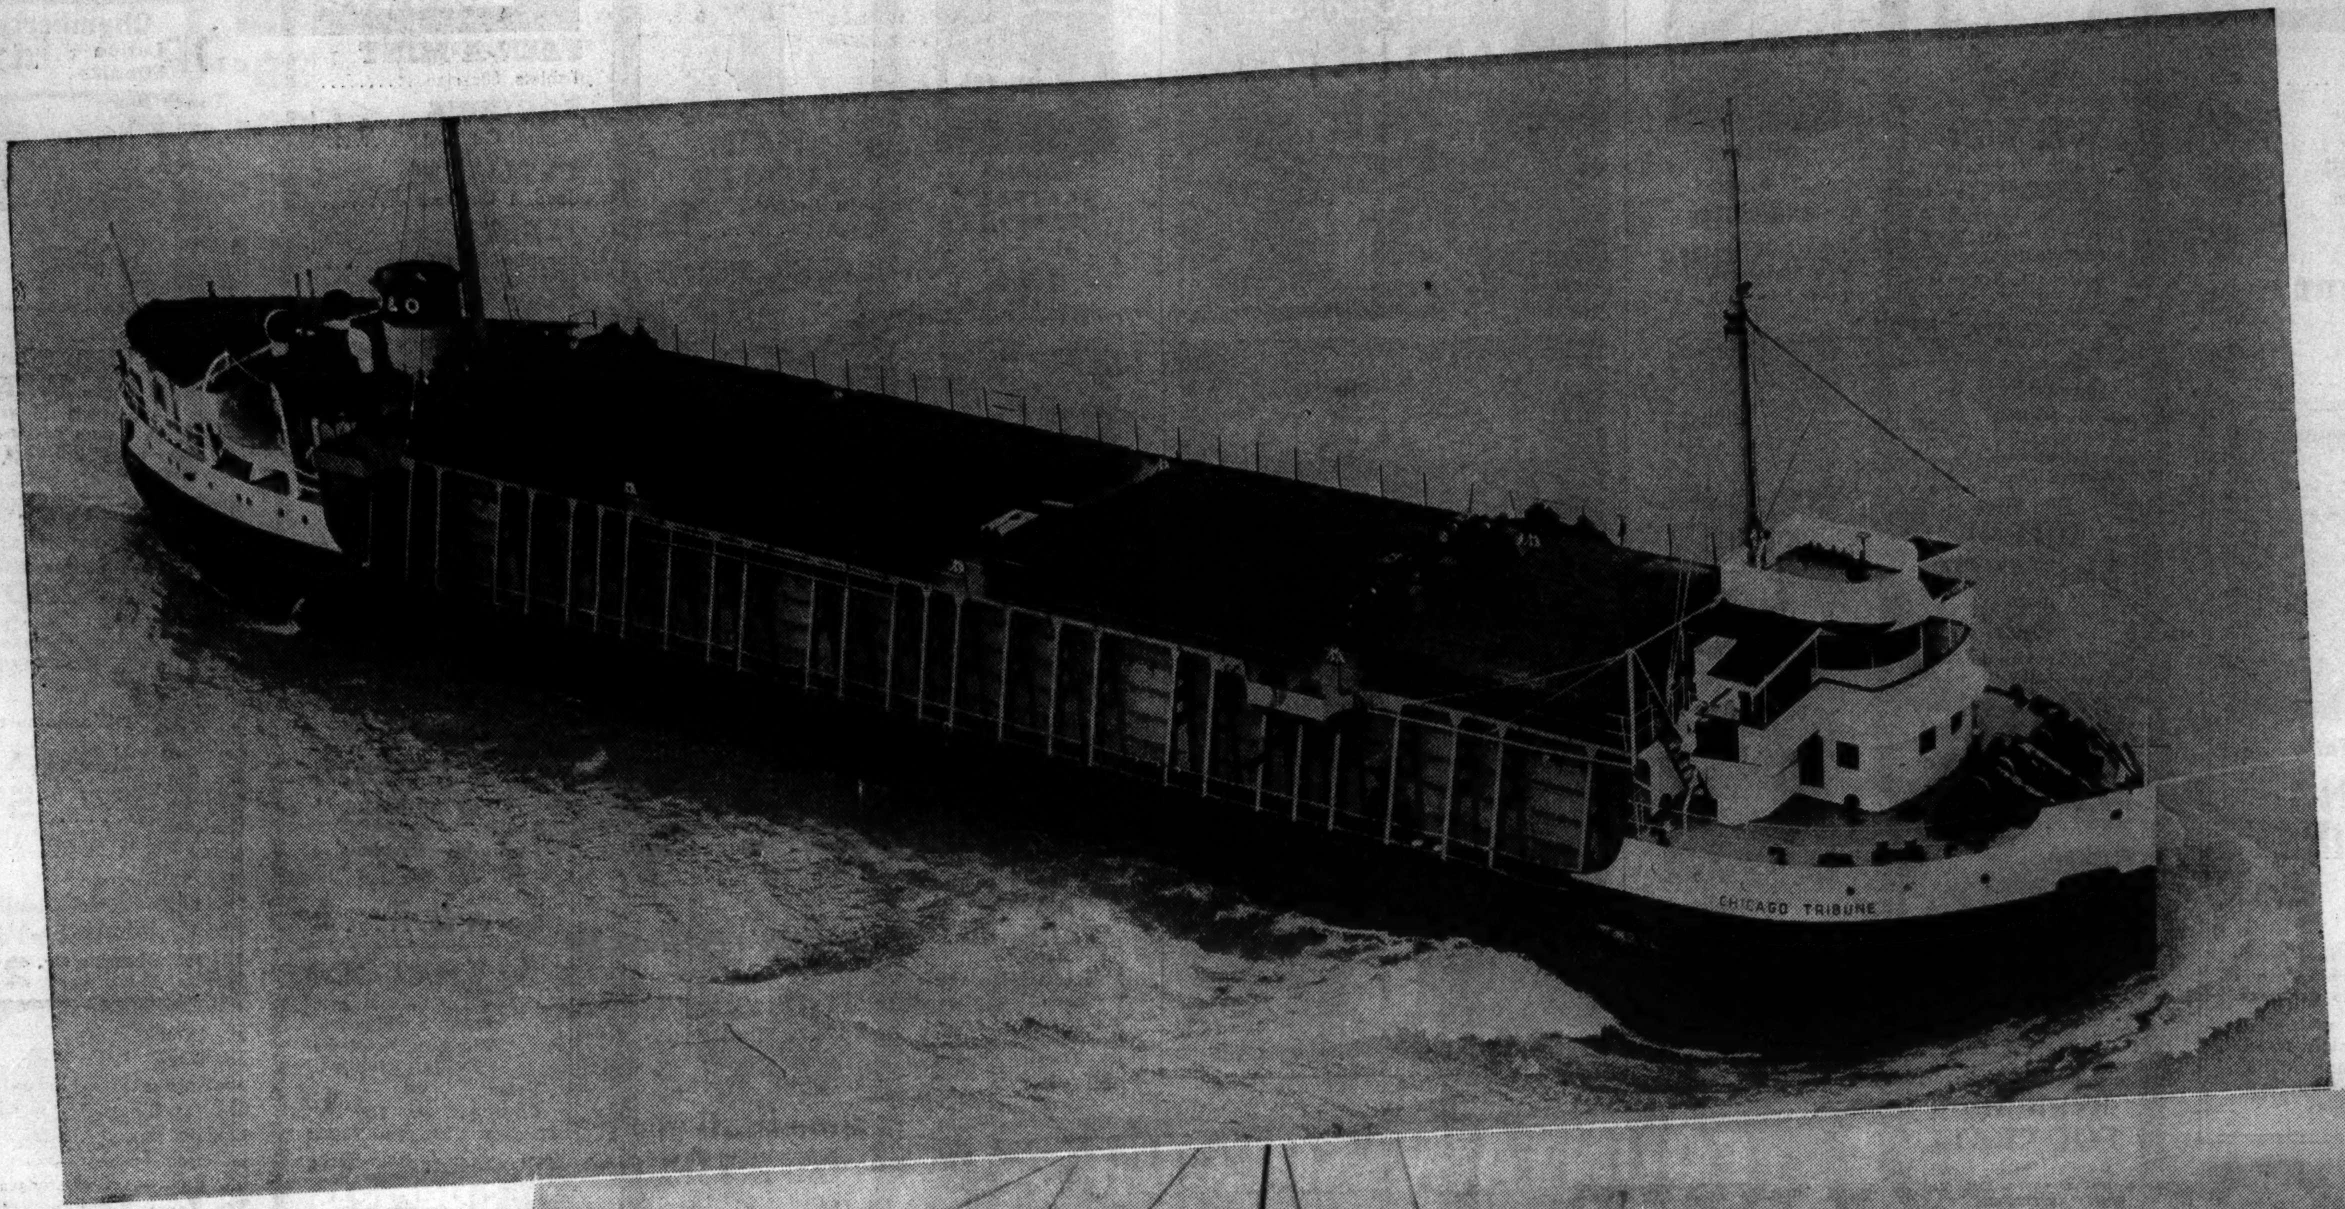
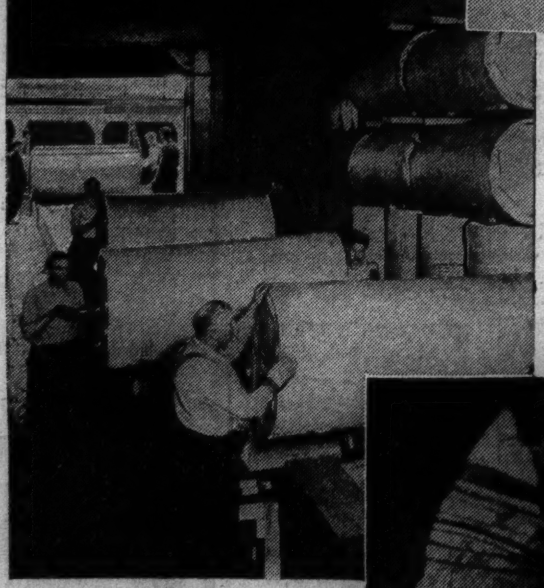
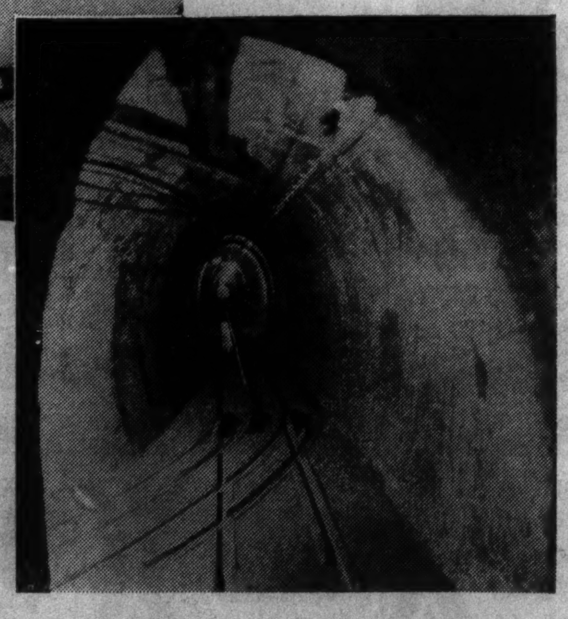
Why Chicago Tribune advertising rates are low



M. S. CHICAGO TRIBUNE
Newsprint Paper Carrier

M. S. FRANQUELIN
Pulpwood Carrier





In keeping with the straightline production system utilized in all Tribune operations, rolls of newsprint paper are unloaded by cranes at the Tribune warehouse on the Chicago river. Here they are temporarily stored, being handled by an ingenious conveyor and hoist system. From the warehouse enough rolls for each day's press run move nightly by underground railway to Tribune Tower, thus eliminating heavy manual labor and reducing handling and storage costs. Above: rolls pass from the dock to the warehouse conveyor. Right: looking down the tunnel.

THE Chicago Tribune delivers to advertisers more than 800,000 circulation daily and in excess of 1,000,000 on Sunday.

It does so at general display rates per 100,000 circulation which are lower than those of any other Chicago newspaper.

Tribune rates are among the lowest at which space can be bought in any publication in America. They reflect the economies resulting from the Tribune's development of its own producing organization.

Illustrated above are two of the Tribune fleet of pulpwood and paper carriers which contribute to make these economies possible.

The M. S. Franquelin is the largest pulpwood carrier which can pass through the canals of the St. Lawrence river. Of strikingly advanced construction, it was designed by Tribune engineers for low-cost transportation of pulpwood logs from Tribune timberlands to Tribune paper mills.

The M. S. Chicago Tribune was designed by Tribune engineers for low-cost transportation of finished newsprint from the Tribune paper mill to the Tribune warehouse on the Chicago river adjacent to the Tribune plant.

From pulpwood forest to delivered newspapers, the Tribune is the product of a single efficient organization which adopts improved methods and materials as fast as science and its own staf develop them.

The benefits of this production system are passed on to advertisers in the form of low rates and to readers in the form of a constantly improved newspaper.

60,000 WINTER JOBS PLANNED TO EASE RELIEF

Mayor Gives Program for City Projects.

Mayor Kelly announced yesterday that plans are being drafted for city public works projects which will provide 60,000 Works Progress administration jobs this winter to help ease the Chicago relief load. The projects, which are being outlined by Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, will be submitted to WPA authorities for approval Sunday night or Monday morning, the mayor said.

At present 19,000 men are on city WPA work. The mayor's program, if approved, would mean the employment of approximately 41,000 more. Many of these workmen would be taken from the relief rolls, making it easier for the Chicago relief administration to meet the crisis resulting from the $2,000,000 cash shortage in relief funds for November and December.

Quota May Be Raised.

The mayor announced the program after a conference recently with Howard O. Hunter, regional WPA director, who indicated arrangements will be made to lift the WPA job quota for Chicago above the present maximum of 52,800.

Working with Commissioner Hewitt in preparing the proposed projects are engineers from the WPA district office. This coöperation is designed to speed approval of the projects in the district, state, and national WPA offices.

Charles E. Miner, state WPA administrator, said the chances are good for quick acceptance of the program. He left with Mr. Hunter for a conference with Harry Hopkins, relief administrator, in Washington today on the Chicago situation.

Paving Jobs Planned.

Among projects planned and jobs expected on each are asphalt paving, 6,000; sewer construction, 9,500; sewer rehabilitation, 5,200; alley grading, 5,000; sidewalk construction, 2,500; lot clearance, 4,800; street improvements, 4,000.

Leo M. Lyons, Chicago relief administrator, announced after a conference with city officials that he is trying to make arrangements for a $1,200,000 cash advance from the city's aggregate of funds for the last two months of the year. This advance, to be repaid as soon as city relief funds are available next year, would eliminate the need of grocery orders based on extension of credit from merchants.

Authorization for the cash advance was contained in a resolution, passed Tuesday by the city council, which also pledged an unspent share of this year's city poor relief levy to repay merchants in the event the credit plan is used.

GRANTS WIFE $75 A WEEK PENDING DIVORCE HEARING

Mrs. Rae Siegel, 32 years old, 4105 Sheridan road, was granted $75 a week temporary alimony yesterday by Judge John J. Lupe pending trial of her divorce suit against Harry Siegel, 35 years old, 415 Aldine place, head of a magazine feature service.

They were first married June 6, 1922, divorced June 10, 1933, remarried April 23, 1934, at Crown Point, and separated last Oct. 7. Mrs. Siegel charges cruelty, and asks custody of Vivienne, 12, and David, 7.

In an answer filed by Attorney Joseph Z. Wilner, Siegel denies the cruelty charge and alleges that his wife beat him, compelled him to support her relatives, and mulcted him of $5,000 in jewelry and a fur coat.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—SOME ONE AT MY CHAMBER DOOR

RELIEF FROM TAX RELIEVERS HELD TAXPAYER'S NEED

New Levies Wipe Out Realty Gains.

Efforts to reduce taxes on real estate in the United States have resulted in large increases in the total tax burden because attention, instead of being concentrated on government economies, has been deflected to other forms of taxation largely by those politically interested in the public pay roll.

This assertion was made at the annual meeting of the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency at the Palmer house yesterday by A. W. Gordon, chairman of the executive committee of the Omaha Taxpayers' association. Mr. Gordon was the principal speaker at the meeting.

"Under the appealing guise of equalizing or broadening the tax base," he said, "the bewildered taxpayer assumed income and the sales tax, capital stock tax and transfer taxes, occupation franchise, terminal and utility taxes, excise, gasoline and automobile taxes, liquor and cigaret taxes, intangible and luxury taxes, inheritance, estate, and gift taxes.

Taxpayer Is Flattened.

"Much to his surprise the taxpayer discovered equalization took place by having his property tax go up while other taxes went up faster and that broadening of the tax base meant flattening the taxpayer."

Resentment against higher taxes, Mr. Gordon said, was made manifest in some localities by ill advised tax strikes and attempts to get relief by means of homestead exemptions and over-all tax limitation.

"These proposals, like the new form of taxes," he continued, "have nothing to do with expenditures and consequently no relief has been obtained from the so-called tax relievers. As a matter of fact, many of them increased the total tax burden.

"For example, Michigan enacted a 3 per cent sales tax for the express purpose of abolishing the property levy for state support, but last year the sales tax was 16 million dollars more than the highest amount ever raised by the property levy. So the taxpayer was relieved. He was relieved of just 16 million dollars more, and this suggests the thought that perhaps the first thing from which the taxpayer needs relief is relief from tax relievers.

Problem Mutual One.

"The tax problem is a mutual one. Its solution lies in the elimination of waste and efficiency and not a shot in the arm of new or additional taxes. The answer to sentimentality and squandering of the past is not senseless slashing at the present but careful planning for the future. The problem never will be solved by attempts to find substitutes for economy."

Officers of the federation were reelected, including Bertram J. Cahn as president and Douglas Sutherland, executive secretary, both of Chicago.

KEEPER OF PET SHOP SUES HUSBAND; SAYS HE'S CRUEL—TO HER!

Mrs. Rose Leming, 26 years old, blonde owner of a pet shop at 834 Milwaukee avenue, filed suit for divorce yesterday in the Circuit court from Arthur Leming, 32 years old, 2840 North Pulaski road, a die caster. On Christmas eve last year her husband came home and beat her and choked her, according to the bill filed by Attorney Marx Loehwing. It was added that during another outburst, while the two were staying at a Toledo hotel, the husband kicked her.

Police Charge 2 Butchers Stole Meat Worth $400

30 Rockford Merchants Are Sued for $157,000 Tax

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Suits to force 30 merchants to pay $157,000 in sales taxes have been filed by the state department of finance here. Ten of the 30 cases have been set for trial the first week of November.

Dorothy Jardine Remarried to Schmidt, First Husband

Mrs. Dorothy Ferguson Schmidt Maynard Hargreave Jardine was remarried last Saturday to her first husband, John C. Schmidt Jr., according to word received yesterday by her attorney, Benjamin Ehrlich. The ceremony was performed at Battle Creek, Mich., where Mr. Schmidt was on a hunting trip. Schmidt, who is head of the Fulton Asphalt company, is the ex-husband of Mrs. Norma Schmidt, who was shot and killed by her second divorced husband, Dr. Frank J. Furch, now in prison for her murder.

DOCTOR UNABLE TO HELP SOLVE KILLING OF GIRL

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Dr. Douglas W. Owen, South Bend psychiatrist and sanitarium owner, today left the St. Joseph county jail, where he had been questioned for two days about the mysterious slaying of Melba Moore, 16 years old.

Sherif William J. Hosinski said the young doctor had remained in jail of his own free will and that he had insisted throughout numerous interviews that he knew nothing about the roadside slaying of the high school girl.

Miss Moore was wounded fatally the night of Oct. 12 when riding along a lonely country road in an automobile with Adolph Stopper, 20, her fiancé, and Charles Walton, 17. The young men said a large man jumped out of a parked automobile and fired six shots at them when they stopped to see if he needed aid.

FUMES DEATH HELD SUICIDE.

Lewis H. Beall, a former department manager in a mail order house who was found dead of carbon monoxide Wednesday, committed suicide while despondent over financial reverses, a coroner's jury found yesterday. Mr. Beall lived at 934 Pleasant street, Oak Park.

YOUNG PLAYERS TO GET BREAK IN TALENT PROGRAM

Radio Show to Eliminate Audition Jitters.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

A new program designed to give young professional performers that radio break that somehow has eluded them is to be launched under the title, "The Talent Scout," on WCFL, at 9:45 p. m. next Wednesday. In no sense an amateur show, this period expects to provide good entertainment for listeners and give aspiring artists a chance to display their talents for studio and advertising agency executives [who are expected to listen in at their homes] without all the red tape involved in setting up auditions. Paul Kapp, radio talent manager, is to write the show and direct it.

Mr. Kapp expects this sort of presentation to give capable though unknown young artists an opportunity to give a better account of their talents than in a studio test. The performers, he believes, are less likely to be seized with an attack of jitters than when a group of executives is looking on.

News notes: Eugene Ormandy, director of the Philadelphia orchestra, is to take over the baton of the Ford Sunday evening orchestra for ten weeks, starting Oct. 31, commuting weekly between Philadelphia and Detroit. . . . Richard Crooks, that grand tenor, returns for his seventh year as soloist of the Alfred Wallenstein Monday evening concerts, starting Nov. 1. . . . Jack Fulton, Franklyn MacCormick, and the rest of the Poetic Melodies cast are to broadcast from St. Louis tonight instead of from local studios. They're making a personal appearance.

Walter Blaufuss is back at NBC to start his sixth year as musical director of the National Farm and Home Hour, and also on the Breakfast club. Blaufuss has been resting up in Iowa and writing new songs, one of which he has called "Manuella," which he says is written in a minor key with nervous trimmings. . . . Marion Jordan, Molly of Fibber McGee's show, has been resting at Sacred Heart sanitarium in Milwaukee between broadcasts. . . . Nate Pumpian has been appointed radio director of the Henri-Hurst and McDonald Advertising agency.

Marek Weber, the Paul Whiteman of Germany, arrived here yesterday to look into a plan to build a Chicago orchestra around him after the fashion of Jack Hylton's of last year. It's reported that the Stevens hotel is considering a plan to put such an orchestra in the Boulevard room. If the scheme goes through, his Continental music, of course, would be broadcast.

Stanley Keith, 600 East Westminster avenue, Lake Forest, filed an inheritance tax return yesterday in the Lake county court, listing as $657,023 the net value of the estate left by his wife, Mrs. Dorothy L. Keith, who was killed last Jan. 29 in an automobile accident.

When admitted to probate in March the estate was given an estimated valuation of $350,000. Inventories have since established the true value. Keith, a broker, stated that debts amounting to $174,879, including a federal estate tax of $82,725, have been paid. On the residue, valued at $482,143, Keith stated a state inheritance tax of $13,730 is due.

In the letter, found in Kurrie's papers at the bank, the cashier "sincerely regretted having embezzled approximately $400,000 of the bank funds and wrecking the bank."

Kurrie's statements were made shortly before he was taken to Keokuk, Ia., where he was arraigned before United States Commissioner John P. Hornish.

Sheriff Harry Hunt, operating under a writ of attachment, today opened Kurrie's safety deposit box at the bank. Among papers found there were several hundred certificates of deposit. They were in amounts ranging from $15,000 down to $75.

Authorities have said Kurrie had a brokerage account with the firm of Winthrop, Mitchell & Co. of Chicago in its branch at Davenport, Ia. His Davenport account was attached under court procedure this afternoon.

WHAT THEY DID FOR A HEAD-COLD

TOWN DECLINES TVA'S POWER TO BE INDEPENDENT

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Morristown, Tenn., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—For forty years this town in the Holston valley between the Cumberlands and the Great Smokies has operated its city-owned electric plant, but it declines to buy current from the Tennessee Valley authority.

Arrows mark Norris dam and Morristown, which declines to use TVA power.

The great 36 million dollar Norris dam is only about seventy miles away, but Morristown says its prefers independence to subsidized rates. As a result TVA's "benevolent dictatorship," as Dr. Arthur Morgan of the authority terms it, has run smack against the principle of "home rule."

City officials say that to tie up with TVA's power program would make the municipal plant a subsidiary of TVA, subject to its domination of resale rates. Burocrats from Knoxville headquarters, they picture, would be bossing the plant, making audits and running the show, while to the taxpayers of the city a new burden would be added because a source of municipal revenue would be reduced.

Prefers Power from Coal.

So, despite the blandishments of the authority, the city sticks to its steam plant, saying it can give light and power service better and more profitably from coal than from TVA hydro-electric power.

Morristown got its first municipal light plant in 1898. Since then it has developed it into a $650,000 establishment, of which $250,000 is for a distributing system.

Commenting on the contracts for cheap secondary power TVA has made with the Aluminum Company of America and other concerns, a type of power TVA says could not be used by municipalities because it is not all the year round power, depending on rainfall and reservoir storage, some business men here have a different view.

Some of them hold that with a steam plant, such as is owned by the city here, the secondary power might be sold to a municipality for inducements to industry, as the steam plant could be drawn on when the secondary power drops off at Norris and other dams on the Tennessee river.

TVA Policy Disagrees.

This, however, is not a policy of the authority. In the case of Florence, Ala., which put up a proposal to be permitted to offer power on a similar basis to the Aluminum company contract TVA gave a refusal.

"We'd be foolish to buy TVA electricity," he said, "we are not antagonistic to TVA, but it would not be economical for us to take the current from this great river development.

"If we took TVA power, TVA would regulate our rates, we would lose our independence. That would not be a good thing, would it?

"Our plant is our pride and joy. It is a source of income After we pay off our debt, the plant will reduce our taxes. Our rate is now $2.20 and it should be around $1.50. The plant will help bring this about.

Praises Management.

"Everybody is tickled with the way it works. It is a big thing in our scheme of government. We have no graft and we have expert management, no burocracy, and the city and the consumers are satisfied. Why should we turn over such an enterprise to control of TVA? It wouldn't make sense."

Manager of the plant for the last 34 years is James F. Mathes. The city is paying premiums on a $50,000 endowment policy on Mathes which is due in 1944 and it is to be paid to the city. It is part of the plant financing.

"If we took TVA current we'd lose our independence," Mathes remarked, "and we'd sure enough like to retain that. TVA current is cheap, but when a city takes it TVA says what rates shall be charged. It controls the plant, which thus becomes a subsidiary. That's what we don't like.

Contributes Public Benefits.

"We've had a municipal electric plant since 1898. Some ten years ago the citizens voted 16 to 1 to issue $300,000 bonds for this new building on the representation that the plant earnings would pay off interest and the bonds. We've been paying the debt off at $30,000 a year. The plant has paid half the cost of the new city hall. It gives the city and schools free lighting worth $15,000 a year.

"We've now got $650,000 invested in plant and distributing system. Its debt will be paid in a very few years. Then it will help pay off the municipal debt, which is about 1¼ million in a population of 8,500. It will be turning in a revenue of almost $40,000 a year, and you can see what this all means to questions of taxes, licenses and the rest.

"We stick to coal because it is cheaper. We pay $2.09 a ton for coal from Virginia. Our cost of making current from coal is from 9 mills to 1 cent a kilowatt hour.

Retain Own Rate Control.

"We figured that TVA current would cost us between 6 and 7 mills a kilowatt hour. It's a bit cheaper, apparently, but we'd have to relinquish control of our rate making, and TVA would allow us to make a profit of only 6 per cent. It would appraise the value of the plant.

"Our rates have been lower than the private company rates, which themselves have been reduced in the last few years. They are higher, of course, than TVA's. But our business men and customers couldn't figure any good reason why we should take TVA and plenty why we should not, the main one being independence and home rule."

ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL OPENS $175,000 X-RAY SECTION TOMORROW

A new X-ray department, regarded as one of the most modern in the country, will be opened tomorrow at St. Luke's hospital. Dr. Edward L. Jenkinson, head of the department, yesterday exhibited the equipment which cost $175,000, and occupies the entire second floor of the main hospital building.

One piece of apparatus is a biplane fluoroscope, the only one of its kind in the country. It takes a picture in either a vertical or a horizontal plane without moving the patient on the operating table.

An X-ray machine with a rotating anode tube is another piece of the new equipment. The rotation provides a moving target for the X-rays and enables the operator to take faster pictures than with ordinary machines.

Realtor Given Until Monday to Raise Cash for Ex-Wife

Judge John J. Lupe yesterday gave William A. Bartlett, 48 years old, a realtor, until Monday to raise part of the $1,800 remaining due his ex-wife, Mrs. Violet Bartlett, 2322 Commonwealth avenue, under a $15,000 settlement made when she won a divorce in 1931. Financed previously by his brothers, Frederick and Robert F., also in the real estate business, Bartlett said he had been unable to pay the alimony since he had a disagreement with them.

ARMY'S BIGGEST BOMBER PASSES FLIGHT TESTS

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Additional details of the mightiest military airplane in the world, the army's newest bomber, larger even than the army's "flying fortresses," gradually are being revealed since the ship successfully passed its trial flights recently.

Nearly a third larger than the China Clipper, the plane called XB-15, from the Boeing aircraft factory, weighs 60,000 pounds, has a wing spread of 150 feet, a 98 foot fusilage, and is powered with four Pratt and Whitney 14 cylinder twin row Hornet engines of 1,400 horsepower each.

With a top speed of 250 miles an hour, the plane is designed to cruise 6,000 miles, at a speed of 125 miles an hour, carrying a military load of two tons, and remaining aloft for 46 hours. It has complete living quarters for a crew of nine men. Mechanics can service the motors when in flight from within the wings.

Designed as the most completely defensible craft of its type, it carries six "blisters" for machine guns and light cannon. Two auxiliary gasoline engines run a 110 volt electric light plant which operates the landing gear, gyroscope, and other accessories.

FOOD BARGAINS HARDER TO FIND THIS WEEK-END

Many Meat and Grocery Items Go Up.

Food shoppers will find fewer bargains this week-end than a week ago in Chicago and suburban stores. The downward price trend has been halted in a shifting of price tags that has left more ups than downs on retail grocers' and butchers' lists for today and tomorrow. Prices vary more than usual in the different stores.

Few staples are cheaper than a week ago. The more expensive brands of flour are down 4 cents a 24½ pound sack. A few stores cut sugar prices slightly. American cheese is 2 cents a pound less in some places.

Roll butter is higher than last week in many stores and a few have raised the prices of both roll and package butter 2 cents a pound. Egg prices continue to shift. Some stores have marked all grades up 1 cent a dozen, some have raised the price 1 to 2 cents on only the higher grades, others have reduced the better grades 4 cents, and a few have made no changes.

Tomatoes Move Up.

Fresh tomatoes are up about 2 cents a pound generally. Practically all the tomatoes now are being shipped from California. Radishes are higher. Bunch carrots, celery, sweet potatoes, green beans, cabbage, and fresh beets cost more in some places.

Head lettuce and spinach are lower. Cranberries, fresh mushrooms, rutabagas, and California oranges are cheaper in many stores.

Bananas are the lowest they have been for many weeks in some stores, but are higher than last week in a few places. Green and dry onions are down in some stores and up in others.

Steaks Cost More.

Retail meat prices are practically the same as last week in some shops, but are higher in others. Round and sirloin steaks are up 2 to 4 cents a pound in several places. Leg of lamb is 4 cents a pound higher and cured hams and frying chickens are up in some shops. Fresh fish, including herring, halibut, perch, and trout, are 1 to 8 cents a pound higher in many stores.

A few shops are featuring beef pot roasts at 6 cents a pound less than a week ago, but have raised the price of beef rib roast an equal amount. The less expensive brands of bacon are 6 cents a pound lower in a few stores.

Most live stock and wholesale meat prices went down during the week at the central market, according to government reports. Farmers were paid 50 cents to $1 a hundred pounds less for live hogs, and wholesale cuts of pork sold steady to $1.50 a hundred lower. Fat lambs dropped 65 to 75 cents a hundred. Wholesale lamb cuts changed little.

Prices of Steers Steady.

Prices for high quality beef steers held steady, some selling at $19.90 a hundred pounds, equaling the season's record high made in September. Other kinds of cattle sold 50 cents to $1.25 lower. Choice cuts of wholesale beef went up 50 cents a hundred and those of lower quality went down 50 cents to $2.

The following fruits and vegetables are higher than last week on the wholesale market: Potatoes, dry onions, green peppers, cucumbers, and lemons. Head lettuce, grapes, sweet potatoes, and cabbage are lower.

A CREAM SOUP MAKES CHILDREN SING ABOUT IT

"Soup of the evening, be-yootiful soup," sang the Mad Hatter of Alice in Wonderland. Change the hour to lunchtime, and the children will sing the same thing, because nothing could be better than soup when they come home starved at noon.

Cream soups really do look beautiful when dressed up with the right garnish and they are so easy to make. You need merely to thicken the milk, add the cooked vegetables and there you have a nourishing, satisfying lunch practically all prepared.

CREAM OF LIMA BEAN SOUP.
[Serves 4 to 6.]

1½ cups dried lima beans
1½ teaspoons salt
1 medium carrot, sliced
1 small onion, chopped fine
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon flour
3½ cups milk
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento

Soak beans several hours or overnight in enough water to cover. Drain. Add 1 quart of water and salt and simmer for 30 minutes. Add carrots and onion and cook until tender. [If there is an excess of liquid, drain it off and cook it down in a separate kettle. Then add to beans.] Stir flour into melted butter. Add flour and butter mixture to milk, stir well and pour over beans. Heat to scalding. For garnish drop pimiento in each bowl of soup.

POTATO SPINACH SOUP.
[Serves 4 to 6.]

2 cups potatoes
¼ cup butter
1 small onion, chopped
1 teaspoon flour
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
2 cups milk
1 cup chopped cooked spinach

Cook potatoes until somewhat mushy and drain off water. Melt butter in saucepan and cook onion in it slowly. Stir in flour and seasonings and add to milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Combine with potatoes and spinach. Serve hot with sprinkled grated egg as garnish on top of each bowl.

CREAM OF CARROT SOUP.

WITCHES TO RIDE AGAIN IN MENUS FOR HALLOWEEN

It soon will be time for hobgoblins and witches, black cats, and jack o' lanterns to appear at bridge parties, teas, and luncheons.

Mary Meade has prepared a booklet of Halloween menus and recipes which you can have for 5 cents by calling in person at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, or at the Tribune Tower; or by sending 8 cents in stamps to Mary Meade, Tribune, Chicago.

Halloween shiver cakes and cider frappe, two of the recipes she suggests, would make excellent light refreshments for an afternoon party.

Dissolve ⅔ cup sugar in ½ cup hot water. Add 2 cups cider, 1 cup orange juice, and 2 cups water and freeze to a soft mush in refrigerator tray. Serve in small, slender glasses. The frappe is meant to be sipped, not eaten with a spoon.

Hollow out individual spice cakes and fill with lemon custard, ice cream, or other flavor as preferred. Top with whipped cream tinted with orange vegetable coloring and serve at once.

I always shall maintain that a good drink doesn't need the added "kick" of alcohol, and that one can as well toast the health of his friend in spiced cider as in something more potent.

Any fair sized party requires a beverage of some sort, and the problem of what this beverage shall be often is more perplexing to the hostess than the problem of what to serve along with it.

Any of this group of four party beverages would be appropriate for a reception, tea, or large evening affair. None is difficult to make at home.

Bohemian Tea.

[40 cups]

1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground cloves
6 quarts boiling water
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons orange pekoe tea
1½ cups orange juice [6-8 oranges]

Tie ground cinnamon and cloves loosely in muslin bag. Add spices and sugar to boiling water and boil together for 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Tie tea in muslin bag. Add to sirup. Cover and let stand 5 minutes. Remove spices and tea bag. Add juice of orange and lemons. Serve hot.

Spiced Cider.

[50 cups]

16 two inch pieces of cinnamon bark
2 tablespoons cloves
2 tablespoons allspice
1 teaspoon ma e
1 teaspoon salt
Few grains of cayenne
8 cups brown sugar
2 gallons cider

Tie spices loosely in a cheese cloth bag. Add spices and brown sugar to cider. Bring slowly to boiling point. Boil 15 minutes. Remove spice bag. Serve hot.

Pineapple Punch.

⅓ cup green tea
4½ cups orange juice [16-18 oranges]
6 cups lemon juice [30-32 lemons]
2½ quarts pineapple juice
4 pounds sugar [9 cups]
Water to make 5 gallons

Pour 1½ quarts of freshly boiled water over the tea. Brew for about 3 minutes. Cool. Extract juice from oranges and lemons. Add the pineapple juice and tea. Strain. Make a thin sirup of the sugar and 6 cups of water. Chill and add to the fruit juice. Add ice and water to make 5 gallons. A float of lime or orange ice may be added to give color.

Grape Punch.

8 cups sugar
2 gallons water
2 quarts lemon juice [36 to 40 lemons]
1½ quarts orange juice [24 to 26 oranges]
2 quarts grape juice
15 pounds of ice

Make a sirup of the sugar and 1 quart of the water. Cool. Squeeze the juice from the fruit and strain. Combine sirup, fruit juices, and water. Pour over ice. Part ginger-ale may be used instead of water, if desired.

Jack-o'-Lantern Halloween Salad

An asparagus corn shock and jack-o'-lanterns cut from the upper large part of cooked carrots make an appropriate Halloween salad. The jack-o'-lanterns have features cut from raisins and hats made from small pickles and ripe olives. Apples, ripe olives, and grated cheese blended with mayonnaise are hiding under the asparagus corn shock which is banded with strips of pimiento. Curly endive completes the salad.

BLAND FOODS ARE AIDED BY NIPPY SAUCES

Here Are Some That Make Men Like Plain Cooking.

The good old plain cooking that men rave about depends a great deal on contrast in flavor between bland foods and nippy accessories. These sauces give just the contrast you're looking for when you serve meat that needs something to bring out the flavor.

2½ cups tomatoes
2 small white onions chopped
¼ cup chopped green pepper
5 tablespoons chopped celery
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon flour
2 teaspoons water
½ teaspoon Worchestershire sauce

Simmer all ingredients except last 3 for 30 minutes. Blend flour and water to smooth paste and add to vegetables when almost done. Add Worchestershire sauce. Continue cooking, stirring constantly, until sauce is slightly thickened; serve hot.

HORSERADISH SAUCE.

[Serves 6.]

¼ cup cracker crumbs
¼ cup grated horseradish
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worchestershire sauce

4 slices bacon, chopped
4 tablespoons onion, chopped
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups tomato juice
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
2 teaspoons sugar

WHIPPED HORSERADISH SAUCE.

[Serves 6 to 8.]

¼ cup grated horseradish
1 cup cream, whipped

Dreft actually makes your fine things seem newer . . . "younger" . . . better looking. Longer lasting, too, say women.

Here's what Miss Florence Jakes of 929 Michigan Avenue, Evanston, Illinois, says: "I noticed that my silk stockings not only looked richer, but lasted longer when I washed them in Dreft. I found they lasted about twice as long without getting runs, as when I washed them in soap flakes."

Miss Louise Allison, 2324 Sheffield Ave. Chicago, says: "My stockings lasted more than half as long again when washed in Dreft."

Dreft is different. When you first use this remarkable new suds, look for these three things:

1. Dreft makes suds as easily in hard as in soft water—five times more suds than any soap flakes in hardest water. 2. It never forms soap scum—that unpleasant "ring around the washbasin." 3. It instantly and completely dissolves in cool water, the right temperature for washing delicate fabrics . . . leaves no annoying particles to catch in garments.

Teacher Must Encourage the Retiring Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

This is the eighth article in the series for young teachers.

The boy who waggles his hand madly in the air so you'll call on him when he "knows the answer," the girl who whispers continually or who is restless or bad mannered, the boy who never has his homework done and tries to get away with it—the teacher is apt to spend her managing talent on these children because they interefere with the composure of the classroom and the accomplishment of work. And this is perfectly natural.

But the teacher who is interested in seeing the personality of each child develop as fully as possible in the classroom should not overlook the too retiring, the too timid, the overly shy child; and the one who doesn't mix at all with the other children should not be overlooked. The child who doesn't make himself or herself felt may be more of a personality problem than the one who does so by annoying behavior.

Now of course some children are reticent or retiring because they are "that way" to a normal degree, without experiencing any inner discomfort. All children aren't alike, and any person who tries to make all personalities fit an arbitrary standard of normal are, I am glad to say, doomed to failure—and on the wrong track.

But many children who slip along unnoticed because they have no "nuisance value" really suffer because of excessive shyness or timidity. And they should be helped "out of their shell"—though this is a more subtle and difficult task than managing the obstreperous children.

Following our rule of looking for underlying causes we find they may be varied. For example:

An unfortunate experience in schools—either in an earlier class or the present one—may account for shyness or actual timidity.

Failure and lack of capacity may figure.

A child may be sensitive and used to gentleness and understanding at home, and a crisp strict teacher may intimidate him.

He, or she, may have been babied and overindulged at home, or always have played alone and not been much with adults outside the family. [The teacher who has an excessively shy child should always see the child's mother.]

Another home cause may he lack of affection there—or harsh treatment, so that the child wincingly expects this of all grownups.

These are a few causes to look for.

When a child in your class NEVER offers to answer or murmurs when he does, goes without something rather than ask for it, is easily embarrassed or bursts into tears over something which should not distress him acutely—things aren't right with him.

But don't force such a child. This boy [or girl] will be "brought out" by a sympathetic, tactful building up of his confidence in himself and by a building up of his confidence in the friendliness of his teacher. Fear of all kinds must fly out of the window.

According to CULBERTSON

Mr. Culbertson is conducting, through this column, a national examination of bridge players. Rate yourself by subtracting from 100 the points for each wrong answer. Or mail answers to Mr. Culbertson, care of this paper, and at the end of the examination he will send you a personal certificate with your mark and bridge classification.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

Question 19 of the National Self-Rating Bridge Examination appeared yesterday. It was:

Question 19: You are West, the declarer at a contract of six spades. North opened the heart queen. Your hand and dummy are as follows:

WEST	East [dummy]
♠A K 9 8 4 3 2	♠J 6
♥A	♥8 7 3 2
♦Q 5	♦A K 9 6
♣A Q 4	♣K 7 2

How do you play the hand, and why?

Answer: Your only danger of defeat is to find a bad trump break. You are missing the Q-10-7-5. If these are not all in one hand you cannot lose more than one trick by the ordinary method of cashing the ace and king. If they are all in one hand, however, a safety measure is required. Your correct play, on winning with the heart ace, is to lead a low trump toward dummy. If North holds all four trumps this method will hold him to one trick. In other words, if he plays the queen dummy's jack will later draw one of his trumps, and the ace-king the other two. If he ducks, the jack will win and the play of the ace-king will reduce him to the lone queen. If North shows out the jack loses to South's queen, but now a finesse has become established against the remaining ten spot. [If you played the hand in this way add two points to your score as reward. If you did not, one point demerit.]

TODAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 20: Both sides vulnerable. You are South. The bidding was as follows:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Double	Pass	2 hearts
Pass	Pass	Pass

You must lead from this holding:
♠Q 9 4 ♥7 5 ♦Q 9 7 3 2 ♣10 9 8
What card do you lead?

Question 21: Both sides vulnerable. You are South. East, your right-hand opponent, dealt and bid four spades. Your holding is:
♠3 ♥A Q 10 5 ♦A K J 6 ♣K Q J 4
What call do you make?

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
5 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bad final contract came about because North was a player who disdained bidding conventions. South thought wistfully of asking bids and the four-five no trump convention, but realized that North did not even know the responses, hence was forced to fall back on a dangerous type of slam try.

West opened the club jack and declarer, when he saw the dummy, realized that the game was in jeopardy. One trump, one spade, and one diamond were potential losers. There were two possible methods of play: One, to attempt diamond suit establishment, thus getting rid of the spade loser; the other, to take successive spade finesses in order to ditch the losing diamond. Since the former plan required a 3-3 diamond break, against which the odds are roughly two to one, and since successive spade finesses had about a three to one chance for success, obviously the choice was not close. Declarer won the opening lead and finessed to the ten of spades. East won and returned a diamond. The ace was put up and another spade finesse taken to the jack. This held, and the embarrassing diamond was discarded on the spade ace.

A low heart to the king and the low club ruff in dummy followed, then the heart finesse was attempted. Although it lost, declarer had confined the enemy to two tricks.

Heaps Praises on Landscapes of Curry Bohm

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The first exhibition of the season in the Hoosier gallery, 211 West Wacker drive, is showing of landscapes by C. Curry Bohm and landscape and figure paintings by Mattie Lietz.

The landscapes by Mr. Bohm are a revelation of beauty. Perhaps you think you know how lovely fruit trees look in bloom, or how lovely fresh-fallen snow looks in a woodpatch where black trees reach up above the snow-drifted bushes, perhaps you do; but if you do not, or if you have forgotten, these paintings by Mr. Bohm will bring that loveliness home to you vividly. The fruit trees buried in delicately colored bloom are like dreams tied to earth; a breath and the thread will be cut, the magic vanish.

Spring, an earlier spring, with wet roads and wet clouds, with mud and clay and running rivulets where ordinary roads should be, is another favorite theme of the artist and he plays with it also with a gentle touch. Summer and autumn and early winter are still more seasons of the year to which the artist has turned an expectant eye and a recording brush. It would be impossible to find any kind of weather, any kind of landscape, that Curry Bohm could not see good in, and paint in such a way that every one who looked would stop to look again.

He has a flexible, delicate, delightful technique that stamps his work. His landscapes are invariably fascinating. The monotypes are as intriguing as the oils and water colors. This one group of pictures no one can afford to miss!

Miss Lietz finds herself in a difficult position because she supports the wall across from the Curry Bohm landscapes. Her work is more realistic. It is sober, sturdy and conscientious. Probably unwittingly her pictures now and again bring other artists to mind, John Nolf for one and Adam Emory Albright for another.

The "Morning Mail," "Grant Detour" and "Monterey Bay" are among the most interesting of her canvases.

A small group of woven textiles by Anni Albers is being shown at the Chicago Workshops, Diana Court building, under the sponsorship of Marrianne Willisch. These textiles are capable of mechanical reproduction and Mrs. Albers has contented herself with getting into them the design which would come naturally out of the wool in which they are woven.

Quilt Entitled "Four Buds" Has Obscure History

No one seems to know much about this good looking pieced block which has been named simply "Four Buds." An individual's immediate reaction is that it has been seen somewhere before. That is indubitably true. It is a clever transposition of one of the well known "T Square" patterns. It is not at all difficult to piece, and is ideal for a beginning quilt maker to select as her first attempt. Green, white, and yellow are a gay, youthful color combination which seems to be a favorite among the girls of teen age lately.

Tonic for the Wardrobe

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Every wardrobe needs the tonic of at least one daytime frock that is purely dressy and not at all practical enough to be called into use for general wear. Such a dress may go to afternoon and informal evening events only, decorating the scene of a luncheon, theater party, bridge party or dinner. The dress illustrated today is one that takes to dressy fabrics and details in a thoroughly girlish manner. It's a youthful model if ever there was one. The bodice is tightly fitted, while the skirt is gathered into the waistline. The sleeves are puffed at the shoulders and may be short or long. If the latter, they are fitted below the elbow.

About the neckline. It may have a petal collar or a stand-up frill of lace or lingerie ruffling. The same may be used for cuffs on the long sleeves. Trimming down the front may be tiny buttons or pert bows to match a ribbon fabric belt. Clever metal links may be used on the belt, as shown in the sketch at the right.

Velvet, satin, luxuriously surfaced crêpe, and soft woolen may be used. There's nothing prosaic about woolen these days. Even evening gowns are being made of it.

Style No. 3159 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 4⅞ yards of 39 inch material, with 2 yards of ruffling.

Lutheran Students to Spend 4 Months in Failing Churches

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The United Lutheran church's board of American missions resolved today to pep up its ministry and bring back into the churches thousands of persons who have moved to new communities and failed to resume churchgoing.

The missions board is experimenting with a new plan to increase the efficiency of young ministers. Twenty seminary students were chosen to undergo a year's interneship. The first four months each will be sent to an old church of outstanding success to work and study under the minister in charge. Then each will spend four months at a new church that has been successful.

Finally, each will spend four months in a missionary church that is recognized as a failure. In that way, said Dr. Zinan M. Corbe of New York, executive secretary of the board, the young men will see for themselves what causes a church to be a success or a failure.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

They've Got Rhythm.

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 21.—How far back in movie history does tap dancing go? Bill Brady, at M. G. M., recalls Chick Chandler doing a tap dance as a steward on an ocean liner at least eight years ago. However, it remained for Fred Astaire to demonstrate that the sound tracks of Hollywood needed the rhythm of those who were tops in taps.

In thirty weeks of my vaudeville tours, most of the great tap dancers of the era appeared with me. Eleanor Powell, who appeared in your reporter's second vaudeville act, reminisced about it yesterday on the M. G. M. rehersal stage.

So between rehersals of the dance which she'll do in "Rosalie," in the Vassar sequence, Eleanor and Albertina Rasch told me about dancing. Ballet Mistress Rasch commented on the fact that all great tapdancers are built along the same general lines, rangy, wiry types, but insisted that ballet training is the groundwork for ALL dancing. "I took ballet when I was a kid in Springfield, Mass.," commented Eleanor.

"You know I didn't break in as a tap dancer," said the Powell lass. "My first job was with Gus Edwards at the Ritz-Carlton grill, in Atlantic City, $7 a night, three nights a week. I did cartwheels and the things a 13 year old kid would do. Then Evan Burrows Fontaine, who was headlining at the Silver Slipper at Atlantic City, was taken ill and I pinch hit for her in the Benny Davis revue there. His wife put on my makeup, the first time I'd ever had any. As the finale of the show, they had a black bottom contest for the cast, and the prize was a ringside ticket to the Dempsey-Tunney fight at Philadelphia. I'd seen Ann Pennington and Tom Patricola do it when 'Scandals' played Atlantic City, so I told the orchestra leader to play it slow, rather than in fast tempo, and I won the ticket. The head waiter came over and talked me into giving it to him, so I lost the only prize I ever won."

Miss Rasch interrupted: "You know, people hear about the training a Dempsey or a Tunney undergoes, but they never realize that a dancer, a girl like Eleanor, probably has more endurance, pound for pound, than any athlete. Dancing is the most exhausting and nerve wracking of all physical efforts. Prize fighters, ball players, and tennis players couldn't possibly compare with her physical condition. She'd wear them down to a point of complete collapse. Dancers, however, do things so gracefully and with so little effort that you never associate physical strength or tremendous stamina with them."

Eleanor Powell wins a contest.

I asked them something for you readers who probably often have marveled at the ease with which professional dancers spin around the floor. "The whole secret of pivoting without getting dizzy," explained Eleanor, "is to fasten your eyes on ONE object in the room. On every turn your eyes must go to that one object, preferably something suspended on a wall at the level of your head. Otherwise, if you watch everything that comes within vision, the four walls seem to be spinning and you'll get dizzy." Try this the next time you take your girl out dancing and let me know how it works.

How long will tap dancing last on the screen? Astaire, Miss Powell, and other star personalities wisely make only two pictures a year, not to wear out their welcome. Sam Goldwyn, featuring a great ballet number in his next picture, indicates his belief that tap dancing is on the way out. It is my personal belief that the personality who does the tap dance is all-important, and that there will always be a market for personalities.

The Housewife

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

Kitchens are looking well tailored, these days, and one of the items that gives them that neat appearance is a set of canisters, all matching in color and design, and all monogrammed to order. Color schemes of stock patterns are white with band and trim in red, in blue, in green, in yellow, or in black. The monogram matches the color you select.

Or, if you prefer, you can choose an attractive little painted design instead of your initials. Among the forty-five kitchen articles available in this group are: a vegetable bin, a paper towel holder, a waste basket, a bread and pie box, a wax paper holder, sugar can, coffee can, tea can, flour shaker, four piece canister set and a covered match box.

Another new item in painted containers is a set of white enameled boxes and canisters with gayly colored Mexican figures and motifs splashed over them. They're highly decorative and reasonably priced.

World Events Chief Topic of Social Circles

BY JUDITH CASS.

With international relations looming as large as they do on today's horizon perhaps it is no wonder that some days life seems to be nothing but a mad rush from one lecture to another, each dealing with some aspect of the world affairs that are occupying every one's attention.

Yesterday it was Vera Brittain, the English novelist, who talked on "War and Its Influence on Literature," at the Arts club; today at noon Nathaniel Peffer, author of "Must We Fight in Asia?" is to talk at a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations; and tonight Sir Evelyn Wrench, founder of the English-Speaking Union of the British Empire, will talk on "World Affairs Today" at a dinner the Chicago branch of the union will give for him and his bride, formerly Lady Des Voeux.

Small Reception to Follow Dinner.

The dinner will be at the Drake hotel and Samuel M. Rinaker, president, will preside. At the table with the speaker and Lady Wrench, who will speak briefly, and Mr. Rinaker will be Mrs. Rinaker, the British consul general, Lewis Bernays, Mrs. Bernays, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Welles, A. N. Marquis, Mr. and Mrs. Alan C. Dixon and Durand Smith. The Charles S. Deweys have invited a small group to meet Sir Evelyn and Lady Wrench at the Dewey home in State parkway after the dinner.

Sir Evelyn and Lady Wrench will be at the speaker's table at the council luncheon at the Palmer house along with the president, Laird Bell, Mrs. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Rinaker, the John Paul Wellings, Bernadotte Schmitt and the George A. Richardsons. Mr. Peffer's subject will be "War in the Far East." He has just returned from a year in the orient.

S. Edwin Earle, who was in the class of 1911 at the University of Chicago with Mr. Peffer, will have seven of their classmates as his guests at the luncheon. His guests will be Paul H. Davis, R. Boynton Rogers, William F. Rothermel, Vallee O. Appel, Hargrave Long, A. G. Straube, and Charles Grey. Next week, on Wednesday, the council will have a luncheon meeting at which Emil Ludwig, German biographer, will talk about "Europe as I See It."

Scholarly Lecture by Miss Brittain.

Miss Brittain's talk was a scholarly and interesting one, dealing with literature and war and their influences upon each other, from the time of Euripides to the present.

Miss Brittain believes that writers have a threefold mission when they write of war; to tell the truth, to act as interpreters between conflicting groups, and to present some constructive picture of a finer civilization.

Lace Styles Lovely Gowns

A lovely dinner or evening gown created in a fine filmy lace combined with matching taffeta. Brown taffeta contrasts the brown lace in narrow bands around the hemline, up the front, around the short sleeves, and the doubling banding at the waistline.

Appeal of Lace Claims Lots of Fashion Money

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Watch the lure of lace take a lot of fashion money. Since the recent "lace ball," more shoppers have become smartly lace minded and some of the loveliest of lace gowns and costumes are now on parade around the shops and stores. Beautiful dance dresses are created with yards of filmy lace, frosty white affairs for the younger set, the skirts full and floating with colored velvet ribbon sashes or shoulder straps. Most of them are worn over rustling taffeta slips.

Another heart breaker is made of gentian blue chantilly lace over two layers of chiffon, one in cerise, the lower layer in jade green. It's one of the most unusual gowns we've seen. A few of the floral motifs in the lace are covered with blue, cerise, and green sequins. The skirt is voluminous with the lace. The bodice is smooth over the hip. The neckline is daringly low.

Black lace, unquestionably the most fragile feminine stuff for any occasion or any personality, is used for clinging dinner costumes. These have small short jackets with long sleeves. Lace also fashions picturesque dancing gowns with full skirts. Black lace is used for effective fitted dinner jackets worn over black crêpe sheath gowns or gowns of velvet.

Due any week . . . the grand new lengths of wool lace to be featured in a fashion wise yardage department. This wool lace is destined for the smartest wardrobes, comes in delectable shades and colors, clings nicely to the figure, and makes some of the best looking of afternoon and semi-dress parade clothes.

Fashion photograph . . . new and ready for both dinner and dancing is this full skirted gown of taffeta and lace. The taffeta is used in bands down the front, at the neckline, around the short sleeves, at the waistline, and around the hemline as an effective contrast for the fine filmy lace that is the same color as the taffeta.

Symphony Gets Lovely Tone of Elgar 'Enigma'

BY EDWARD BARRY.

In Maeterlinck's "L'Intruse" the principal character never comes to the stage. Just when his knocking is heard from the wings and the audience steels itself for a sight of the Intruder the play's final curtain falls. The Intruder is Death.

Analogous to this eerie drama—and the analogy is the composer's idea, not that of any irresponsible commentator—is the set of "Enigma" variations by Sir Edward Elgar, played last night by the Chicago Symphony orchestra at the second of its Thursday evening Orchestra hall concerts. The real theme on which the variations are based is never heard from first to last, although its presence presumably haunts each bar of the music. And the composer would never tell what this mystical theme is.

The fact that Sir Edward died three and a half years ago without revealing the secret of the "Enigma" variations may be interpreted in many ways. Perhaps the secret was deeply personal. Or he may have regretted and wished to forget the youthful whimsy in whose grip he had found himself many years before and which had impelled him to give to the musical world such a curious nut to crack.

And there is just a chance that there may be no secret. This particular sort of device for arousing and maintaining interest is as old as human ingenuity. Do you remember the G. K. Chesterton story in which a principal character subtly encourages the idea that his wig covers a sight so dreadful that no human being could look upon it and retain his reason? When the showdown comes the wig is torn off to reveal—a perfectly normal if somewhat unlovely head!

Whatever the explanation, the fact remains that the "Enigma" variations contain some of Sir Edward's very best music. There is wealth of idea, aptness of instrumentation, a pervasive air of uncommon nobility. The orchestra displayed some of its loveliest tone colorings in the course of the performance.

Aside from the Elgar, last night's entire program was French. It began with the strange set of fanfares called "Le Camp de Pompée," by Florent Schmitt. Following that came the splendidly knit Second symphony of d'Indy. Ravel's "La Valse" ended the concert.

With its fascinating structure, its opulent instrumentation and its frequent episodes of soft Gallic poetry and restrained passion, the d'Indy symphony has much to keep a listener alert through all its generous length. The fascination of the piece's form derives partly from the composer's use of certain identical thematic matter throughout.

Frederick Stock conducted last night and will preside again this afternoon.

Front Views and Profiles

Honolulu, Hawaii.—Iolani palace, a great yellow structure that once was the former palace of the Hawaiian monarchy, set in the middle of lawns and flowering trees and hedges, now is the capitol building for the United States territory of Hawaii. Not far away is the governor's house, called Washington place, a white columned mansion with a wide New England entrance hall and a Chinese courtyard planted with bamboo and other oriental greenery. The combination of New England and Chinese was reminiscent of New England in its great shipping days, but the superbly beautiful flower arrangements in the vases, the cultured young Chinese woman who came to the door in a Chinese house coat, the photographs of dark skinned royalty on the walls and tables, and the two wahilis—tall, ceiling high, feather adorned parade sticks that were part of the drawing room decor—gave evidence that this was no New England abode. The bedroom of the late Queen Liliuokalani, on the first floor of the mansion, was like any bedroom of the period on the mainland, except for the size of the bed, which was four times average size.

The party at the Royal Hawaiian the first night the congressional statehood investigation committee was in Honolulu was a memorable one. The congressmen and their wives were seated in the center of the great outdoor dining terrace, the tables were flower bedecked, and every woman wore flower leis. Albert Lasker had a long table, with orchids scattered up and down its length, and seated on his right, Winona Love, the charming part-Hawaiian who is much loved and admired in Honolulu, and who, in honor of the occasion, danced the subtle, beautiful hula for which she is famous, its beauty depending largely on her graceful hand movements.

There were Hawaiian singers with melting voices, and hula dancers, and exhibition dancing, and between entertainment numbers the orchestra played for dancing on the breeze swept outdoor dance terrace, under the stars and the small, tiny new moon. Delegate to Congress Sam King, who wore a white lei about his shoulders, was brought to our table; also Gov. Joseph B. Poindexter, who had returned that day from a visit to the mainland, and several of the senators. There was political talk, too, and the combination of hulas and politics, strange to a visitor, is not at all so to a native. For they say here that when a politician campaigns for office in the islands his singers and hula dancers are as important to his campaign as his eloquence and his promises. Or more so.

SYNOPSIS.

When rich old Caleb Winter dies, his wife, Isabella, once his housekeeper, wires her daughter, Sally Lee Keyne, at school in Maryland, to come home at last. Because Caleb had demanded a housekeeper without family ties, Isabella had never told him of Sally. Sally bids a fond good-by to wise Mary Culpepper, school headmistress, and sets out. En route Sally meets Robin Ashe, whose family lives near the old Crewe mansion, Sally's new home. He falls in love with her. The Winter chauffeur meets Sally in Baltimore, and, driving her home, gives a lift to an arrogant tramp called Vincent. Sally orders the chauffeur to put him out. The morning after Sally's homecoming, Joseph Marr, his lawyer, reads Caleb's will, and her mother has a stroke. Informed of his wife's deception, Caleb left everything to his first wife's nephew, Obadiah Crewe. Mrs. Winter, if she stays on as housekeeper, to have shelter and an income. The new heir turns out to be the tramp—Vincent Obadiah Crewe. Though she hates and fears him Sally serves him as housekeeper in her mother's place. Vincent inherits Caleb's tricky West Indian valet, Manchi. Proudly, Sally obeys when Vincent orders her to dine with him.

INSTALMENT XVII.
MUSIC IN THE DARK.

"What do you mean?"

"Well, if you're going to be my housekeeper you better come and ask me what I want to eat."

Sally sat stiff, her hands crimping the napkin on her knee.

"O, Mr. Crewe . . . you mean . . . my meals?"

"Sure, I mean your meals. They don't suit me for a cent."

"I . . . you were out this morning. I . . . I came down to my office in the morning after breakfast . . ."

"Where's your office?"

She described it to him carefully.

"Can I give you my orders there?"

"Of course. I suppose you can do anything you like and go anywhere you choose in your own house."

"I reckon you're right at that. Well, I can tell you here and now that I like my meals hearty and regular. Plenty of meat. And I like pastry and thick pies and cake. I like big cups of coffee with cream and sugar with all my meals. I like hot biscuits and griddle cakes and sausages and hot dogs and pork and ham, spuds, lots of thick gravy, chicken for Sundays, ice cream. I eat like a working man and I drink like one . . . as much and as often as I can get it. That don't mean I'm a drunkard. I can quit when I've a mind to."

"I'll try to remember," said Sally. "If you will come to my office at about half past nine or ten o'clock every morning we can plan your meals until I get to know just what you want."

Charles removed the marmites and passed French chops, green peas, mushrooms, and potato soufflés, of which Vincent seemed to make four mouthfuls.

"Where'd you go to school?" he asked apropos of nothing.

Sally told him and presently began to tell him other things. She was nervously anxious to be talkative and there was that about his poker face and still, slate-colored eyes that had the impersonal inspiration to confidence of a screened confessional. With any audience at all, Sally was apt to become eloquent on the theme of Miss Culpepper. She told Vincent Crewe the story of her school, its few enmities and many friendships, its pleasures and its annoyances, and also, the tale, in part, of her vacations, those spent with Miss Mary and those in visiting. If she paused he shot out a brief inquiry or comment, "What next?" or "I'll say it was," or "Hell, that was something."

By the time her saga began to falter they had left the table and he had taken her to the great drawing room of their unfortunate interview. All the way down it Sally surrendered to panic. "I think I must go up to my mother now."

"No," said Vincent, straddling the hearth beneath a portrait of his great grandfather. "No. Look a here . . . do you play on the piano?"

"Yes."

"Then try that one, will you? Over there near the windows."

As, after an instant's half defiant hesitation, she complied, he began to pace the whole long floor from hearth to entrance door and back. So doing he passed and repassed between her and the windows. Sally found his eyes resting upon her without expression. She could not help feeling that during the entire rhythmic performance he kept that enigmatic look so fastened. She did not know whether she was alarmed or relieved when he switched out all the lights.

She was playing without notes but stopped. "Go on," he said from that distance softly. Then so monotonous became his occupation and so soothing her own that she almost forgot him and, smiling to herself, was back with Robin in the ballroom, in the porch. Changing her tune, she played tenderly with improvised variations the old English melody, "What's this dull town to me? Robin's not there. . . . What was it I wished to see? . . . What wished to hear?"

She was startled by the abrupt cessation of Vincent's step. She could not tell where he stood until, "Don't stop suddenly," he said in a voice astonishingly near, the most carrying low voice she had ever heard, "but just come to a natural stop as soon as you can make it." She did so and his voice came again. "I thought so. Look here, Miss Sally, get up and go on out and upstairs to your own room. You won't need a light to find your way, will you?"

"No," she said doubtfully. "What's wrong?"

"I heard some one outside close to these windows. Come on."

She hurried blindly past where she thought he stood and down the room and found herself with a sensation of relief and reassurance in the normally lighted hall. From it she fled upstairs. Looking down for an instant at the turn, she witnessed Vincent's cautious preparations for exit by the front door. Just before he switched out the hall lights he set down his right hand into his pocket, which was lumpy and sagged. He was armed.

She told her mother nothing of her evening except that she had had a pleasant dinner with Mr. Crewe, but, in her own bed, later, she found it for a long while impossible to sleep. She was back again in the abruptly darkened long room, up and down which went that rhythmic, haunted tread. And she was playing . . . like a snake charmer—afraid to stop. Annoyed at her own hectic imagination, she commanded sleep only to be awakened at an hour of dawn. There were voices and footsteps, laughter, clatter, talk and singing down below in the great house. The devil that had gone forth so quietly into the night had brought back with him seven others louder than himself.

When she came into her office next morning Vincent Crewe was waiting for her.

"I like this room," he said. "I think I'll take it over for my own den."

She repressed an outcry of rebellion, liking this room herself.

"Any objections?" he demanded instantly.

She shrugged. "I have to tell you again that it's your house, Mr. Crewe. I was thinking only that the servants are used to coming here for orders. And . . . I have to have some sort of workroom . . ." He said nothing and there fell a silence. "By the by," she sat down behind the desk and looked up at him. "Would you mind telling me something?"

"Shoot."

"Where did you get the scrap of paper from . . . the one you used for the note asking me to come down to dinner yesterday?"

He came close, leaned opposite and stared down like a pupil baffled by his teacher's question.

"Scrap of paper? Note? O, hell, yes, I get you now. I tore it out of a book in what Charles calls the 'liebury.'"

"I was afraid you had. I know they are your books, Mr. Crewe, but they are so beautiful, so valuable. I wish, even if you can't read them that you . . . you would learn . . . sort of . . . to respect them."

"Can't read them! Look a here . . . I know how to read. I'm not so g—— d—— illiterate."

Get Out and Dance! It's Beauty Aid

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Get out the dancing slippers, girls! Remove a year or two or more while you trot, waltz, shag or rhumba!

If you feel that you are beyond the ballroom age and weight qualifications, don't let that stop you. Simply turn on the radio and let your vacuum cleaner be your tall, dark, handsome partner. Or, if that is too much for the imagination, then just go gliding, sliding around the room with the broomstick or with nothing in your dancing arms, stepping to musical count and beat. There's a grand lot of youth restoration to be found in just such capering. It's one way to get up on your toes and be a lighter-footed darling. And you're going to hear a lot from now on about the light foot and the fleet one. Too many women walk on the heels, coming down like a load of brick or like anything but a light-hearted girl in love, which is youth's spirit as seen in the walk.

So, if you don't want to become a ballroom showoff, just keep up the good foot work in the privacy of your own home to the tune of some rattling good music with which the ether waves are running over these days.

As for the other group who would dance to be ornamental on the public floor, let dance instructor Arthur Murray advise you of a few things to avoid in order to create for yourself that lovely picture of beauty in motion on the dance floor:

Don't wave your arms. It shows you are temperamental. Don't dance with your shoulders. It shows you are coy and unreliable. Don't turn your toes outward. It indicates that the woman is sensual and self-indulgent. Don't plad or put your heel down first and then your toe. It shows you are egocentric and self-assured. Don't hang onto your partner. Balance yourself with your left hand back of his right shoulder.

If you hang on your partner, you'll give yourself away as the baby, pettish type. Don't waltz and fox trot exclusively. People will know you are straitlaced. Don't giggle or carry on long conversations. It shows you lack rhythm and have an inferiority complex. You are trying to cover up by distracting your partner's attention. It won't fool him.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

End-of-the-week notes:

It's going to be a hair ornament winter, no doubt about it. But they won't be stereotyped. No two women will be wearing the same thing—we hope! Remember a year or so ago when every time you turned around of an evening you'd see a woman wearing a tiara?

The ornaments this year are whimsical and feminine. The one for you might be anything from a little hair bow to a bunch of crystal grapes! Or it might be a fluff of ostrich or a funny little peak cap of cloth of gold.

Then there is the situation created by the hairdressers' edict that hair must sweep high. It's getting serious, judging by some photographs and sketches we saw recently. As one of our co-workers remarked, when we go to the theater this season we're quite likely to hear from the rear: "Madam, would you kindly take down your hair?" What with hair piled up and an ornament on top of that it will be like the old, old days.

The prettiest shoe in the world, to our way of thinking, is coming back. The nice old patent lether pump with cut steel buckles. There's nothing nicer if the ankle is slim and the arch high. It's fatal though, for the thick ankled.

Which should be sufficient to give some thought to foot and ankle exercises. You can do them at home more easily than any others—and the exercise salons will be more than happy to give you the routine you need or to make it possible for you to work out a couple of times a week.

Shiny eyes are essential, we're told, to the smart face. A bit of oil on brows, lashes, and lids for day. And at night, glistering eye shadow and oiled and darkened brows and lashes.

Tuareg Tribesmen Don Veils as Their Women Discard Them

While the women of Turkey and Egypt are beginning to remove their traditional veils as the countries modernize, among the Tuareg people of the Sahara and Timbuctoo, the men are wearing veils and are very strict never to reveal their faces. This discovery was reported yesterday by Dr. Wilfrid D. Hambly, curator of African ethnology at the Field museum.

"The women among the Tuaregs are following their sisters in abandoning the veils, despite the requirements of Mohammedism, but the men will not even remove the veils while eating," Dr. Hambly said. "No reason for the masculine veils has been discovered; it is not a religious requirement among Mohammedans."

Stefansson Will Speak on Air Routes Over Pole

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, noted arctic explorer and scientist, will speak on "Transpolar Commerce by Air" in the James Simpson theater in the Field museum at 3 o'clock tomorrow. The lecture is free, but attendance is restricted to adults. Dr. Stefansson will illustrate his lecture with stereoptican slides.

Bing Crosby Gets Honor Degree at Spokane, Wash.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Harry Lillis [Bing] Crosby came home today and received an honorary Ph. D. degree and the key to the city he left ten years ago with "two shirts, a pair of socks, and a battered tin lizzie." Gonzaga university, Crosby's alma mater, conferred the honor for his "eminence" in the field of American entertainment. Crosby's elevation to the mayor's seat brought the biggest crowd to the city chambers since the fire of 1889.

NOTRE DAME CAMPUS PLEADS: 'BEAT NAVY!'

BEARS' COACH LOOKS AT LIONS AND WORRIES

But After All, Who Can Blame Him?

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Last Thanksgiving day at Detroit the Lions defeated the Bears, 13 to 7. The score did not indicate how thoroughly the Bears were whipped. Detroit reached its peak that bleak morning on the University of Detroit field. The Bears were badly outplayed. And most of the damage was done by five linemen, George Christensen, Joe Kopcha, Ox Emerson, Clare Randolph, and Jack Johnson, who played sixty minutes.

Coach George Halas went back into the files to analyze that game yesterday as he prepared for Detroit's invasion of Wrigley field Sunday. The result was anything but heartening.

Lions Look Tough.

Christensen and Johnson are still with the Lions. Both are giants thoroughly schooled in all the tricks of line play. Johnson has been able to hold his place in the starting lineup. But Christensen, who would be welcome on every team in the league, has had to take a back seat to Bob Reynolds, a former Chicago Tribune All-Star, who is making his debut in pro ball after spending a year managing his father's oil tract in Oklahoma.

Emerson again holds forth at one guard, where he has been an All-League choice for several years. Randolph retired to enter politics, but his relief, Del Ritchhart, considered a greater center than Randolph except for experience, has been replaced by Lee Stokes, a 205 pound freshman from Centenary.

Halas weighed all these replacements, pondered scout reports on the Lions' early games this year, and concluded that Detroit's line Sunday will be just as strong, if not stronger, than the one which played such havoc with the Bears last Thanksgiving.

Back Field Is Dangerous.

Official statistics from the National league headquarters bear out Halas' suspicions. The Lions have gained 1,143 yards in five games while allowing the opposition only 784. The Bears have surrendered 734 yards, only 50 yards less, in four games.

In addition to the line, there is the Detroit back field to worry about. The Bears have great respect for Coach Dutch Clark, Ace Gutowsky, Ernie Caddel, Frank Christensen, and Bill Shepherd. Bolstered by the addition of Vernon Huffman of Indiana and Lloyd Cardwell of Nebraska, this back field, to the Bears' way of thinking, is the most dangerous set of ball carriers they have to face.

Clark's superb judgment and generalship add to the task of stopping the Lions. Clark's presence in the lineup has a psychological effect on the opposition. It is a foregone conclusion that he is cooking up some embarrassment for the defense, but until it explodes for a good gain, there is no telling what it is.

Gets Out Whip.

These and other disturbing revelations bobbed up in Halas' analysis. Accordingly the whip was out at Wrigley field when Halas called his squad together for the daily three hours. But even the fact that yesterday's workout was one of the most impressive of the year did not allay Halas' uneasiness and another long drill will be held today. The tapering off process will begin tomorrow when the Bears must share Wrigley field with the Lions, who arrive in time to take a short workout in the afternoon.

Meanwhile the Cardinals packed bags yesterday for their trip to Pittsburgh, where on Sunday they attempt to remain about the .500 mark at the expense of Johnny Blood's Pirates. Pat Coffee and George Grosvenor, the only two passers on the squad, are expected to start at the half backs.

Bill Smith, veteran end, who has been relieving Gaynell Tinsley, and Conway Baker, tackle, were left at home because of injuries.

DONIE BUSH GETS MANAGERIAL BID FROM THE BEES

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The fifth major league managerial job of his career was in prospect today for Donie Bush, pilot of the Minneapolis Millers of the American association. Bush stated today, on arriving for a conference with President Mike Kelley of the Millers, that he has been offered the job of manager with the Boston Bees of the National league.

Bush said he had made no decision about taking the post which Bill McKechnie recently left for a similar berth with the Cincinnati Reds.

Bush has managed Pittsburgh and Cincinnati in the National league and Washington and the Chicago White Sox in the American league. His Pirates won the 1927 National league pennant, but were defeated by the New York Yankees in the world series. He quit Cincinnati in 1933, giving as his reason a lack of funds with which to obtain players who would lift the club into the first division.

BADGERS WANDER ACROSS PATH OF ANGRY PANTHERS

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 21.—There is a three cornered football rivalry in this steel city among the University of Pittsburgh, Duquesne, and Carnegie Tech, which could be matched only if Northwestern had Minnesota in Wilmette and Ohio State in Lincolnwood for its neighbors.

For many years Pitt had ruled arbitrarily. It had graciously rented its stadium on occasion to Carnegie. Recently, however, Pitt's foes in this annual triangular competition have challenged successfully. And the intense rivalry for national honors, which a year ago revealed a personal feud between Coach Jock Sutherland of Pitt and his now deposed athletic director, Don Harrison, which flamed two weeks ago in allegations by a Duquesne philosophy professor that Pitt paid its players, now seems about to engulf Wisconsin's Badgers who meet the Panthers here Saturday afternoon.

Badgers in Line of Fire.

Wisconsin has been cast as the innocent and curious bystander who accidentally wandered into line of fire. It is unfortunate that the Badgers are involved, but whatever happens to them Saturday will hurt none the less.

Wisconsin's boys, who arrive tomorrow morning, presumably believe they will be here for a friendly athletic contest, but Pitt waits as grim as an executioner. Wisconsin is undefeated. Wisconsin is tied for the leadership in the Big Ten. So Wisconsin, if crushed by Pittsburgh, will become another item in the data to sustain a Pittsburgh record of national domination which has been sniped at by Duquesne and Carnegie Tech. A victory over Wisconsin may serve to appease critics vehemently dissatisfied with Pitt's scoreless tie with Fordham.

Pitt's detractors, many of whom are not concerned with the ethical question of to pay or not to pay—the charge has been printed that Pitt football players receive $48.50 a month—insist that the Panthers play a steam roller type of game as antiquated as the flying wedge and as uninteresting as the progress of an army tank.

Panthers Are Criticized.

Critics have mentioned book and page in Pitt's record—Fordham, three scoreless ties; Ohio State, beaten 6 to 0, without one forward pass attempted; Minnesota, winner three years ago by a lateral forward pass after the teams had been locked for three periods in a 7 to 7 tie. And the most bitter reproof of all has been hurled at the Panthers—with all their vaunted power, they haven't scored a point in their last 105 minutes of play.

Sutherland's practice orders this week have served to answer that an off tackle smash was created before the forward pass and that three yard gains, if linked together, will score a touchdown. In a minute of humor, the taciturn doctor presented half back Harold Stebbins with a bottle of glue. Stebbins fumbled five times last week against Fordham and no play is proof against this maneuver.

Expect Crowd of 40,000.

There is no reason to doubt that Pitt's power will ruin Wisconsin's undefeated record. The opinion is so widely spread that attendance is estimated at 40,000, considerably less than two-thirds the capacity of the stadium. If Coach Harry Stuhldreher plans a defense similar to that used by his schoolmate of the Four Horsemen days, Jim Crowley of Fordham, it remains to be seen if Wisconsin's tackles have sufficient weight and stamina, or if Stebbins again will fumble five times.

Then, too, Pitt has Marshall [Biggie] Goldberg, who will be just about the best back on the field. Goldberg, as a sophomore last year, left his calling cards on Notre Dame's and Washington's goal lines.

LEADS PURPLE

Don Heap, Northwestern football captain, has distinguished himself this fall with exceptional defensive play. Also a splendid running back, Purple fans look to him to lead his team's offensive against Ohio State at Columbus tomorrow.

Purple Squad of 35 Leaves to Face Ohio

Amid the cheers of nearly 2,000 students, thirty-five Northwestern football players left last night for Columbus, where they will make their third stand in defense of the Big Ten championship against Ohio State tomorrow.

Led by the Northwestern band, the student body assembled at Patten gymnasium, where the team took buses to the Union station. Coach Lynn Waldorf and Capt. Don Heap addressed the students and assured them that the team was determined to do its best to win.

The Wildcats, still smarting from being termed lucky in winning their two conference games against Michigan and Purdue, are intent upon convincing the skeptical that they can win their games the hard way if necessary.

Hardest Test Yet.

That Ohio State will provide them with their hardest test of the season, every one from Coach Waldorf down to the scrubs is fully aware. A week of strenuous drills, topped off with a long offensive and defensive dummy scrimmage yesterday, has placed the Purple on edge for the game. Attention was devoted principally toward polishing up the running game which has failed to click this year in the fashion desired.

The Wildcats have full confidence in their forward pass attack with such accurate throwers as Heap, Jefferson, and Ryan available. This trio has completed 15 out of 37 passes this year. The aerial attack will be further strengthened this week by the presence of John Kovatch, veteran end, who played only briefly against Purdue because of a leg injury.

The Starting Lineup.

Northwestern's running game, built around Heap, Jefferson and Swisher, may start rolling this week. These three ball carriers are among the best in the conference and need only more accurate blocking to break them loose. Heap, who has been playing one of the best defensive games of any player on the squad, is about due to cause some team plenty of trouble offensively.

With the exception of Kovatch at

WONDER WHAT CUB OWNER WILL SAY TO LAZZERI

Everybody's Guessing, So Get Into the Game.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Anthony Michael Lazzeri at the age of 32 and 10-12th years has created more of a stir than he did at any time during his twelve seasons of service with the New York American league Yankees, who last week turned him loose at his own request so that he could try foraging for himself.

All the furor over the old fellow's case followed an announcement by the Cubs, or rather by President-Owner P. K. Wrigley, that the Chicago club might have a job for which the veteran has qualifications. Beyond that bare declaration, except that Charley Grimm was not going to be deposed as manager, Wrigley refused to travel, so the guessing started, and guessing, frequently of the second time around variety, is popular with the sports writers as well as the fans.

Wrigley Changes Policy.

The summoning of Lazzeri for a conference, which may result in nothing so far as the Italian athlete is concerned, is only the result of a change of heart on the part of Owner Wrigley as to how a big league club can best prepare itself for the winning of a pennant.

Wrigley, since ascending to the club presidency, a job within his reach through the simple process of voting his own shares for himself, has repeatedly declared that when it was a matter of strengthening the Cubs he preferred the outright purchase plan against the maintenance of minor league farm clubs, either owned outright or controled by subsidy.

The purchase scheme hasn't worked. Clubs with development sites in the minors have repeatedly nosed out the Cubs in pennant campaigns. So Wrigley has decided to join the parade, get 'em out of the cradle, and trust to percentage that here and there a choice item will be uncovered.

Guesses Are Numerous.

The guesses on the real reason for Wrigley's desire to pay Tony's freight charges from San Francisco to here and return have included everything but the bat boy's job. Despite Wrigley's insistence that there is no present intention of firing Grimm, Lazzeri has been pictured as the next manager. He has been pointed out as the man who, if he wants the job, will direct the planned farm system. The guessers even have labeled him the next club president.

One of the above might fall on Lazzeri's shoulders eventually, but that isn't the idea Wrigley has in his mind right now. After talking with Lazzeri, whom he never has seen except from a grandstand box seat, the Cub owner may decide he has summoned the wrong fellow. But if Tony measures up to expectations you'll probably see him operating in one of the two coaching positions next summer. That and a little utility infielding, if necessary, is supposed to be the job mapped out for him, at least for the time being. Or the Cubs might, in case he doesn't want to coach, install him as manager of the Wrigley owned Los Angeles team.

Tony Takes His Time.

The mere fact that Tony, now lolling at his Frisco home, hasn't displayed any inclination to hurry to Chicago is sufficient evidence that he hasn't been promised the kind of a job he covets. If the Chicago club, through an emissary, had hinted he would be made boss, Tony would have set a transcontinental record. He is delaying his arrival here because he still has hopes in connection with the St. Louis Browns and the Boston Bees management.

Whether Gabby Hartnett is to remain a Cub is another matter that the Cub executive can't answer, mainly because there is no indication one way or the other. If Gabby goes it will be because he has a chance to become a boss. It is rumored that the Boston club already has made inquiry about a possible deal which would move him there as a playing manager.

Turf Steward Reveals Assets in New Hearing

A motion to hold Christopher J. FitzGerald, presiding steward of the Illinois racing commission, in contempt in the $250,000 slander suit brought by J. D. Mikel, Carlock, Ill., horse owner and breeder, was dismissed yesterday by Judge Robert C. O'Connell in the Superior court after FitzGerald appeared and testified. The trial itself, in which Mikel, who was ruled off the turf for life for allegedly running a 3 year old horse in a race for 2 year olds, is suing FitzGerald and four other racing officials, will be held in the near future.

Questioned About Assets.

Mikel recently gained leave of the court to submit a special interrogation of FitzGerald, relative to the latter's assets. The steward refused to give an accounting after which the motion for contempt proceedings was granted.

Attorney Charles J. Michal of Chicago, representing Mikel, questioned FitzGerald in yesterday's hearing. The latter testified that he owns a fourth interest in the Beauside stud, his partner being Hal Price Headley, one of the leading owners of the American turf. The only horse standing at Beauside is Pharamond II., valued at $50,000, who is serviced approximately 40 times a year, with a fee of $1,000. FitzGerald said his additional assets include real estate at Riverside, Conn., valued at $40,000; a $500 block of stock in the Keeneland, Ky., track, and a joint bank account with his wife, estimated at from $25,000 to $30,000.

Tells of Turf Salary.

He has no life insurance or trust investments. His regular earnings include a salary of $100 a day for 164 days at Illinois tracks, and a salary of $125 a day for 50 days at California's Santa Anita track.

COACHES STRIVE TO FIND MISSING SCORING PUNCH

Middies to Arrive in Elkhart Today.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 21.—Notre Dame is moanin' low and no foolin'. The wan look on Coach Elmer Layden's face couldn't be an act, nor could the harried somberness in the eyes of the students be a pose.

Not that there should be any arguments about the causes and genuineness thereof. A scoreless tie with the Illini, a licking at the hands of Carnegie Tech, and three whippings in four years at the hands of the Navy, foes of next Saturday, are all the exhibits one needs in establishing a case against the startled and oppressed Irish.

Things are so bad here that the rescue of the Notre Dame mascot, Clashmore Mike, late this afternoon was the biggest news in town. The pooch, mascot for four years, fled last night after indicating he wasn't merely out for an airing. He was not found until some eighteen hours later, and then on the shore of Lake St. Joseph just as he was about to plunge in, apparently with suicidal intent.

All Carry Placards.

Every student in the university today was tagged with a large placard bearing the words, "Beat Navy!" with an exclamation point which was much too large to be consistent with the Notre Dame restraint and poise of fatter years. And when the lads go to the victual halls they march in lockstep, chanting the cadence, "Beat Navy!"

It is not probable that the kidding the varsity took yesterday at the hands of the freshman team had anything to do with it, but Mr. Layden did not expose the big shots to the needles and darts of the lowly again today. Just playful dummy scrimmage was the dish this afternoon.

Coach Layden and his assistants make it clear they are looking for scoring punch. Work of the team between the 10 yard lines has been all right, but the hunt still is on for backs who aren't goal line shy. Jack McCarthy of Glencoe apparently has been restored to his rank as first string left half back, with Louis Zontini first alternate.

Sweeney at Right End.

Chuck Sweeney of Bloomington, Ill., seems to have strengthened his claim for the first call at right end, recently assigned to him with a probationary slip. Chuck Reilly, it is said, has the edge on Andy Puplis, at quarter, Andy having found it difficult to keep from making the same mistakes twice or more. And the full backing in the upper flights is far from what was anticipated earlier in the season, what with John Thesing, the present top man, pushed by Harold Gottsacker.

Although Notre Dame spirits are low, there is a sly notion that the team is apt to go crazy with power and skill without warning. Some of the greatest Notre Dame triumphs have been after periods of deepest grief and following weeks of miserable practice performances such as prevailed here this week. So that is the hunch that is sustaining the folks hereabouts, in a manner of speaking.

Tough in Recent Years.

The Navy will come west with much exuberance, due to three victories and a tie with supposedly improved Harvard. Then, of course, the service men have looked often at this tabulation, focusing the eye on the record of the most recent years:

1927—Notre Dame, 19; Navy, 6.
1928—Notre Dame, 7; Navy, 0.
1929—Notre Dame, 14; Navy, 7.
1930—Notre Dame, 26; Navy, 2.
1931—Notre Dame, 20; Navy, 0.
1932—Notre Dame, 12; Navy, 0.
1933—Notre Dame, 0; Navy, 7.
1934—Notre Dame, 6; Navy, 10.
1935—Notre Dame, 14; Navy, 0.
1936—Notre Dame, 0; Navy, 3.

NAVY SHIFTS BACKS.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Just before the departure of the Navy football squad this evening for Elkhart, Ind., where tomorrow will be spent preparatory to the game at Notre Dame on Saturday, Coach Hank Hardwick stated that he had decided to start Arthur Franks, 200 pounder from Harrisburg, Ill., and Emmett Wood in the first back field.

Bob Antrim, Peru, Ind., is certain to be another member of the quartet. The chances are that Lem Cooke, who ran so brilliantly against Harvard, will take Bill Ingram's place in the starting back field.

Ingram and Frank Case have been transferred to the alternate back field, the other members being Charley Reimann and Harold Hansen.

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Rival coaches of two Negro football teams got into an argument over the rules tonight and the game was called off, without even a preliminary lineup. I wish that I could kick a hundred yards
I'd have all the great novelists and bards
Disgusted with their literary art;
My toe would so outshine their vaunted skill
And practice punting every day until
They got so lame they'd have to use a crutch.

And how I'd stand the public on their ears
I'd move the most insensible to tears
And Jane would realize that other chap

DAY SEEKS TITLE BOUT IN CLASH WITH VENTURI

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—One of the best lightweight bouts of the year is in prospect at the New York Hippodrome tomorrow night when Davey Day, Chicago contender, meets the Italian champion, Enrico Venturi, in ten rounds.

Out of the contest probably will come the next challenger for Lou Ambers' 135 pound title. Al Weill, Hippodrome matchmaker, may put the winner against Ambers later in the winter. The betting is even money and take your choice.

Both Day and Venturi have fought Ambers before. Day dropped a close decision to the titleholder last winter, while Venturi held Ambers to a draw in an over the weight bout in the Garden.

Venturi, just back from a visit to Italy, wants not only a crack at the lightweight title but he also has his eyes on Barney Ross' welterweight crown and if successful against Day will insist that he be matched with one or another of the two champs. Day is a stablemate of Ross.

ROOKIE HANSEN IS PUT AT CENTER ON HAWKS' LINE

Gets Back Checking Tips in Ice Workout.

Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Oscar Hansen, the agile Norwegian member of last year's St. Louis Flyers, was placed at center in this morning's scrimmage of the Chicago Blackhawk Hocky team. He was given preference over Cully Dahlstrom, the St. Paul speedster, because he has had more professional hocky experience and also because of his scoring record with the Flyers, champions of the American Hocky association.

Hansen, who accounted for 38 goals and 29 assists last season, will operate between Pete Palangio and Billy Kendall. In the last three seasons Hansen has made 92 goals and 61 assists.

Dahlstrom was third in the American association scoring list of 1936-1937. He hit the nets 23 times and assisted in making 19 tallies. Having had experience in playing all three forward positions he will be retained for utility duty.

Alderico Agamenoni, who yesterday said he would not be interested in hocky unless he qualified for a major league berth, changed his mind today after a talk with Manager Stewart. He will play defense for a season with the Kansas City Greyhounds of the American association and return to the Blackhawks if he makes good in the minors. It will be the big Italian's first engagement as a pro.

14 Teams Will Race in Roller Skating Derby

Fourteen teams are entered in the roller skating Derby which opens tonight at the Coliseum and continues for three weeks. During the competition time trials will be held in which boy and girl skaters will seek to break world records.

Wes Aronson, former half back at Roosevelt High school, is recognized world champion, while Kitty Nehls of Kenosha, Wis., is holder of the quarter mile and half mile records for women.

Two teams with large Chicago followings competing tonight are Muscles Stampley and Miss Nehls, representing the Catholic Youth organization, and the mother and son combination, Mary and Bill Bogash of Louisville, Ky.

Skating partners take the track alternately every 15 minutes during the four hour nightly grind which ends at midnight. Competition frequently is rough and skaters often carry on while bandaged for injuries.

JERE, away well, made the pace under occasional light pressure, gave way temporarily to HONORED MISS while racing wide on the stretch turn, came again when straightened and won under strong handling. BORN LUCKY, never far back, raced wide throughout, lost much ground on the stretch turn and closed fast on the extreme outside. RAPID BELLS came over sharply at the break, was hard hustled to hold his position and held on well.

SECOND RACE—Five-eighths of a mile. Out of chute. Purse $600. Net value to winner, $475; second, $75; third, $30; fourth, $20.

WEST STAR, a factor from the start and under light restraint early, responded when put to good pressure the final three-sixteenths and wore down MARCH STEP in the final sixteenth. MARCH STEP, taken in hand after a quarter while making the pace, weakened after being placed to pressure in the drive.

JOCKY MARTIN'S HORSES FOLD UP; SO DO BACKERS

One Victory in 5 Races Hurts Pocketbooks.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Broken hearted backers of Jocky T. P. Martin's mounts had little to show for their opinions on horse flesh after yesterday's misty, muddy program at Sportsman's Park track had been finished.

There was the choice Prince Sulieman with Martin on his back in the five furlong second race. The Prince and Martin finished third, beaten by the 10 to 1 shot West Star and the long shot March Step.

Then there was the favorite Dominant Star with Martin up in the five furlong third race. They took another trimming. Margaret Nadi, bred to run all day in the mud, with Tony Loturco in the saddle, trimmed Dominant Star and Martin quite handily. Grey Ethel finished third.

They Bite the Dust Again.

Next came the six and one-half furlong fourth race. It engaged the best 2 year olds quartered at the track in a muddy encounter. Tall, skinny Mr. Martin was in the saddle on the favorite Joe Eaton. Once more every Martin backer bit the dust.

The Martin backers didn't have the heart to try it again. "T. P." was in the saddle on the favorite Polaris in the River Forest purse. Not a short priced favorite, mind you, because the Martin banner carriers had deserted.

That was the big mistake they made. Martin rode like the champion of old in this number. He scooted out into the lead when the start was made. A half-mile out he had Polaris in front by five lengths. At the end of the seven furlong dash Martin and Polaris were in front by eight lengths.

No Camera Needed This Time.

They didn't need a camera finish in this instance. Inscolt was second far in front of Brown Prodigy the third horse. Polaris paid off at $8.60 for a $2 ticket. But what good did that do the already flat broke Martin backers?

The 3 year old son of Nashak-Lucina ran the seven furlongs in the heavy going in 1:30 2-5. That was one of the best races ever run over the Sportsman's Park course in the mud. Polaris races for the California turfman, B. B. Johnson.

And China Boy Is Third.

Little good it did them. Two Brooms, with Jocky Loturco in the saddle, went to the front early, stayed there all the time, then finally went on to win by four lengths. Shalot finished second.

Martin and China Boy slid into the home plate in third place. The Martin backers were glad he didn't have a mount in the last race.

Two Get Three Days.

Jocky G. Dobson drew three days for his rough riding on Springs Here in the third race. Jocky J. Sylvester got three days for his rough ride on Aurora Girl in the same event.

Jocky A. Craig was suspended for the remainder of the meeting for a rough ride on Bit o' Black in the fourth race.

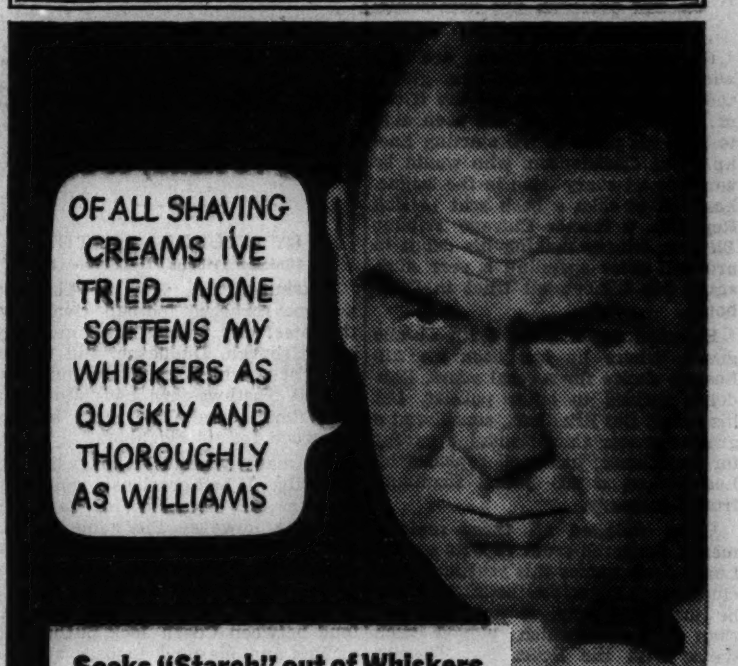
"STRANGLER" LEWIS SAYS:



Soaks "Starch" out of Whiskers

Your beard may not be as tough and wiry as Ed Lewis', but you still need a shaving cream that soaks each whisker—soft. No matter how sharp your blade—it will catch and tear unless every hair on your face is drenched to the core.

That's why thousands of men have switched to Williams. (1) Rich, wet lather soaks every bit of "starch" out of your whiskers. (2) Soaks and softens scaly outer skin on your face, so blade edge can take off whiskers closer without scraping.

WILLIAMS SHAVING CREAM is made by The J. B. Williams Co., makers of AQUA VELVA and other fine shaving preparations for over 96 years.

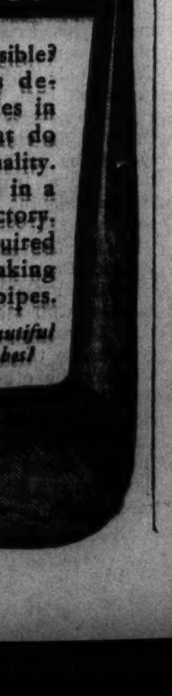
NEW Range of Beautiful Shapes and Finishes!



IOWA, MICHIGAN! TWO TEAMS WITH BUT ONE PURPOSE

Seek First Big 10 Victory in Two Years.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Either Iowa or Michigan should end a two year losing streak in the Big Ten with a victory when they tangle before a Hawkeye Dads' day crowd here Saturday.

The Wolverines have lost ten straight conference games since their last victory in October, 1935. Iowa has lost seven and tied three since its last Big Ten triumph.

Handicapping the Hawkeyes Saturday will be injuries to seven backs. The veteran Bush Lamb, and Bill Kelly, Chicago sophomore, are battling for the right half back post which Bill Gallagher may not be able to fill because of a twisted leg. Fred Smith, 200 pound Negro, is likely to see much service at Lannon's end Saturday. Nile Kinnick will be the key man in the Hawkeye attack.

More rain today hampered the final hard drill for the Wolverine game, and may force cancelation of the passing attack which Coach Tubbs had expected to use.

Tubbs announced today that Al Schenk, Chicago half back, is lost for the rest of the season because of an ailing shoulder and injured leg.

KIPKE NAMES 35.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 21. — [Special.]—Michigan's football squad of 35 left this afternoon for Iowa City, where the Wolverines will play Iowa Saturday. Coach Harry Kipke concluded drills at home today with a brisk workout, which emphasized blocking and tackling. Michigan's kickers, Elmer Gedeon, Fred Trosko, and Stark Ritchie, did their punting behind a line defending them against the charges of a second string team.

Four starters in the Minnesota game last week may be on the bench Saturday. Three of the replacements will be made necessary by injuries, but Bill Barclay, senior and quarter back for the last two years, has earned the right to start at right half back in place of Hercules Renda. In the line, Center Archie Kodros; Tackle Joe Savilla, and End Dan Smick probably will be replaced by Capt. Joe Rinaldi, Bill Smith, and Elmer Gedeon, respectively. The squad of 35 named by Kipke:

CENTERS—Joe Rinaldi, Archie Kodros, Horace Tinker.

BACKS—Douglas Farmer, Louie Levine, Bob Campbell, Bill Barclay, Wallie Hook, Derwood Laskey, Harry Mulholland, Norm Nickerson, Bob Piotrowski, Norman Purucker, Hercules Renda, Stark Ritchie, Cramon Stanton, and Fred Trosko.

PURDUE SPEEDS WORK.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The tempo of Purdue's preparation for the next Big Ten start against Iowa here a week from Saturday was quickened this afternoon as the Boilermakers strove to perfect both offense and defense in a scrimmage session against the freshmen.

The veterans who bore the main burden in the battle against Northwestern last Saturday made their first appearance of the week in active drill and apparently were in fine physical condition after the rest.

MARQUETTE LEAVES.

The thirty-one players selected by Driscoll for the trip include:

SIX CUBS GO OVER THE MOUNTAINS; HOPE TO SEE BEAR

Sheridan, Wyo., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Half a dozen members of the Chicago Cubs set out today to meet some real bears. They started a two weeks big game hunting expedition in the rough country beyond Augusta, Mont., with Irving Alderson, dude rancher, as their guide.

Others were Capt. J. J. McGinnis of the Chicago police, Carl Zepp, automobile dealer; Ald. Buddy Sievert, Harry Hay, hotel executive, all of Chicago, and Byron Sheedy of New York.

"I'm pretty well calloused from sliding bases," Stainback mused when the pack trip into the Rocky mountains began. "But I don't know about riding one of those cayuses."

Operation Forces Lewis to Cancel Fight with Godoy

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Promoter Jake Mintz said tonight the bout between John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight champion and Arturo Godoy, South American heavyweight scheduled for next Thursday is cancelled because Lewis has been ordered to undergo an operation. Lewis received a nose injury in his recent bout with Italo Colonnello, but it didn't bother him until after he lost to Isidor Gastanaga in Detroit last Friday. An examination today disclosed an infection.

left end, the Wildcats probably will start the same lineup against Ohio that opened against Purdue. This includes Heap and Jefferson, half backs; Vanzo, quarter back and Ryan, full back. The line will be composed of Kovatch and Diehl, ends; Voigts and Cutlich, tackles; Calvano and Guritz, guards, and Wegner, center. The players who made the trip to Columbus:

FULL BACKS—Jack Ryan, George McGurn, Jay Laskay.

ENDS—Cleo Diehl, Bob Daly, Tom Eby, John Kovatch, Ted Grefe, Paul Werd.

TACKLES—Bob Voigts, Nick Cutlich, Frank Young, Glen Evers, Jack O'Leary, William Springer.

CENTERS—Erwin Wegner, John Haman, John Rose.

CHANGE AT OHIO STATE.

Columbus, O., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Possibility of a new face being seen in the back field for Ohio State when the Buckeyes play Northwestern here Saturday was greater today when Coach Francis Schmidt moved Frank Zadworney to right half back on the first team.

The Ohio State lineup against Northwestern probably will be:

ILLINI TEST DEFENSE.

Kirschke appeared at right tackle, replacing Tiny Cramer, who has been crippled since the Indiana game. Coach Bob Zuppke experimented with Bo Burris as a reserve full back, shifting him from right half back. Zuppke originally had planned to take advantage of the Illini layoff Saturday and scout a future opponent, but he now plans to stay home and conduct practice.

CHICAGO SCRIMMAGES.

With his new back field combination clicking better than any previous group, Coach Clark Shaughnessy yesterday sent the University of Chicago football team through a short offensive scrimmage against freshmen. Lew Hamity, Ed Valorz, Sollie Sherman, and Louis Letts now comprise the back field. With effective blocking, Letts and Sherman got through the freshmen line for repeated gains.

INDIANA SQUAD NAMED.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—After sending the Indiana university football squad through a dummy scrimmage, both offensively and defensively, Coach Bo McMillan tonight named 37 players who will make the trip to Cincinnati for Saturday's game.

Players who will make the trip are:

Fordham Works on Pass Defense for T. C. U. Game

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Texas Christian's famed passing attack caused Coach Jim Crowley to send his Fordham Rams through an intensive drill on aerial defense today. The freshman eleven worked T. C. U. plays against the first three teams.

YALE SEES CORNELL PLAYS.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The same Yale eleven that started in the winning game against Army last week lined up today against Cornell plays as put on by the scrubs. Because heavy rains on Tuesday and Wednesday interfered with the drills, the squad was kept on the job longer than usual today in preparation for the battle in Yale bowl Saturday.

CORNELL LEAVES FOR YALE.

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Cornell departed tonight for New Haven and the Yale game Saturday with thirty-two players making the trip. Either Bob Boochever or Dick Morgan will start in place of George Peck, injured half back, with Bill Moulton starting his first game at full back.

SOLEM TO START HINDU.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Coach Ossie Solem and thirty-five Syracuse football players left tonight for Baltimore and the Maryland game Saturday. Solem will start Wilmeth Sidat-Singh, Hindu half back, at right half against Maryland, as Jack Hinkle, injured against Cornell, will not be able to play.

COLGATE PRIMES FOR DUKE.

Hamilton, N. Y., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Colgate's first eleven showed plenty of snap today as it ran through its offensive repertoire in preparation for the homecoming game with Duke Saturday. The passing of Johnny Long and the receiving of Pete Ritchko and Don Wemple were the best features of the drill.

HARVARD FACES DARTMOUTH.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Torbert MacDonald, new varsity right half back, stood out in a punting drill today as Harvard prepared for the encounter with unbeaten Dartmouth Saturday. A passing drill which featured Austin Harding and Art Oakes also pleased Coach Dick Harlow.

CONNIE MACK ILL, BUT HE EXPECTS TO GO ON AND ON

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics, take it from Connie Mack, aren't looking for an assistant or a new manager because Mack himself expects to stay at the helm "for several years to come."

The 74 year old pilot, feeling better after a two months' illness, spoke up today to crimp rumors that the American league club might bring in Tony Lazzeri as assistant manager or sign up Babe Ruth as manager.

"If my health permits, and I'm sure it will," said Mack, "I'll go to training camp and I'll handle the club from the first day of practice until the last game. That includes all the trips too. I have no idea of quitting."

It will be his 38th season with the A's.

His illness has been "quite a siege," Mack said. Since mid-August he has lost 12 pounds. He went on a western trip after that but returned home from St. Louis before his team and has remained indoors since, except for one brief trip to the A's park early in September. Physicians are treating him for a stomach ailment.

Cuban Kid Tunero, I. B. U. Champion, Stops Charlier

PARIS, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Cuban Kid Tunero of Havana, International Boxing union middleweight champion, stopped Nestor Charlier of Belgium in the fifth round of their fight tonight at Salle Wagram. The referee halted the battle after Charlier had been floored three times.

this morning checking spelling of players' names. He admits Pitt's ground strength, but paused to insinuate that one forward pass frequently is worth a dozen off tackle plays. Downer may have something there.

The Badgers will put up at Shadyside academy tomorrow night. They will drill briefly in the afternoon at Pitt stadium.

BADGERS GO EAST.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Following a light two hour workout at Camp Randall, Wisconsin's undefeated and untied football team boarded a train early tonight for Pittsburgh. This will be the first game for the Badgers in the east since 1931. Thirty-five players are making the trip.

Coach Stuhldreher hesitated to name the starting lineup, but it is probable that Fred Benz, acting captain for the Pitt game, and John Loehrke will start at end, Al Dorsch and Gene Brodhagen at tackle, Wally Cole and Lynn Hovland at guard, Neil Pohl at center, Vince Gavre at quarter back, Billy Schmitz and Roy Bellin at the halves, and Howard Weiss at full back. Hovland probably will replace John Doyle, a sophomore who is not in the best of shape, although the latter is certain to see service. Hovland, who weighs about 225 pounds, was a regular in 1935 but was not in school last year.

The Badgers are due to arrive in Pittsburgh early tomorrow and will work out in Pitt stadium in the afternoon.

GOPHER CENTER HURT.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Minnesota's football hopes suffered another jolt today when it was revealed that John Kulbitski, who has been alternating with Dan Elmer at center, would be out for some time because of a badly sprained ankle. Kulbitski will be ready for the Notre Dame game, though he will lose several valuable days of practice and then may not be in the best of condition.

Kulbitski was hurt in a tackling and blocking drill when he collided with one of his mates. Secret practice again was the order of the day as the Gophers were driven indoors, except for a few moments, by cold.

Offense again was given the major attention in preparation for the Notre Dame game one week from Saturday. There will be one more practice session this week under Coach Bernie Bierman. He then will go to South Bend to scout Notre Dame against the Navy Saturday.

De Paul Goes South Today for Game on Sunday

The De Paul university football team will leave this morning for New Orleans to play Loyola university Sunday. More than 25,000, including Mayor R. S. Maestri of New Orleans and Gov. R. W. Leche of Louisiana, will be present for the dedicatory ceremonies of the new municipal stadium.

ENLARGED NAVIN FIELD TO BECOME BRIGGS STADIUM

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Plans for increasing the seating capacity of the Detroit Tigers' baseball park to 60,000 were announced today by Walter O. Briggs, owner of the club.

The addition of 22,000 seats and other improvements will cost $700,000, Briggs said. He also disclosed that hereafter the park will be known as Briggs stadium rather than Navin field.

Briggs, automotive magnate who purchased an interest in the Detroit club some years ago, became sole owner of the Tigers upon the death of Frank J. Navin in 1935.

The park will be double decked throughout and the seating capacity of 60,000 will make it second in size in major league cities. The Yankee stadium seats 72,000.

The alterations will not change the size of the present playing field, Briggs said.

MILLIKIN GUEST AT LAKE FOREST HOMECOMING

Lake Forest will hold its annual homecoming tomorrow in connection with the football game with James Millikin university. A delegation of the 300 alumni who live in Chicago is expected to attend, as are also alumni from other parts of the middle west.

Lake Forest first played Millikin in 1908. Since then football teams from the two schools have clashed ten times. Lake Forest has won four games, lost four, and tied two. Millikin has won the last four games.

Immediately following the game, a reception for alumni will be held in the auditorium of the Durand institute. The reception is a new feature.

AUSTIN BEARS MEET MAYWOOD ELEVEN TONIGHT

The fourth annual football game between the Maywood A. C. and the Austin Bears will be played tonight at Proviso stadium in Maywood. The kickoff will be at 8:30 o'clock.

In previous encounters Maywood has beaten Austin, 13 to 12 and 7 to 0. The Bears defeated Maywood, 19 to 12, for the suburban championship in 1935. Led by Capt. Al Dowainen, ex-Proviso High center, Maywood has an undefeated record this season.

Austin and Marshall to Clash Tonight

Bill De Correvont, Austin High school's speedy half back, steps out again tonight. Another record will be the goal of the fleet ball carrier as Austin moves against Marshall in quest of victory No. 4 in the west section of the Chicago Public High School league at Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue.

De Correvont, who set the individual one game record against McKinley with 57 points, now seeks the city record for one season, established last year by Clare Raynor of St. Patrick, now a freshman at Purdue university. Raynor's record is 109 points, while De Correvont already has scored 94 of his team's 166 points.

Austin Is Confident.

As long as Austin's 187 pound line is able to get De Correvont out in the open, coaches and observers believe Austin will go through its west section schedule without defeat. The team is confident it will add Marshall to its list of victims. Marshall has played three games, losing two and playing one tie. It has scored only one touchdown in the three contests, while Austin has not been scored on.

The west side already is convinced that Austin will be the league's representative against the Catholic league champion in Mayor Kelly's charity game at Soldiers' field on Nov. 27.

Austin's 65 piece band, which is led by the Hendricks twins, Jane and June, will gather at Laramie avenue and Madison street. They will parade east to Cicero avenue, north to Lake street and then east to Kilpatrick avenue.

Tilden Faces Lindblom.

Two other title contenders, Tilden Tech and Lindblom, will meet tomorrow afternoon at Normal park, 61st street and Racine avenue, to settle the central division leadership. The winner of the game will be a favorite to reach the semi-final round.

Coaches Al McGuff of St. Mel and Whitey Cronin of Leo will send their teams through their last heavy workout today for the Sisters of Mercy game which will be played at Soldiers' field Sunday afternoon. Advance ticket sales indicate a crowd of 50,000 will attend.

Champaign, Il., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Dr. L. M. T. Stilwell, Illinois football team physician, announced tonight that Capt. Lowell Spurgeon, back field star, had been lost to the team because of recurrence of an old ankle injury.

Spurgeon, spark plug of the team, has been playing with a bandtaged leg, but has been out of uniform since the Indiana game. The injury dates back to his high school days.

Dr. Stilwell pointed out that he spoke for himself and Coach Bob Zuppke.

PRICE OF WHEAT DECLINES; CORN FUTURES RISE

Small Changes Shown by Other Grains.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

	Yesterday.	Wednesday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$0.99½	$0.99⅛	$1.15
Corn	.60½	.59¼	.94½
Oats	.31	.30⅝	.41⅛
Rye	.72⅞	.72⅞	.83
Soy beans	.97¾	.97¾	1.24½

Wheat prices on the Chicago Board of Trade fluctuated erratically within a range of 1⅛ cents yesterday and closed unchanged to ⅞ cent a bushel lower. Price changes in oats, rye, and soy beans were confined to small fractions of a cent a bushel.

Corn futures developed independent strength as the result of reports that the department of agriculture is making determined efforts to secure governmental loans for farmers, and on prospects of a good export business with Canada. Net gains ranged from ⅛ cent to 1⅝ cents a bushel.

Cash Receipts Decline.

Buying of cash wheat by American and Canadian mills has become heavy in the last few days. Commercial sales in Chicago yesterday totaled 214,000 bushels, following mill purchases of 400,000 bushels Wednesday. Approximately 900,000 bushels were shipped from here to eastern lake ports yesterday.

A strong cash wheat market has developed at Winnipeg. Buying of Canadian mills has more than offset a marked reduction in export demand. No. 1 northern wheat at Winnipeg went to a 25 cents a bushel premium over the October delivery, and No. 2 northern was quoted at a premium of 16 cents a bushel.

Winnipeg Futures Higher.

Futures in the Canadian market closed ¼ to ⅝ cent a bushel higher. Liverpool was unchanged to ⅞ cent a bushel higher, failing to fully reflect the strength in North American markets Wednesday.

Crop reports from Argentina and Australia were favorable, but had comparatively little effect on sentiment. Both oats and rye were affected by prospects of a good export demand.

RFC Head Will Address State Street Seniors

Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, will be the principal speaker at the fifth annual meeting and dinner of the Association of State Street Seniors Nov. 1, at the Palmer house, it was announced yesterday. The twenty-seven railroads entering Chicago are coöperating with the State street council in the annual party which is given veterans of the State street retail stores. The railroads will present a thirty minute pageant of transportation, tracing the 100 years of railroad history in the Chicago district.

Corn Products.

Investors' Guide: Kindly give me analysis of Corn Products company. Do you consider its stock high grade? —Mrs. B. W.

Answer: This company is the world's largest manufacturer of products made from corn. Its major domestic plants, with grinding capacity of 155,000 bushels of corn daily and facilities for processing all known corn products, are advantageously located at Argo and Pekin, Ill., and Kansas City, Mo.

About one-third of tonnage output consists of packaged products such as Argo starches, Karo corn sirup, Mazola cooking and salad oils, Linit starches, and a pudding powder. Another third consists of corn derivatives sold in bulk to manufacturers. The other third, by-products, is sold as stock and poultry feed. In all the company sells to more than 50 industries.

The price of corn, normally representing about 60 per cent of all production costs, is a major factor in earnings.

Earnings from domestic operations have been hurt this year by small supplies and high prices for corn. Net income failed to cover dividends in the first half of 1937, and the company issued an unprecedented forecast in September that third quarter results would be poor because of high corn prices, inventory adjustments, and low volume. In maintaining its 75 cent quarterly dividend, however, the company said it expects a return to normal profits in the near future [with lower corn prices] and added that foreign operations have been "very satisfactory."

Net income for the first half of 1937 was $4,342,000, or $1.38 per common share, compared with $5,353,000, or $1.78 in the first half of 1936.

For all of 1936 net income was $11,491,000, or $3.86 per common share, compared with $8,348,000, or $2.62 a share in 1935; $9,703,000, or $3.16 in 1934; $11,505,000, or $3.87 in 1933; $8,762,000, or $2.77 in 1932, and a record of $15,648,000, or $5.49 in 1929.

Capitalization consists of 250,000 shares of 7 per cent $100 par preferred and 2,530,000 shares of $25 par common. There is no funded debt. Financial position is very strong.

Dividends of at least $3 a year, the regular rate for eight years, have been paid on the common stock in each of the last 10 years. An extra of 75 cents was paid in 1936. The stock is rather high grade.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Geese on the Wing.

Oct. 21, 1937.

THE young Canada geese on the Wheaton farm presented quite a problem this week. These birds have not been pinioned. They are able to fly around as they please. With the waterfowl migration under way, and wild geese visitors expected on the ponds, the boys decided they had better get hold of these flying geese and pinion them before the wild birds would have a chance to lure them away from the farm.

When this plan was decided on the job of corralling the eight geese looked easy. But when we were on the farm the other day the boys were still trying to figure out how they could get their hands on them.

The first part of the plan called for a sort of easy drive to get the whole flock of geese to the pond. The boys formed a half circle and slowly walked toward the flock. The old birds moved ahead very quietly. But the young birds didn't like the idea of the roundup. They took to the air, flew around for a few minutes and then dropped down on the big pond.

Too Smart for Roundup.

Then the boys tried to move the geese into an enclosure where all the water birds are kept during the winter. This job also looked easy. An enticing meal was spread out in the enclosure. The boys expected [and hoped] that the honkers would stand for enough persuasion to get them off the water and into the pen.

But again the flying geese fooled them. They took off with a lot of noisy honking, scorned the open gate leading to the pen, and sailed away like wild birds. The boys splashed out of the mud, muttered things under their breath, and then watched the geese light in a field nearby. The birds were too smart for any kind of a drive.

While the boys were worrying with the geese a lonesome looking white swan was on the Half Moon pond . . . a sort of exile from swan society on the farm. This swan, a pen [or female] was driven from the pond by another pen and cob. When they began to make life miserable for this bird the farm workers decided that she would have to join the Muscovys on Half Moon pond. They took her over there.

As soon as the boys started back to the farmhouse the swan headed for her old home. But later on she returned to Half Moon and now seems to be quite content with just the Muscovys and wild mallards for company.

Fall Colors Deepen.

Autumn colors in the oak woods are deepening rapidly, although some of the oaks are stubborn about doffing their summer green for typical fall tints. As a result oaks with green leaves stand next to others that are brilliant red.

Mother Nature has been playing some odd tricks in coloring the oak trees this fall. In one woods we saw many white oaks together, all of them tinted differently. Several trees had leaves of a pale red tint, some of them are still green, while others have yellowish orange leaves. Near the big pond the brightly colored oaks are blending with the yellow leaves of the wild crab trees.

I. C. C. EXPECTED TO GRANT BOOST IN RAIL RATES

May Increase Income by 70 Millions.

The interstate commerce commission is expected momentarily to hand down a decision which may increase railroad freight rates by $60,000,000 or $70,000,000 annually, according to information received yesterday from Washington. This would in part offset wage increases granted this year which add about $135,000,000 to the railroads' annual pay roll.

Although the commission's decision has been awaited since Oct. 1, the indications from Washington last night were that it will be made at once. The case is known in the railroad world as "ex Parte 115."

Asked Increases Last Year.

The railroads late last year, when their operating costs began to soar after the wage restorations and prices for materials had gone up, asked the commission for increases on a large number of commodities. It was then estimated that these boosts would add from $100,000,000 to $125,000,000 to the roads' annual revenues.

However, the I. C. C. decided to act only upon a selected list of basic commodities, such as coal, cement, iron, steel, petroleum, ore and certain other items. It postponed consideration of the other commodities to a later date.

The full amount requested on this group would add from $60,000,000 to $70,000,000 to the roads' annual revenue. There was no hint from Washington as to whether the full amount requested would be granted.

It is expected that as soon as the commission announces its decision, the Association of American Railroads will immediately press for a new general increase which would affect most materials transported.

Meet On Increases.

During the last few months railroad freight and trafic executives have been meeting to determine the amount to be requested to offset the sharp rise in operating costs.

Wage boosts that have been granted in all lines of industry have added to railroad operating costs. In the meantime, railroad revenues have been further reduced by the new railroad retirement and social security acts.

Passenger department executives have also been considering slight increases in fares. A committee of the western railroad presidents has held several meetings recently. It is said that when a fare boost is recommended it will be small.

Fare Boost Authorized.

The interstate commerce commission recently authorized the western roads to boost first class passenger fares in certain areas from 2 cents a mile to 2¼ cents a mile for round trip tickets.

The southern railroad group, which operates in the region south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers and east of the Mississippi, yesterday asked the commission to authorize an increase in coach passenger fares, one way, from 1½ cents to 2 cents a mile, effective Nov. 1. The southern roads were given permission in 1932 to put the 1½ cent rate into effect as an experiment to determine whether it would attract passengers from competitive forms of transportation.

MINIMUM WAGES FOR MERCHANT MARINE ORDERED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The maritime commission struck tonight at a major cause of labor difficulties in the American merchant marine by fixing minimum wage scales and "reasonable working conditions" for 10,000 officers and men on government-subsidized lines. The commission's order, which provides also for minimum manning scales, becomes effective Nov. 1.

In the unlicensed personnel classification it provides for pay ranging from $35 a month for bell boys to $120 a month for the chief steward. The pay for able seamen and firemen is set at $72.50 a month. Wages for officers range from $265 for first officers in the largest class vessels to $115 for the lowest paid licensed officers. Wages for licensed engineer officers range from $390 to $115.

2 CLOSED BANKS RETURN $93,044 TO DEPOSITORS

Distribution of $93,044 to 9,200 depositors of two closed banks in Cook county was announced yesterday by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett. Checks were mailed last night.

The largest repayment was made to the 3,200 depositors of the Des Plaines State bank, amounting to $50,603, or 5 per cent. This lifted to 50 per cent the amount returned to depositors since the bank closed.

The other payment was made by the West Highland State bank, one of the former Bain chain. It amounted to $42,441, or 5 per cent, and was the first money received by the 6,000 depositors since the bank failed. A total of $109,000 of old bills and $56,397 of preferred claims previously had been paid.

Blue Ridge Reports Drop in Asset Value of Stock

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Blue Ridge corporation reported today net assets based on market values as of Sept. 30 totaled $38,535,361, equivalent to $2.08 a common share. At the close of 1936 net assets were $51,071,279, or $3.72 a common share.

C. & N. W. Gets 7 Million RFC Loan Pledge

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The Chicago and North Western railroad obtained a commitment for a loan of $7,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation before that federal agency was ordered to stop further lending, it became known here today. Thus the North Western is expected to be spared some of the problems which roads that did not get loan commitments will have to face in their reorganizations.

The loan will make it necessary for the North Western to change its plan for recapitalization which has been under consideration for several years. The interstate commerce commission in Washington today postponed further hearings on the road's reorganization until Dec. 15. The hearing had been scheduled to be resumed on Oct. 26. The postponement was requested by certain groups of bondholders to permit the completion of studies of the road's property and prospective earnings.

Means Added Difficulties.

Stoppage of RFC loans is expected to add to the difficulties of railroads now in the courts for the purpose of reorganization. Many of them, it is believed, will be forced to reduce capitalizations even more drastically than they had planned because of their inability to get financial aid from the RFC. Only a few of the approximately thirty railroads going through reorganization were able to obtain loan commitments from the RFC.

The Milwaukee road, among those in difficulty, obtained a commitment from the RFC in 1935 whereby the federal agency would provide the management up to $24,000,000 of new capital, of which $12,000,000 would have been for new equipment. A condition was that the reorganization be completed by the end of 1935. It was not completed and the commitment expired and was not renewed.

May Harm Weak Roads.

The withdrawal of the RFC also is expected to place railroads now in a weak position in a perilous situation should their revenues continue to decline. The Southern railway obtained a commitment from the RFC to provide funds to meet bond maturities in 1938 and 1939 should that road be unable to get the required cash from regular banking connections.

BANK CLEARINGS RISE, AIDED BY SECURITY TRADE

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Bank clearings in 22 leading cities in the week ended yesterday ran more than two billion dollars ahead of those in the preceding week and showed a gain of 6.4 per cent over a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today.

With the exception of minor decreases at Boston and Philadelphia, all cities registered increases.

Clearings at New York City, where a heavy turnover in securities and commodities in the period helped swell the total, were $3,832,248,000, an increase of 7.1 per cent over 1936. Clearings at other cities totaled $2,598,684,000, a gain of 5.3 per cent. Chicago clearings totaled $375,200,000 or 5.5 per cent higher.

Westinghouse Air Brake Plans to Pay Out Surplus

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—A special stockholders meeting has been called by Westinghouse Air Brake company for Nov. 16 to vote on a proposal that the entire paid in surplus be distributed as dividends between now and October, 1938. The dividends would total $2 in quarterly instalments of 50 cents each, and would be in addition to the two 25 cent dividends still to be paid under a similar plan approved by stockholders last December.

171,203 Automobiles Sold in U. S. During September

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—A total of 171,203 automobiles was sold in the United States during September, against 394,322 in August and 135,165 in September, 1936, the department of commerce reported today. For the first nine months sales totaled 3,793,342, against 3,335,730 a year ago.

CAPITAL EXPANSION NEED MOST DESPERATE SINCE WAR, SAYS GAY

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—A "balanced perspective" and "dispassionate" judgments on the stock market decline were urged tonight by Charles R. Gay, president of the New York Stock exchange, in a speech outlining the nation's need for opening up its avenues of capital expansion as "more desperate" than at any time since the war. He spoke at the fiftieth anniversary dinner of the American Institute of Accountants.

Charles R. Gay.

It is the "people's own estimate of values," set not by Wall street but by a thousand Main streets, that determines security prices, Gay asserted in reply to recent charges that Wall street was responsible for the market drop.

"Processes of expansion and the movement of private capital into productive investment," he said, "are inadequate in terms of our current needs. Can there be any doubt that the time has come to encourage and foster business development and the individual initiative without which that development cannot take place? It is my conviction that only through this means can the full and necessary measure of recovery be realized."

Roosevelt tax legislation was attacked at earlier sessions of the convention as full of "glaring incongruities," and as one of the "ugliest patches in the crazy quilt of governmental regulation, with many of its features fit only for a pattern of state socialism."

OPEN NORTHROP AIRCRAFT PLANT; PICKETING ENDS

El Segundo, Cal., Oct. 21.—[Special.]—With C. I. O. officials protesting against the contracts under which former employés were being rehired, the Northrop Aircraft corporation opened its doors for an employment sign-up today after being closed for 48 days by a C. I. O. strike. More than 800 of the expected 1,400 workers had been signed up today, with the full complement scheduled to resume production by Monday.

In a surprise move, Charles Hollingshead, president of the C. I. O. local which initiated the strike, called off his 200 pickets and said that he will file a protest against the agreement with the National Labor Relations board.

The contract, by which job-seekers promise a $15 payment for violation of its provisions, prohibits strikes, occupying company property without authority, or molesting other employés to force them to join unions.

INDEX OF FOOD PRICES DROPS TO LOW FOR YEAR

New York, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—Another drop in the index of food prices this week, the fourth in a month, took the level to $2.80 on the Dun & Bradstreet table, lowest thus far this year, it was announced today.

The food price index reached its high of $3.01 in the week ended March 23. It stood at $2.82 last week. At the present level it is 21 cents, or 7 per cent under the year's high and only 1.8 per cent above this time a year ago.

Advances during the week were registered in flour, rye, oats, cottonseed oil, eggs, potatoes, rice, and steer prices. The declines numbered fourteen, including such important items as wheat, corn, ham, bacon, lard, butter, sheep, lambs, sugar, and coffee.

Fairfax Harrison Retires as Southern Railway Head

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Fairfax Harrison retired today from the presidency of the Southern railway which he has held for 24 years. Ernest E. Norris, senior vice president, was elected president. Harrison will continue as a member of the board of directors and chairman of the finance committee.

Stock Trade Mostly Cash, Loans Show

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Wall street analysts said today that latest banking figures indicated that stock market traders had been buying largely on a "cash and carry" basis despite the reported heavy sellout Tuesday of undermargined accounts.

A drop of $39,000,000 in brokers' borrowings in the week ended yesterday, as reported by the federal reserve board, contrasted sharply with tremendous shrinkage in speculative loans during the 1929 collapse. In one week alone, at the height of the 1929 rout of margin traders, brokers' loans dropped more than $1,000,000,000.

Total Is 929 Millions.

The reserve board reported outstanding loans to brokers and dealers against securities by reporting New York City banks—embracing the bulk of speculative borrowings in the stock market—were $929,000,000. This was $72,000,000 below a year ago. The total was $6,800,000,000 just before the 1929 break.

On the slide from mid-August this year, terminating in the heaviest liquidation in more than four years on Tuesday, brokers' loans of reporting New York banks fell only about $240,000,000. From Oct. 3 to Nov. 21, 1929, brokers' loans dropped more than $3,000,000,000.

Total loans at New York fell 76 millions, although commercial credit increased 21 millions.

CHICAGO LOANS LOWER.

Chicago banks reported a decline of 5 millions in government security holdings in the week ended Wednesday, but an increase of 2 millions in investments in other securities. Loans for purchase and carrying of securities dipped 6 millions. Commercial loans dropped 5 millions.

The combined statement of the federal reserve system disclosed an expansion of 30 million dollars in surplus bank reserves.

COMPANY SURPLUS HELD SOUND; TAX CLAIM DISMISSED

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals ruled today that an $8,000,000 surplus built up by the National Grocery company of Jersey City, N. J., was "sound business judgment," and dismissed a deficiency tax assessment of $477,360 imposed by the federal board of tax appeals. The company operates a national chain of about 800 stores.

The board asserted the surplus reported by the company in 1930 was more than its needs required. The internal revenue department argued that the surplus was built up to spare the late Henry Kohl, sole owner of the company's stock, from large surtaxes.

Judge John Biggs Jr. dissented from the court's majority decision, which was written by Judges Joseph Buffington and Oliver B. Dickinson. He held that the company was in good financial condition in 1930, and had no need of a large surplus.

Federal Ship Board Sells 22 Old Boats for $991,112

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The maritime commission announced today acceptance of bids totaling $991,112 for the purchase of twenty-two of twenty-five vessels in the commission's laid up fleet. Four of the old ships were bid in by a New York concern for a Greek customer who will place them in operation with the pledge that they will not be operated in competition with American shipping. The others were sold to be scrapped.

Engineering Construction Awards Exceed Year Ago

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Engineering construction awards for the week ended Sept. 19 amounted to $43,946,000, an increase of 2 per cent over the corresponding week last year, the Engineering News-Record reported today. Figures by classifications follow:

	WEEK ENDED SEPT. 19	YEAR AGO.
Private	$25,081,000	$10,866,000
Federal	3,079,000	3,675,000

ADDRESS C O 380, TRIBUNE

Van Sweringen Rail Official Admits Falsifying Records

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Senate investigators drew today from William Wyer, secretary-treasurer of the Missouri Pacific railway, an acknowledgment that he had falsely reported the financial condition of the Missouri Pacific Transportation company in 1931 and 1932.

William Wyer.

Sidney Kaplan, investigator for the senate's rail finance committee, submitted evidence to show that on June 30, 1931, the books of Missouri Pacific Transportation showed a cash balance of $3,518,964, whereas in reality the balance was $100,000 or $200,000. The transportation company is a bus line subsidiary of the railroad.

Fund Used for Securities.

Wyer said the fund, carried as cash but not actually present as such, had been used to purchase securities at the instruction of the late O. P. Van Sweringen of Cleveland. Van Sweringen's Alleghany corporation had obtained control of the Missouri Pacific a short time previously.

Kaplan charged that in March, 1932, a corrected balance sheet was drafted changing the balance from $3,635,068 to $197,052. Kaplan showed that the transportation company purchased more than $4,000,000 of securities in the nine month period from October, 1930, to June, 1931. Most of the securities were common and preferred stocks of the Missouri Pacific railway.

From a purchase price of $4,160,353 the securities had shrunk by May, 1932, when the books were corrected, to a market value of around $200,000, Wyer declared.

"Discover" New Company.

Committee investigators expressed surprise when John P. Murphy, general counsel for Alleghany corporation, top holding company in the Van Sweringen system, told them that in 1930 the Vaness Company of Maryland was formed to "place the Van Sweringens' holdings in a corporation." The Van Sweringen brothers, he explained, owned about 80 per cent of the stock in the Vaness Company of Delaware, which in turn owned control of Alleghany corporation.

"Then the pyramid was more attenuated than we thought," exclaimed a committee investigator. "All the charts we ever had showed Alleghany and Vaness of Delaware at the top. Apparently there should have been two Vaness companies at the top."

"I don't know what you thought," Murphy answered, "but you should have known. You had all the reports."

COAL COMMISSION CRACKS DOWN ON EASTERN BOARDS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The coal commission, a month late with its plans to set minimum prices for bituminous coal, cracked down on eastern soft coal operators today on the ground that they are delaying the commission's biggest job in regulating the industry.

Chairman Charles F. Hosford Jr. blamed producers' district boards in the eastern area, and the commission said it would decide Friday whether to relieve the boards of their job of coördinating prices in the highly competitive eastern markets.

STOCKS EXTEND RALLY; GAINS RANGE TO $11

Steady Buying Pours Into Market.

The stock market continued its recovery yesterday. Prices advanced $1 to $3 a share generally throughout the list. A few issues closed with gains of $4 to $11 a share compared with the preceding day. Orders poured into the market throughout the day as big and little investors bought in the belief the market's weakness had ended.

Transactions totaled 3,637,051 shares, compared with 4,340,000 shares on the preceding day. The ticker fell behind business on the floor during the morning, this time because of buying orders instead of pressure of heavy selling which clogged the tickers earlier in the week. Of the 1,001 issues traded, 784 closed higher, 124 lower, and 98 were unchanged.

Steel Shares Lag Behind.

Steel shares again lagged behind the market. United States Steel closed $3 a share above its low quotation of the day but its final price of $61.25 was a fraction below the preceding day. Other steel shares, such as Republic, Youngstown, Bethlehem, and Crucible, closed with gains ranging up to $1.25 a share.

There was a substantial volume of buying orders waiting execution when trading began in the morning. Blocks of 1,000 to 5,000 shares changed hands rapidly during the first hour, when the quotation ticker fell six minutes behind actual transactions at one time. At the end of the first hour profit taking sales began to cut into the gains, but a new surge of strength was shown in the final hours.

Railroad stocks developed pronounced strength on the basis of reports that the interstate commerce commission was ready to issue its decision granting the application of carriers for an increase in rates. The commission has been expected to rule on the question for the last three weeks, but the announcement has been delayed.

New York Central, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania and Southern Railway moved up rapidly, ending $2 to $3 a share above Wednesday's close. On one transaction near the end of the day Norfolk and Western gained $11 a share, closing at $196. Other railroad issues that closed higher were Santa Fe, Atlantic Coast Line, Great Northern and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Chrysler Moves Forward.

Chrysler rose $1 to $67.50, J. I. Case advanced $7 to $109.50, and American Telephone rose $3 to $155.50. General Motors firmed 87½ cents to $41.12½.

The Dow-Jones average of 30 industrial stocks advanced 0.92 point, closing at 135.48. The average price of 20 railroad issues was 2.38 points higher for the day. Twenty utility shares recorded an average gain of 0.78 of a point.

Buying in odd lots was exceptionally heavy during the recovery in values on the New York exchange Wednesday. Purchases exceeded sales by 555,214 shares, according to the Securities and Exchange commission. The number of orders to buy totaled 45,915 as compared with 19,262 orders to sell. Shares purchased by customers numbered 1,061,997 and those sold 506,783.

How Leading Shares Acted.

BRITISH STOCKS HIGHER.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—[Special.]—The rise in American markets and the improvement in the European political outlook today gave the market a buoyant tone. International shares and mining stocks were in good demand. Industrial stocks advanced, and domestic and foreign railroad stocks also gained. Failure of a small Glasgow house had no market influence.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stock prices moved moderately higher yesterday, extending the rally which got under way Tuesday afternoon. After a firm opening, prices weakened somewhat during the middle of the session, but came back to close above Wednesday's final quotations.

Gains of the more heavily traded issues were held to fractions in most instances, but the list was liberally sprinkled with advances of a point or more. Some of the comparatively inactive issues moved up as much as 3 or 4 points.

Trading quieted down to 112,000 shares from 162,000 on the preceding day and the year's record of 238,000 on Tuesday, but was at a much faster pace than in the average session during the last several months.

Chicago corporation common again was the volume leader on turnover of 10,700 shares. It opened at 2¾, slipped back to 2½, and then recovered to close at 2¾, unchanged from the Wednesday level.

Armour was another trading favorite with turnover of 6,550 shares. It closed ⅛ higher at 7⅞ after reaching 8 and reacting to 7⅜. Swift moved from 18¾ to 19½.

THE TRIBUNE average rose to a high of 12.76, best in a week, and closed at 12.58 for a gain of 0.45 over Wednesday's close. Ninety-two issues advanced, 16 were unchanged, and 25 declined.

Commodities

Prices were lower on the average yesterday in the chief commodity futures market. At the same time cash commodities advanced. The action reversed the trend of the preceding day when futures advanced and cash prices declined. In neither case were yesterday's price changes large.

The Dow-Jones index of commodity future prices eased to 56.88, a loss of 0.07 from the preceding day. The Associated Press composite index of spot prices on 35 leading staples rose to 82.22 after touching a low of 82.07 for the year on Wednesday.

Dealers reported that a substantial amount of copper had been sold in the export market yesterday at the equivalent of 11.06 cents a pound, delivered at European ports. This compares with sales ranging from 10.85 to 11.06 cents a pound the preceding day.

The domestic copper price was officially quoted at 12 to 13 cents. Copper futures advanced 0.40 to 0.50 cent a pound in New York. Contracts calling for October-November delivery closed nominally at 10½ cents a pound.

Final quotations on rubber futures were irregular. The last prices were 0.09 cent lower to 0.04 cent higher. Hides advanced 0.38 to 0.42 cent a pound. Hides for delivery in December finished at 12.70 cents per pound. Silk futures were irregular with most contracts closing lower.

Closing prices on both butter and egg futures were below the preceding day. Eggs for December delivery closed ⅜ cents lower at 19⅝ cents a dozen. Butter futures ended ⅛ cent lower, the November contract finishing at 33⅜ cents per pound.

COURT TOLD NRA PAID PART OF OIL MAN'S EXPENSES

Check Submitted at U. S. Anti-Trust Trial.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The defense in the government's gasoline price fixing conspiracy case against twenty-three major oil companies opened its cross-examination of the prosecution's principal witness today with an effort to show that concerted buying from independent refineries had the approval of NRA.

Defense attorneys introduced a canceled check which had been paid to the witness, Walter Paul Jacobi of Tulsa, by the planning and coördination committee on the former NRA petroleum code

Identifies Check.

Jacobi, who was purchasing agent for two of the companies on trial—Socony-Vacuum and Wadhams Oil companies—identified the check and a voucher as those he received for telephone expense in connection with a buying program under which big companies purchased "distress" gasoline from independent refiners in the mid-continent field. The check was for $366.

He said that the NRA code committee paid part of his expenses in the buying program from March, 1935, until NRA was outlawed by the Supreme court in May of that year.

Opens Way for NRA Defense.

Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone opened the way today for attorneys representing the oil companies to present a defense based upon the invalidated NRA and 1935 conditions in the oil industry. Judge Stone indicated the defense has the right to attempt to show that the defendants acted in good faith, that the defense is entitled to show facts and circumstances surrounding their activities, and to go as far as it can to prove formal or apparent governmental authority for the oil companies' gasoline buying.

Although Judge Stone denied the motion which precipitated the debate—the move of the defense to offer copies of the NRA petroleum code and President Roosevelt's approval thereof in evidence at this point of the trial—he permitted the defense, in cross-examination of principal government witnesses to date, to bring up the subject of the code. The judge said, however, the defense may offer these exhibits again later, and indicated he would admit them.

BEEF AND CATTLE SLUMP; BUYERS BALK AT PRICES

Another severe decline occurred in beef and cattle prices yesterday. Wholesale beef dropped 50 cents to $1 in a stagnant trade, which restricted buying of cattle at the stock yards.

The market for cattle remained practically at a standstill the first half of the day. Later, prices fell sharply and several thousand head were unsold. Declines of $1 to $2 were general with prices ranging from $9 to $16. Plainest grades did not show the full downturn because buyers preferred the lower priced offerings to keep their live costs down more in line with pork prices.

Occasional lots of hogs sold steady to 10 cents higher early, the top reaching $10.40, a 5 cent gain, but the bulk sold later at 10 cents to 15 cents lower rates. The day's average dipped 10 cents to $9.90, the first time the average has been below $10 in six months.

SECONDARY RAILS FEATURE BROAD RALLY IN BONDS

Leaders Close 1 to 4 Points Higher for Day.

New York, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Secondary and defaulted rail issues led an extended bond rally that pushed leaders up 1 to 4 points or more today in an active market. Profit taking was easily absorbed. There were some recessions near the close, but most of them were minor.

Reports of an imminent favorable railroad freight rate decision by the interstate commerce commission, the action of southern and western carriers to raise passenger rates, and a sustained rally of railroad shares in the stock market helped the upswing.

Leading Issues Rise.

Leaders included Erie 5s, which picked up 4 points to 53½; Atlantic Coast Line 4½s, up 3¾ at 82¾; Missouri-Kansas-Texas 5s, up 4 at 54, and Southern Pacific 4s at 99, up 3½. Others to gain as much as 2 points or more included Alleghany stamped 5s of 1950, 32½; Nickel Plate 4½s, 66; Santa Fe 4s, 109¼, and Great Northern 4s, 110.

Corporate issues, especially convertible loans, were strong at the opening and sustained their rally throughout the session. Studebaker 6s gained 7 to 81, American Typefounders convertibles rose 5 to 105, and Remington Rand 4¼s at 99¾ were up 2¾.

Treasury List Firmer.

The upswing was less spectacular among U. S. treasury and government guaranteed issues, but gains ranging to 8-32 were common. Treasury 2⅞s of 1960-'55 were in demand at that advance.

Italian dollar loans were sharply higher following assent of Italy and Germany to a "token" withdrawal of volunteer troops in Spain. Italian 7s of '51 gained 2½, Rome 6½s were up 5⅛, and Milan 6½s jumped 3⅜. German 7s, likewise, added 1½, and Brazilian and Uruguayan loads added more than a point each.

Investment and Speculation (2).

Under ideal conditions a great deal of money placed in speculative securities under the impression that an investment was being made would not be lost. But most persons of modest means do not understand the factors governing soundness of securities. Consequently they rely on the advice of others in financial matters. Sometimes these experts are highly reputable authorities. Sometimes they are quacks.

Glib promises by salesmen of big profits to accrue in a short time can usually be taken to indicate a speculative security. When large profits are certain salesmen do not seek out the "little fellow" to give him Christmas gifts.

Even stocks of old, reliable companies sometimes become speculations during periods of business adversity when earnings are uncertain and dividends are unpaid. Consequently there are many degrees between sound investment and pure gamble. The individual who wants to safeguard his money should find out before he buys whether reputable experts consider the security sound or speculative, and on what this opinion is based.

Tomorrow: More on investment and speculation.

Chain Belt Pays More on New Stock.

Directors of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company yesterday declared an extra dividend of 25 cents and the regular quarterly disbursement of the same amount on capital stock. Previously this year the company has paid three regular quarterly distributions and a 25 cent extra on Feb. 15.

A payment of 25 cents on common was voted by directors of the Chain Belt company, Milwaukee, Wis., after giving effect to the recently approved three for one stock split. Prior to the recapitalization the company paid 62½ cents a share on Aug. 16. Yesterday's action represents an increase.

Call Special Meeting.

A special meeting of preferred stockholders of Pittsburgh Coke and Iron company was called yesterday for Nov. 18 to vote on a plan to pay a dividend on common stock in preferred stock. In order to avoid payment of heavy surtaxes on undistributed profits, the company recommends a dividend of 6,000 to 7,000 shares of preferred stock.

Directors of the Chicago Yellow Cab company, Inc., declared a dividend of 25 cents on the common stock, the same as paid Sept. 1. Previous to that, dividends of 50 cents had been paid quarterly.

Reynolds Changes Policy.

Directors of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company adopted a new dividend schedule calling for four quarterly payments of 60 cents each on capital stock and a final year-end disbursement to be determined after earnings have been estimated near the close of the year. The company has been paying 75 cents quarterly. The new schedule, effective in 1938, is for the purpose of meeting new conditions created by the federal surtax on undistributed profits, an announcement said.
